THOUSANDS RIOT IN BERLIN; COPS BATTLE FASCISTI

City Is Terrorized as Reichstag Opens.

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—Shooting and wild rioting in the center of Berlin marked the opening of the fifth parliament of the German republic today. Charging riot cars raced through the center of the city, trying to protect the police and shops, which were being bombarded with stones by a mob of Fascisti, reinforced by a sprinkling of communists.

Shots were fired outside the reichstag as 5,000 Fascisti tried to break through cordons of police and enter the building. Eleven hundred foot and mounted police charged into the Tiergarten, adjoining the reichstag, and tried to clear it of the mob. They were met by volleys of stones. The police were forced to fire over the heads of the mob before it scattered.

Smash Jewish Shop Windows.

Reinforcements in riot cars systematically drove back the Fascisti, while Red Cross service quickly removed the injured. Young girls standing around seemed to be innocent onlookers, but many Fascist boys rac- ing by were seen to pull revolvers out of their pockets and press them into the hands of the girls, who then felt sure the police would not search.

While the Fascisti and police were still skirmishing around the reichstag, crowds of underfed, shabby toughs 18 to 30 years old charged through Potsdamerplatz and along Leipzigerstrasse, important shopping centers. Yelling, "The Germans are awake—down with the Jews!" they smashed huge panes of glass in Jewish shops. Among the establishments stoned was Wertheims, important department store, where only a single window remained intact.

Threaten Further Violence.

Small groups of Fascisti poured from side streets and threw stones at other shops while the police were busy with the first big groups. A coffee house in Potsdamerplatz was bombarded. Nothing was stolen, but the vandals threatened at the top of their voices, "We will come back. This is only a taste to show you what we can do unless you decide to help us become free and get jobs."

Two hundred soldiers marched across the quare, looking neither to right nor left, and immediately the loudest shouters quieted down and quickly slunk into side streets or into the subway.

87 Ringleaders Jailed.

Fifty-seven alleged ringleaders of the riots were arrested and quiet reigned for a few hours, but at 9 o'clock tonight sporadic rioting was renewed at Potsdamerplatz. The Fascisti fired shots until charged by mounted police. The subway station was closed.

In the reichstag itself today the legislators indulged in the most spectacular and loudest session in the parliamentary history of the country. The Fascisti made good on their threats and appeared in brown shirts. They waited until all the deputies had assembled. Then the 107 Fascist members, obeying the military command of their chief, Wilhelm Frick, marched in Indian file. At first there was complete silence, then whoops and cries by communists, to which the Fascists replied with a lusty "Hail, Hitler!"

A Fancy Looking Outfit.

The brown shirts ranged from sober chocolate to a light, sickly mustard, which predominated. The Fascisti were a queer sight. Each man combined his own version of what a proper military outfit should be. Some wore khaki breeches and military puttees, others fancy leggings and fancy plus fours, others dark, close fitting trousers.

The haircuts were fantastic, dishonors going the best looking of the crowd. Some skulls were shaved like those of jailbirds, others were half shaved, with a fancy lock or hair brush effect in a patch on the top of the head. All wore Sam Brown belts. Red and white bands on the arms, with the Swastika sign on them, showed the rank of the warrior in Hitler's own army.

Temporary Officers Named.

The noise of the Fascisti and Reds quieted for a few minutes when Carl Romeis, oldest member of the reichstag and wearing a white, flowing beard, challenged:

"I am 82 years old. Is there any-

HOOVER LETTER TO LUTHERANS STIRS CATHOLICS

Priest Resents It as an Insult.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Praise by President Hoover to the achievements of Martin Luther in a letter of greetings sent to the Lutherans of America drew sharp criticism tonight from the Rev. John J. Burke, general secretary of the national Catholic welfare conference.

The Catholic spokesman asserted that the President's message, which was published by the American Lutheran magazine in its October issue, was an "insult to many millions of American citizens" and "historically inaccurate."

Father Burke charged that President Hoover in congratulating one particular religious faith on its achievements had violated the "spirit if not the letter of his oath of office as President of the United States."

What President Wrote.

President Hoover's message which prompted the critical comment by Father Burke read:

"I send cordial greetings to the Americans of Lutheran faith who are celebrating on Oct. 31 the anniversary of the Protestant reformation and the 400th anniversary of the reading of the Augsburg confession, from which date so many of the changes in point of view from older conceptions both of religion and government.

"The effects of these historical events are reflected in our national life and institutions, in religion through the predominant numbers of adherents to Protestant faiths and in government through the principle of separation of church and state. It is fitting that we should commemorate the persons and events from which mighty forces have sprung."

Father Burke's Comment.

Father Burke's statement, issued by the office of the Catholic welfare conference, said:

"It is altogether in order for President Hoover to send a message of congratulation on the civic work done by Americans of the Lutheran faith. But in the actual message which President Hoover sent to them, for the celebration of Reformation Sunday, the President clearly violates the spirit if not the letter of his oath of office as President of the United States.

"It may matter little that the message is an insult to many millions of American citizens. It may matter little that the statement is historically inaccurate. Luther was not a champion of the separation of church and state, but a most arbitrary defender of state absolutism.

Religion and Government.

"It does matter very much to the whole constitutional structure of our country and its institutions, that the President of all the people, who is called by virtue of his office to respect the religious rights of all, congratulates one particular religious body on the changes it introduced from older conceptions of religion and government, and declares that we as a nation should commemorate the Protestant 'persons and the events from which these mighty forces shaping our country have sprung.'"

Immediately following the issuance of the Burke charges, George Akerson, the President's secretary, emphatically denied that President Hoover had intended in any way to cast any reflection upon those who belong to the Catholic faith.

"Any such suggestion or implication as that made by Father Burke," Mr. Akerson said, "is an injustice to the President's own sentiments and the complete religious tolerance he has always felt and has always advocated both publicly and privately."

Read in Convention.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—President Hoover's message to the Lutherans was contained in the publication issued by the Missouri synod of the church. It was not directed to the Lutheran convention meeting here.

President Hoover's message, as extracted from the American Lutheran, was read into the minutes of the convention here and the convention adopted a resolution expressing appreciation of the President's cordiality.

State to Speed Relief for Its 400,000 Idle

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A state commission on unemployment will be appointed within a day or two by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson, charged with the big task of finding a plan for the immediate relief of this situation and putting the plan into effect.

This was the result of a two hours' conference at the Hotel La Salle yesterday, at which the governor presided and where industrial labor and social service leaders gave their views on the critical unemployment problem confronting Chicago and other Illinois communities.

400,000 Idle, Cohen Says.

Barney Cohen, state superintendent of labor, said there were 400,000 unemployed in the state, and this figure was not disputed. He said there had been an average decrease in employment in all state industries during the year of 17.3 per cent, and that in his opinion the state faced the hardest winter since 1921.

As the tale was unfolded by a dozen or more speakers who have come into direct contact with widespread suffering, it was the human side of the problem that claimed immediate attention and sympathy, and all those present, representatives of many powerful groups, declared themselves ready to help the homeless and to lighten the burdens in the homes of those workers who have been unable to find work.

Plan Immediate Relief.

The commission will be made up of eighteen or twenty of the members of yesterday's conference, with possibly added groups, and the work will be divided among committees which will look after the homeless who are at present sleeping in newspapers under Wacker drive; the family problems of rent and food, a work fund, and a survey of the possibilities of public works, such as roads, bridges, harbors, the subway, and the post-office.

Larger problems of stabilization, which require bond issues and legislation, will be taken up at a later time, as it was the sense of the conference that something constructive should be done to prevent recurrence of such economic catastrophes.

Gov. Emmerson was guarded by special detectives and a special squad of police drawn up in front of the hotel, for a Red demonstration had been rumored. Four men and a woman, said to be well known communists, were arrested by Lieut. Make Mills and his men as they were trying to crash the gate at the governor's conference, and the rest of the Reds went peaceably away.

If the communists had been permitted to enter and make speeches they could hardly have been more condemnatory of existing conditions than were some of the speakers, though it was all a friendly affair, and John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, said at the close that he thought they would all be able to work together.

The Governor's Statement.

In explaining the purpose of the conference the governor said:

"While I believe that the present industrial conditions are the backwash of depression and financial in-

Jury in Leeney Murder Trial Is Deadlocked

The Criminal court jury which will decide the fate of Mrs. Florence Leeney, who is charged with the murder of her husband, Maurice, a teaming contractor, was reported deadlocked at 11 o'clock last night and ten minutes later was ordered locked up for the night by Judge Joseph B. Sabath.

The case was given to the jury at 7:45 p. m., and it was reported that three ballots had been taken, with the final vote standing six for acquittal and six for conviction of first degree murder. Shortly before the report was made to Judge Sabath that no agreement was in sight, sounds of heated argument were heard from the jury room.

Leeney was shot through the head on the morning of Jan. 2 in his home at 5336 Drexel boulevard. Mrs. Leeney testified that she shot him to save her own life, but the state charged that Leeney was asleep on a couch when he was slain. The couch, with its telltale bullet hole, was produced in court.

Mrs. Leeney was obviously disappointed when she was advised that the jury had failed to agree.

David W. Emmett, owner of a cigar store handbook at 4717 Cottage Grove avenue and said to be one of the biggest operators on the south side, was shot and killed late last night by an unidentified murderer who leaped aboard his moving machine in front of 4746 Ingleside avenue and fired one bullet into his body. The missile struck to the rear of the left arm pit and coursed through the lungs, causing instant death.

With Emmett at the time was his friend, Steven Platon, 837 East 47th street, owner of the Greenwood garage at 1123 East 47th street. He was questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Nat Ruvell and described the slayer as a man about 40 years old.

Many Theories on Motive.

No definite motive for the killing was advanced after several hours of investigation, but gambling trouble was suggested as the most logical one. One theory was that Emmett might have welched on a big bet. Another, and this was being pursued closely, concerned a three year old shooting.

Another theory was based on a mysterious list found in Emmett's pocket containing numerous notations recording dates and money, the latter ranging from $100 to $5,000. Whether they indicated payoffs or receipts was not established.

Emmett, as was his nightly custom, called for his car at the Greenwood garage about 10 o'clock. Platon entered the machine with him to return it to the garage after Emmett's arrival at home, 4728 Ingleside avenue. Emmett stopped in front of his residence and paused a few moments for a chat. Suddenly he observed a sedan draw to the curb a short distance ahead.

Slain from Running Board.

"Look out! Duck!" he cried sharply. As he spoke he started the machine ahead in an apparent attempt to pass the parked car. This move cost him his life, for as he came abreast of the sedan the murderer, gun in hand, dashed out and leaped on the left running board of Emmett's automobile.

The gunman uttered an oath, pressed his revolver against Emmett, and fired. Emmett's machine careened upon the curb, with Emmett slumped over the wheel. The killer ran to the waiting machine, which contained two other men, and raced away.

One of the first persons to reach the scene of the shooting was Emmett's sister, Frances, who fainted when she saw her brother's body. Detectives found several witnesses to the killing, among them Mrs. Frank Hanson, 4728 Ingleside avenue; Alfred Newton, 4736 Ingleside avenue; Mrs. Nanette Suryea, 4712 Ingleside avenue, and P. E. Persley, 4743 Ingleside avenue. Mrs. Hanson told of seeing the murderer and his companions riding in the neighborhood an hour before.

Emmett's Gambling Career.

Police investigated Emmett's activities in recent years. He was reputed the partner of Sam Hare in the Dells Winter club, an exclusive Drexel boulevard gambling parlor. Following a break with Hare, Emmett opened his Cottage Grove avenue place alone. The cigar store-handbook was bombed Nov. 12, 1927. Six months before that an alleged robbery attempt was made on the place, and Rowland McKenna, the alleged thief, was wounded by a police squad under Sergt. Arthur Katt.

Frank J. Emmett, a brother of the slain man, was questioned for two hours early this morning by Assistant State's Attorney Ruvell. Emmett said the alleged robbery was in fact an attempt by three men to kill David Emmett, and that when a recent demand to pay a $1,000 medical bill for the wounded man was ignored last night's murder followed.

Now Is a Good Time to Buy a New Radio

The scientific principles of radio—what ordinary mortal pays any attention to the scientific principles of radio? But for once they should. For the future enjoyment of radio entertainment by a large proportion of the listening public depends largely on the acceptance of a fact which involves radio science.

During the years that the makers of receiving sets have been improving their product, the makers of radio station equipment also have been improving theirs. Radio stations, seeking public favor, naturally couldn't afford to be asleep at their switches. As fast as new gadgets for broadcasting were developed, the stations tried them out. Those which proved to be successful the stations adopted.

Consequently, the programs which a good many radio stations offer today are better not only from the standpoint of entertainment, but they are far superior in their scientific aspect as well.

Meanwhile, a lot of people are trying to bring in present-day broadcasts with sets designed to operate with earlier types of transmitting equipment. These people, of course, get something out of their old sets, but they don't get 1930 radio reception.

NORTHWESTERN WEIGHS IDEA TO HELP CHARITIES

Meet Notre Dame at Soldiers' Field?

A plan, which if approved by Northwestern university, will raise an immense fund for charitable work in Chicago this winter, is now under consideration by the board of trustees and the faculty athletic committee of the university.

Acceptance of the plan would result in the collection of (at minimum) $150,000 and a possible $250,000 for charity.

The plan, presented to President Walter Dill Scott by THE TRIBUNE, is this:

Transfer the Northwestern-Notre Dame football game, scheduled to be played on Nov. 22, from Dyche stadium in Evanston to Soldiers' field. Take from the gross proceeds of the game, with its possible 110,000 attendance, the amount of money which the game would gross were it played as scheduled at Dyche stadium. [The capacity ticket sale at Dyche stadium is under 50,000]. Then give the remainder of the money raised on the ticket sale at Soldiers' field to the three great Chicago charities. They are the United Charities, the Catholic Charities, and the Jewish Charities.

Charities Send Request.

The benefits of this plan as outlined to President Scott feature the fact that neither Northwestern or Notre Dame would lose a penny. At the same time both universities would contribute a great sum to Chicago unfortunates.

President Scott, told of the plan, said that before asking formal discussion by his board of trustees and the faculty athletic committee, he should receive a civic request for the game's transfer.

Last night the head of the three charities signed the following telegram:

"President Walter Dill Scott,
"Northwestern university,

The need for funds to meet the unemployment situation never has been as great in Chicago as it is now. We sincerely hope the suggestion that the Northwestern-Notre Dame game be transferred from Dyche stadium to Soldiers' field, resulting as it would in the raising of thousands of dollars for charitable work, will be carried out. Our organizations formally request that the plan be accepted by the two great universities, Northwestern and Notre Dame.

[Signed.] D. F. KELLY,
President of the Catholic charities.
JOEL HUNTER,
Gen. Supt., United charities.
ALFRED K. FOREMAN,
President, Jewish charities.

Wilson, Rockne Back Plan.

Kenneth Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern, told of the suggestion, said:

"It strikes me as a magnificent plan. I do not see any objections to the plan that cannot be overcome."

Knute Rockne, athletic director at Notre Dame, said: "I am enthusiastic about the idea. Personally I see no objection."

Major John L. Griffith, Big Ten athletic commissioner, was asked whether he thought other Big Ten universities would object to the transfer of the playing site. The Big Ten has a rule that football games must be played on home fields, Maj. Griffith said:

"There is an unprecedented need. It is a worthy cause and I do not believe the Western conference would raise an objection."

Suggestion Interests Traylor.

Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank and president of the Northwestern board of trustees, said: "The suggestion sounds interesting. I will be pleased to contribute anything I can toward helping solve Chicago's need."

William S. Mason, another member of the board of trustees said: "There may be minor objections. I do not believe there will be any that cannot be overcome. It sounds like a fine idea."

Arthur Cutten, also a member of the university's ruling board listened to the suggestion and answered: "That seems a good plan."

Investigation last night disclosed that Soldiers' field has been rented for the afternoon of Nov. 22 by Chicago public schools. It is planned to play for the high school championship at the stadium that day.

Board Would Approve Shift.

But A. H. Pritzlaff, director of physical education in the public schools, listened last night to the suggested transfer of the university game, and said:

"While the shifting of the high school game from Soldiers' field to Dyche stadium would need to be approved by the board of education. I believe the board would gladly sanction the shift, as a contribution toward a great cause."

The suggestion that the Northwestern-Notre Dame game be played on Soldiers' field was made after a survey of charitable leaders disclosed that Chicago now faces a great need for charitable funds. Every charity organization in the city reports an unprecedented demand for help from the city's poor. Mr. Hunter of the United Charities said: "There can be no question of the necessity for aid from every source to meet the demands of the homeless and jobless."

New Step for Jewish Group.

Mr. Foreman, explaining his organization's work, pointed out that the Jewish Charities in the past never have gone outside their own organization for help. "But the need this winter is so great that precedents need not be observed," he said. "I think that Northwestern and Notre Dame would be doing a magnificent thing by transferring the game."

Northwestern leaders are confronted by several problems if the site of the game is transferred. Already more than $5,000 tickets to Dyche stadium for Nov. 22 have been sold. These tickets would have to be replaced by tickets for Soldiers' field.

Expect Notre Dame's Sanction.

Some objection might be made to the transfer by season ticket holders. When the purpose of the transfer is explained it is believed that these objections would be answered.

And then, of course, consent of Notre Dame university to the change must be secured. With Rockne's enthusiastic endorsement, and an understanding of the magnificence of the project, it is believed that Notre Dame's consent would be given.

N. U. Leader in Charity.

Northwestern, it is pointed out, has for years been showing splendid leadership in charitable work. Free clinics for sick are maintained by its medical school; free legal help for the poor is annually given thousands by Northwestern's law school. Thousands of poor are treated in Northwestern's dental clinic.

President Scott, discussing the plan, said:

"If this plan is put up rightly to our board of trustees and our faculty committee, I believe that any surface objections will be overcome. Northwestern will ask no credit, if the plan is adopted. Northwestern believes in doing everything in its power for the community."

200 JOBLESS MEN SLEEP IN HOME GIVEN BY WRIGLEY

Two hundred of Chicago's unemployed men last night enjoyed the unaccustomed luxury of a bed to sleep on as the temporary home at 509-519 North Union avenue, donated to the unemployed for the winter by William Wrigley Jr., was opened. Eventually, when the remaining equipment is installed, it is expected that 2,000 men may be sheltered there.

The lodging house will be managed by the Salvation Army, which has supervised the cleaning of the building. More than 400 beds will be available before long, according to Salvation Army officials, and before winter sets in the full accommodations will be available.

The creation of a municipal lodging house to give Chicago's homeless and unemployed men a warm sleeping place on cold winter night will be proposed to the city council at its next session, Nov. 5, by Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the finance committee.

CHICAGO CHARITY FOR YEAR IS PUT AT $160,864,000

Survey Is Completed for Metropolitan Area.

More than $160,864,000 was given for philanthropic purposes during the year ending Oct. 1 in the Chicago area composed of 19 nearby counties in Illinois and four in Indiana.

That total was announced yesterday at the completion of a year and a half survey made by Perry Addleman & Co. 435 North Michigan avenue, a publicity concern.

The contributions include those made to churches, educational institutions, hospitals, dispensaries, public health services, visiting nurses' associations, organized charities, the fine arts, reform organizations, medical research; institutions for children, the aged, and the blind, deaf and otherwise deficient; individual gifts to worthy individuals and miscellaneous social and philanthropic activities.

Billion and Half in Decade.

During the last ten years, according to a survey by the Addleman company, the contributions in the Chicago area totaled $1,454,667,000. During the 1929 calendar year the total was about $163,100,000.

The average increase from year to year during the decade, it was estimated, was 4 4-10 per cent. On that basis the specified Chicago area, in the year ending Oct. 1, might have been expected to give $176,700,000, instead of $160,864,000, which the survey actually shows. The company attributes the lower figure to the prevalent slump in business.

Charity Ratio Increases.

Under normal conditions approximately one-half of all money given in the name of philanthropy is for purely religious purposes—that is, not religious education or church owned hospitals or charitable institutions, but for the support of purely religious institutions, the report stated.

During the year ending Oct. 1, however, organized charity has received more than its average ratio because of the needs created by depressed business conditions, while the religious ratio has decreased.

REGULAR POSTAL STAFF NOT CUT, OFFICIAL SAYS

First Assistant Postmaster Genera. Arch Coleman, who left Chicago yesterday after studying the mail service since its reorganization, announced that, contrary to some reports, no regular employés have been or will be laid off. He defended the reduction of deliveries from five to three a day in business districts.

"We cannot discharge postal employés without some just cause," said Mr. Coleman. "The civil service takes care of that."

Mr. Coleman said that the reduction of deliveries was found necessary because of a falling off in the amount of mail received—about 10 per cent less than last year—and because there was virtually no mail to deliver on the fourth and fifth rounds.

GOVERNOR ACTS FOR QUICK RELIEF OF UNEMPLOYED

Conference Is Told of Suffering in State.

security in European nations and are to a considerable extent due to state of mind on the part of the public, nevertheless the resultant lack of employment and the suffering of many thousands of people are very real.

"Unemployment has been increasing steadily in many communities since April. Some estimates place the number of unemployed in Chicago at 10 per cent of all the workers in the city. Demands for help from those who cannot secure the bare necessities of life are more than double the normal number. Winter is approaching with its added hardships for the poor, and we may reasonably expect that the usual seasonal unemployment of certain trades will be added to those already out of work.

"I do not want to paint the picture any darker than it is, but I think it would be a mistake to close our eyes to actual conditions. There are evidences of improvement and it may well be that, with returning confidence, industry will quickly resume its normal activities. In the meantime whatever we can do toward relieving unemployment will be beneficial in restoring prosperity."

State Construction an Aid.

The governor told how the state had helped alleviate conditions by speeding up construction projects, so that the total under contract is now $50,000,000. Much of this had been intended for 1931. This example, he said, might well be followed by local governments and by industry.

"The American workingman," Gov Emmerson said, "does not want charity and there is no sentiment for anything in the nature of a dole, which Great Britain has tried with such unsatisfactory results. What is needed is work at which men may earn a living."

About the time the governor finished reading this the conference had swollen to such proportions that it had to be moved to a bigger room. The governor received 40 or 50 suggestions from outside sources during the meeting as to various plans for solving the problem, and he admitted that he was quite at sea.

Worst Since 1921.

"There are no accurate figures on the number of unemployed" said Mr. Cohen, who has just returned from a similar conference in New York. "The labor agency shows that it is the worst since 1921, and the unofficial estimate is 400,000. There are several hundred thousand more on part time schedules.

"The situation has not been faced squarely and thoughtfully. We need prompt action in two directions, to improve the present and to prevent such things in the future. Federal and state governments must take prompt action for emergency relief. Wages and costs are low now and private industry should take advantage of this in new work, and should adopt the part time system for all workers. We should consider unemployment insurance for the future. We are facing a wave of industrial unrest."

Building Trades Idle.

Prof. B. M. Squires of the University of Chicago, state labor adviser, said that in the long time program full coöperation should be sought between the banking and industrial interests. A relatively small number in this country do control these interests and once the formula of coöperation is found it should be relatively simple to apply. Unless we meet the recurring evil of depressions we shall have a panacea of hasty legislation."

Robert Fitchie of the Illinois Federation of Labor said that 50 per cent of the building trades were out of employment, including 14,000 of the 28,000 carpenters in Chicago.

"We must find and apply a remedy within the next 30 or 60 days," he said. "These men will not see their children starve."

Clifford W. Barnes, representing the Chicago Association of Commerce, gave the report of an unemployment committee of that body which recommends some method of registration of the unemployed as a first step and a survey of the public improvements situation.

Alfred Decker, representing the Illinois Manufacturers' association, discussed employment insurance and stability of employment. This insurance, he said, should not be confused with a government dole.

"The best evidence of the earnest desire and effort of Illinois industry to coöperate in stabilizing employment," said Decker, "is the fact that notwithstanding reduction in sales and profits during the past year there has not been any general downward revision of wage rates. Our survey shows that our member firms are doing everything feasible to maintain the purchasing capacity of the worker."

Organizations Pledge Help.

The Chicago Bankers' association, the Chicago Council of Social Agencies, the Employers' association, the Chicago Church Federation, the Illinois Bankers association, the Industrial Relations association, the Illinois chamber of commerce, the Coal Dealers' association, the Women's Trade Union league, the Catholic, Jewish and United Charities, and the Salvation army pledged support and active help.

Mr. Fitzpatrick of the federation of labor said he did not think much of the value of talking and reading papers.

"We are right up against a proposition that is going to wake somebody up," he said. "It is more than soup kitchens and cots for the men who sleep under the bridges. It is the entering of homes and lifting the burden of discouragement there. I am interested in these homes of the workers. We think we have kept our pledges to the President as to strikes and wages, but we think we are the only ones who have kept these pledges."

Ask Help for Homeless.

Joel Hunter, director of the United Charities, said that special committees should be appointed to help the homeless and a strong committee to aid families. Condition were getting desperate, he said. He told of one extreme case, where his workers found a woman cooking the pet canaries to feed to her children. He asked that lots of little pieces of work, around homes and gardens, in attics and basements, be created by those who are able to do so, and that the employment bureaus be notified. Just a day or two of work would help a lot, he said.

Miss Agnes Nestor called attention to the reorganization of the postoffice, which, she said, was throwing many out of work, and should be postponed. Alonzo Thayer of the Urban league offered the help of that organization and said relief work was under way among the Negroes and that more was necessary. Gov. Emmerson closed the conference by asking advice as to the appointment of the committee which he was authorized to name by vote of the conference on motion of W. S. Reynolds, executive director of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies. He was ready to act and to act at once.

The communists who were arrested in the hotel were held at the detective bureau last night. They were:

MAYOR SPEEDS WORK ON DETROIT PROJECTS; $4,550,000 AVAILABLE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Paving the way for immediate hastening of the building program of the board of education, and also for construction work by the Detroit water board, Mayor Frank Murphy today signed checks for $4,550,000, thereby setting up emergency appropriations.

The mayor's action will mean immediate work upon school buildings and additions to the water supply system. The construction work is of such a nature as to permit its continuance during winter months and will provide relief for hundreds throughout the winter. Ordinarily this money would not be available until next July.

Subscriptions to the community chest have swelled the fund to $1,317,885. Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford gave $130,000.

Court Upholds Museum Bonds; Long Battle Ends

The Supreme court yesterday denied the last motion of William E. Furlong of Chicago attacking the legality of the industrial museum bond issue, thus ending six years of litigation and permitting work to go ahead in the restoration of the old Fine Arts building for use as a museum of science and industry in Jackson park.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST WHITE IS REINSTATED

State to Ask Death for "Public Enemy."

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle. Of the $5,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503, Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

Two branches of the Criminal courts were specially convened yesterday, despite the holiday, to give aid in the war on gangsters.

Chief Justice McGoorty of the Criminal court opened his court for the purpose of reinstating a murder charge against William (Three Fingered Jack) White, a "public enemy," upon which the state expects to send White to the gallows.

White, who was ordered held without bail, was arrested Sunday morning by Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, during a series of raids on various dives, gambling houses, and hotels in Cicero.

Dig Up Old Charges.

After learning of the arrest, officials of the Chicago crime commission recalled that an old murder charge was still pending against White, and this information was conveyed to Prosecutor Ditchburne. Then it was revealed that Mr. Ditchburne had been conducting a quiet investigation of many old charges pending against gangsters, and that what the prosecutor termed a "perfect case" could be made out against White.

White had been tried, in 1926, for the murder of Policeman Edward Pfiaume in a pistol battle in the Mannheim inn, Mannheim road and Irving street, on Dec. 13, 1925. He was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment. The Illinois Supreme court, after considering the case for nearly three years, reversed the conviction on Feb. 20, 1929, and ordered a retrial, but the case was not retried.

Prosecutor Ditchburne said the Supreme court had expressed an opinion that the evidence failed to show whether White had fired the shot which killed Pfiaume, or whether it was fired by Pfiaume's policeman companion in the effort to arrest White and another gangster. The pistol carried by White and the bullet which killed Pfiaume were preserved, however, and have been examined by Lt. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert. Mr. Ditchburne declined to comment on Col. Goddard's findings.

Will Ask Death Penalty.

Another complaint of the Supreme court was that it had not been shown whether Pfiaume had a legal right to arrest White at the time of the murder, and this can be shown on a new trial, Ditchburne said. The prosecutor said he would ask for the death penalty, which would be hanging on the gallows, since the murder of Pfiaume occurred before the statute was passed changing the method of executions to electrocution.

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus was filed before Chief Justice McGoorty in behalf of White and the two companions arrested with him, George (Red) Barker and Claude Maddox. These two and White will be booked after a hearing is held on the habeas corpus action.

Lyle Opens His Court.

The other court to be specially convened on the holiday was the felony court, presided over by Judge John P. Lyle. The judge was prepared to pass in order in the case of James (Jim) Simmons, a notorious habitual criminal, who will appear this morning before the state Supreme court at Springfield. After conferring with the prosecutors, Judge Lyle decided that he would not enter the order while the case was pending in the upper court.

Simmons has been arraigned for vagrancy, and Judge Lyle fixed his bail at $50,000. The gangster's attorneys presented a writ of habeas corpus directly to the Supreme court, charging that the bail was excessive, and the high court agreed to consider the case.

Judge Lyle stated after the conference that in the future he would include the following order in all cases in which high bail had been fixed for a notorious criminal:

"It appearing from the evidence produced before the court that there is probable cause for believing that such defendant is of a desperate and unscrupulous character and has habitual criminal tendencies; and that evidence against him in this case is of such a nature and of such a probative character that there is serious grounds for the court to fear, and the court does fear, that such defendant, if admitted to the usual low bail and permitted to be at large without close surveillance, may be a menace to society and be in grave danger not only of committing crimes but also of absconding while so at large; and that it is not to the best interests of either said defendant or the public that said defendant should be admitted to bail unless he is under close and watchful surveillance of some other person or persons that may become surety or sureties for him under a sufficiently high penalty to induce said surety or sureties to properly guard said defendant while on bail.

"It is therefore ordered by the court that the bail of said defendant be fixed at —— dollars, with good and sufficient surety or sureties to be approved according to law.

"The court finds that said penalty is reasonable, under all the circumstances in this case."

The order was prepared by Assistant State's Attorney J. Kent Greene.

Public Must Act—McGoorty.

Public opinion must be given voice if Chicago's crime situation is to be vanquished, according to Chief Justice McGoorty, who spoke last night at a Columbus day gathering of Newman council, Knights of Columbus, at the North Shore hotel, Evanston.

"Chicago is now facing its biggest crisis," said the chief justice. "A super government has been set up within our city's walls, and a certain element is trying to overcome the forces of law.

"The time has come when public opinion must take voice and decide whether law or lawlessness will prevail. If public opinion takes voice, public officials intrusted with the enforcement of the law will heed it and our city may be made safe for the working man and the little business man and others."

Barks Aid Search

The widespread search for Rose Marie, 18 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Deichelbor, 638 118th street, Hammond, Ind., came to an end yesterday when two school children, attracted by the barking of a pet puppy, found the child in a vacant lot near home, hungry but unharmed. The child wandered away from home early Sunday night.

HUSBAND, WIFE BATTLE AND KILL NEGRO ROBBER

A south side grocer and his wife last night resisted three Negro bandits when ordered to "stick 'em up," and as the result one of the robbers, Richard Burns, 21 years old, 2942 Prairie avenue, lies dead at the county morgue from four bullet wounds and two knife slashes in his back. Aaron Littsky, 34 years old, owner of the grocery at 3757 Rhodes avenue, inflicted the bullet wounds, while his wife, Gussie, 28 years old, did the slashing. The other two bandits, after firing several wild shots, fled.

Burns' two companions first entered the shop and asked for "a little piece of liver." Mrs. Littsky noticed Burns loitering outside and whispered to her husband. Littsky maneuvered himself over to a shelf on which lay his revolver. When Burns walked in, drew a pistol, and ordered "hands up," Littsky grabbed his gun and began to shoot. Mrs. Littsky seized a meat knife and ran to the aid of her husband.

CHICAGO'S WARM SPELL IS OVER, SAYS FORECASTER

Chicago's six day warm spell, with a temperature range of 73 to 80 degrees, somewhat unusual for October, ended yesterday, according to W. P. Day, government forecaster, who announced that the mercury would not pass 60 today.

The records of the weather bureau yesterday showed an excess of 4.3 degrees in the daily mean temperature since Oct. 1, the normal mean being 54. The all time record daily mean for the whole month is 62, which was recorded in 1900.

FIND WOMAN'S BODY IN LAKE.

The body of Mrs. Catherine Lenihan, 30 years old, 912 Wellington avenue, was recovered from Belmont harbor off Aldine avenue yesterday. She disappeared on Oct. 3 after a domestic argument, according to her husband, W. E. Lenihan, who identified the body.

A BIG CATCH, BUT FISH, NOT ANGLER, HAS ALL THE LUCK

While Ephraim Gets Wet and Loses Bait.

Ephraim S. Noble, 6308 South Marshfield avenue, a brother of the angle, was pursuing his occupation last evening at Roosevelt road and the lake, his fish line dangling from a ten foot pole and a handsome red, white, and blue cork lazily riding the waves. Mr. Noble was perched atop a lofty piling, in the manner of Simeon of Stylites on his pillar, serenely puffing his pipe, he being a patient man, and contemplative.

Long observation having initiated Mr. Noble into the ways of every denizen of the Michigan deep, he was not moved so much as even to reach for the fishing pole, which he had fastened in a crevice of the piling, when occasionally the cork bobbed on the waves. He knew the tricks of bluegills, perch, trout, carp, and fresh water herring. The fine plump caterpillar on the hook would snare them.

Impervious to Commotion.

So immured, in fact, was Mr. Noble in his occupation that he was unaware of a commotion on the shore immediately north of him, behind an old wharf. Michael Weiser, 53 years old, an old clothes peddler of 1438 South Kolin avenue, had been stopped by two men while taking a stroll.

"Where's your dough?" the pair asked Mr. Weiser.

"I haven't any," he answered.

They searched him. In a wallet in an inside coat pocket they found $64.

"So you lied to us," they chorused, and lifting him, feet and hands, with couple of a hefty swings they tossed him into the lake.

Mr. Noble, as has been said, did not hear the commotion, but presently the red, white and blue cork lunged and the German silver reel fairly sung as the line ran out. Mr. Noble dropped his pipe and seized the pole. He began wondering about those stories he had heard of whales and sea lions occasionally visiting these shores.

A Strike and a Big Splash.

There was a mighty splashing in the waters at Mr. Noble's feet. No, it wasn't a whale. A whale didn't wear a Derby hat. Neither was it a sea lion, for a sea lion has fins and it barks. This fellow was gesticulating with upturned palms and he had a human voice. He was yelling "Help!"

It was Mr. Weiser that Mr. Noble had caught. Mr. Noble slid down the piling, waded out to his chin, extended his right arm, which his catch eagerly clutched, and hauled Mr. Weiser in. The South State street police were called, and both men were hurried to shelter, undressed, toweled, and set by an electric heater to dry.

"You saved my life," said Mr. Weiser to Mr. Noble.

"Yeah, and I lost my caterpillar," said Mr. Noble to Mr. Weiser.

SHOT TO DEATH IN GARAGE.

The body of John S. Manning, 39 years old, an auditor, was found last night in a garage in the rear of his brother's home, with whom he lived at 3657 North Sacramento avenue. He had been shot through the head and a pistol lay at his side.

CUBAN SENATE PROBES PLOT TO SHOOT MEMBERS

HAVANA, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The newspaper El Pais today said an alleged daring plot on the part of Senator Rosendo Collazo of Camaguey to assassinate numbers of his fellow senators had been secretly discussed by the senate. The newspaper reported the senators were investigating the charges. Senator Collazo left on a hurried trip to New York a week ago.

An alleged report of Cuban secret service agents was quoted to the effect that Senator Collazo had arranged to have a number of armed men stationed at strategic points about the senate chamber the first time a session was called, and that he himself was to have given the signal to open fire.

The report also was said to have charged the senator with organizing a plot to seize arms and munitions at Cabanas fortress for a revolution.

WRITES NOTE OF FAREWELL, THEN KILLS HERSELF

Mildred Furr, 22 years old, whose mother died when she was 5 years old, and who came to Chicago when she was 17, shot and killed herself yesterday in the Linwood hotel, 1812 West Washington boulevard, where she had been living since June 22, when she and a man were registered there as Mr. and Mrs. Frank Berman. She had penciled a farewell note, telling her real name and asking that her body be sent to her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Fergen, Parkstone, S. D.

Acting Capt. John J. Kelly of the Warren avenue station was unable to learn much about Berman. He was not found. A star in his room indicated he had once been a special policeman at Elgin.

Advertising Agency Offers a Rare Opportunity

A rare opportunity exists for an experienced advertising man, without making a financial investment, to become Vice-President of a prominent quarter-century old advertising agency.

Essential requirements are a well-grounded advertising experience; a knowledge of merchandising and advertising procedures; a demonstrated ability to secure and successfully contact good accounts; good character and reputation; adaptability contributing to good team work; a zest and zeal for work.

Here he will find an ideal environment; congenial associates; the co-operation of a large and competent organization in giving clients the highest type of service; the background of a long established, financially strong, capably managed business serving a large and representative clientele. Earnings of the present Contact Men have ranged from $25,000 to $75,000 annually, with further possibilities unlimited.

This opportunity may appeal to the head of a smaller advertising agency who, through merging his business with ours, could be relieved of all financial risk and service responsibilities, and could offer his clients greater concentration of his own time and ability plus the broader facilities of a larger and more completely equipped advertising organization.

If you wish to know the name of the Agency with a view of discussing the opportunity with the Company's President, telephone Mr. A. H. Marshall, his attorney, Franklin 3247, between 11 a. m. and 12, or between 3 and 4 p. m. this week, and an interview will be arranged. Negotiations will be in confidence.

WOUNDED THIEF TELLS OF KILLING OF POLICEMAN

Deserted by Pals After Holdup Battle.

John Senew, 23 year old ex-convict, lay on a stretcher in Chief of Detectives Norton's office last night and told how he and two companions shot and killed Policeman William Rumbler in a soft drink parlor at 3174 Milwaukee avenue Sunday night. Senew was wounded three times in the battle with the policeman during a holdup attempt.

Senew's capture was made through a police radiogram. Patrolman Lester Becker and John Hoch of West North avenue station, were passing 2032 West Erie street, when they received a radio message that a wounded man had been taken into a house there.

The two policemen, aided by Patrolmen John Ellis and William McGlynn, also of West North avenue station, who arrived a few minutes later, surrounded the house and then broke down a door to the room in which Senew was hiding.

Found Wounded on Bed.

He lay on a bed with bullet wounds in his chest, left thigh and right arm. Only the wound in the thigh was considered serious. Two other men and two women in the apartment also were taken into custody by Lieuts. Phil Carroll and Andrew Barry who arrived a short time later.

The wounded man was given medical attention and removed on a stretcher to detective headquarters, where he began his story.

"Sure I'll tell you! Why shouldn't I tell you? They treated me like a rat. I went in with two other fellows [police withheld the names until they could make the arrests]. We were going to stick up the place. We didn't expect a copper and had to shoot our way out. Then when I got shot they threw me out."

Parents Called to Bureau.

The shooting occurred Sunday night while Rumbler, enjoying a day off duty, stood chatting with a friend, James Purcelle, in the latter's soft drink parlor.

Mr. and Mrs. William Senew, 2104 North 75th avenue, Elmwood Park, parents of the wounded bandit, and his sister, Ella, were notified and came to the detective bureau, where they found another sister, Rose, who had been in the flat with her wounded brother. Others taken into custody at the Erie street address included Mildred Onuhekuk, Marie Gerybowski, and Luka Donink.

Senew in December of 1928 was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail on a charge of conspiracy in an attempt to rob the circulation department of THE TRIBUNE. The leader of the attempt, Charles Stanley, was sentenced to serve five years in Joliet. Senew turned state's evidence and pleaded guilty. The attempt was thwarted by employees of THE TRIBUNE.

GUNS LIFE STUDY FOR NEW AID AT CRIME SCHOOL

Capt. Wiard Knows All Types.

Firearms of every description, from the mighty 12 inch guns used by the Connecticut coast artillery to the .22 caliber, pearl handled revolver occasionally figuring in a murder case, have been the life study of Capt. Seth Wiard, who this week joined the staff of Northwestern university's crime laboratory.

A trim, athletic figure of the intellectual type, Capt. Wiard at the age of 36 years is already a veteran in the science of ballistics. He has spent 16 years in military and professional service, always at posts concerning firearms, but still retains an almost boyish enthusiasm for his work.

Joins U. S. Research Staff.

Upon graduation in 1914 from the Rensselaer Polytechnic institute at Troy, N. Y., Capt. Wiard was for two years a chemist in the laboratories of the Du Pont Powder company, Wilmington, Del. Leaving the laboratory with a thorough knowledge of all types of gunpowder, he became research engineer of the government laboratories attached to Picatinny arsenal, Dover, N. J.

American's declaration of war interrupted his laboratory work. He enlisted as ordnance officer in the United States coast guard and, for the duration of the conflict, was assigned to patrol craft, instructing the men in the use of small arms, machine guns and heavy ordnance.

"Each Weapon Is Different."

Since the war he has served three years as artillery engineer with the 242d Connecticut coast artillery and, since leaving that post, has been an experimental ballistics engineer with the Remington Arms company. He holds a captaincy in the army reserve corps.

"Weapons are like people in that each one has an individuality," Capt. Wiard remarked, as he adjusted a microscope in his laboratory. "Every bullet fired from no matter what gun is indelibly marked with the characteristics of that gun. These markings are as exact and can be as certainly identified as the finger prints left by a man. Only you can't wipe out these gun 'finger prints' as you can human finger prints."

Army Police School Graduate.

Capt. Wiard declined to discuss any of the criminal cases on which he is now engaged, observing that such discussion should be reserved for the courtroom. Ballistics and better police training, of the kind offered by the army police school at Camp Perry, O., will prove important factors in reducing American crime, Capt. Wiard believes.

Incidentally, Capt. Wiard is a graduate of the army police school, where accredited peace officers may secure free instruction in personal combat, machine gun and gas warfare.

REBELS DEFEAT BRAZIL TROOPS; BATTLE 5 HOURS

Losses Heavy; Warn City as Gas Bombardment.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIO GRANDE DO SUL, Brazil, Oct. 13.—The first real fighting of the civil war was reported to revolutionary headquarters here this afternoon from the vicinity of Carlopolis, on the Parana-Sao Paulo border. The point on the border of the states of Parana and Sao Paulo where the only railroad crosses is about 180 miles from the city of Sao Paulo.

The report says rebels under Gen. Manuel Costa defeated a federal army detachment allied with Sao Paulo police in a sanguinary five hour engagement in which the casualties on both sides were heavy.

The rebels are reported to have routed the federals, taking many prisoners and a large quantity of war material, while the remnants of the federal force is in full retreat in the direction of Sao Paulo.

Plan Gas Attack on City.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 13.—A revolutionary bulletin early today announced the capture of Florianopolis in the state of Santa Catharina and the imminent capture of Juiz de Fora, state of Minas Geraes. Brazilian circles here, however, deny that Florianopolis, the last federal stronghold in the south, has been captured. This seems to be confirmed tonight by a dispatch from Rio Grande do Sul which says revolutionary authorities have warned families residing in Florianopolis to evacuate the city forthwith because of the imminence of an artillery bombardment and asphyxiating gas attack.

Capture Many Rebels.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 13.—Official bulletins chronicle several federal successes in the state of Minas Geraes, where a large number of revolutionists were taken prisoner in the neighborhood of Juiz de Fora and Ouro Fino.

Loyalists Win in Minas Geraes.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Dispatches from the state of Minas Geraes today said that the federals were advancing in the southern tip of the state, which projects like the apex of a triangle into Sao Paulo.

Federal soldiers occupied the railroad city of Pouzo Alegre and got in touch by automobile with local soldiers and Sao Paulo troops at Itajuba, further east on the railway.

Further west, federal volunteers successfully attacked the rebels at Guaxupe, capturing prisoners and occupying a bridgehead that strategically controls the state's triangular tip.

Besieged Still Hold Out.

In Belle Horizonte, state capital, a battalion of the Twelfth regiment is reported still holding out against the rebels, with supplies for 30 days, ample ammunition and water from a well inside the barracks.

Uberaba, a railway junction in the western part of the state, is reported surrounded and its surrender is hourly expected. Maj. Moya, commanding the Fifth battalion of military police, is said to have captured near there an armored train complete with kitchen and dinner ready to serve. He seized a large quantity of machine guns and dynamite, and took prisoners.

The federals assert that the southern tip of the state, from Itajuba to Caracol, now has been occupied. They also say that they have occupied the important coffee district around Ouro Fino, in the outlying part of the state of Sao Paulo.

Seize Plotters in Capital.

The government today announced the capture of a band of revolutionary plotters hidden in the federal capital for the purpose of starting an uprising as soon as revolutionary troops should have come near the city. Among the leaders arrested were Lon Bontimo and Afranio de Mello.

Ten Curtiss-Wright guardsman type Fledgling airplanes, equipped with bombing racks and machine guns front and rear, soon will be added to the Brazilian federal air forces through a contract signed here today by a representative of the Curtiss-Wright company. The machines will be shipped from New York Friday. Bombs and ammunition were included in the order for the ten ships.

The government also is negotiating for amphibian planes armed with three machine guns and two bomb racks carrying ten fragmentation bombs to the plane.

This is the first sale of American armament to the Brazilian army, which heretofore has been supplied by France.

Every American firm here is hit by the loss of employés. Many of them are giving the men two weeks' salary in addition to offering to hold the jobs open for a certain time. Diplomatic and consular offices also have lost many of their male workers.

The food situation brought a new edict from the government today, placing eggs, poultry, milk and bread on the controlled price list. This was done, it was announced, to prevent profiteering.

Shoot Down Airplane.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 13.—The revolutionist general staff announced today that their forces facing the Sao Paulo state troops shot down a Sao Paulo bombing plane which had been sent to attack them. They also published an intercepted radio message from Gen. Azevedo Costa, commanding the federal counter offensive in Minas Geraes, representing himself completely surrounded in Juiz de Fora by superior rebel forces under the command of Col. Fonseca, who is constantly being reinforced. He reported he has a larger number of dead and wounded and requested urgent reinforcements.

They also published a radio message addressed to the federal government at Rio de Janeiro reporting the uprising of convicts on a penal farm on the island of Fernando de Noronha, asking that federal troops be sent to help suppress it.

"Close" Ports in 7 States.

BERLIN, Oct. 13. — (AP) — A communique from the Brazilian legation today stated that "during the present disturbances in Brazil" visas and freight certificates will be refused for all ports in seven states.

[International News Reel Photo.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Ann Christy, film actress, demanded $100,000 for a broken nose in a suit filed today against the Herbert M. Baruch corporation, owners of a ditching machine which her automobile struck on a Hollywood street the night of Aug. 12.

TWO ROB BANK; KILL AN OFFICER; TAKEN BY POLICE

Surrender When One Is Shot; Loot Recovered.

Sturgis, Mich., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Two bandits, who held up a bank in Battle Creek this afternoon and escaped with $4,000 and shot to death State Trooper John S. Burke, were overtaken by state troopers and captured in a gun battle late today in which one of the bandits was wounded.

The fugitives were sighted just north of Howe, Ind., by the state troopers, who were rapidly gaining on them when, in attempting to make a turn into a side road at high speed, the bandit car skidded off the road and upset.

Apparently uninjured, the bandits abandoned the car and started across a field toward a swamp, which offered comparative safety in the growing dusk. The officers followed closely, and as they reached the edge of the swamp one of the men fell with a bullet in his leg and the other threw down his gun and surrendered.

$4,000 Loot Recovered.

At Centerville, Mich., where the bandits were taken by state police, it was reported that both had made complete confessions of both the bank robbery and the killing of Burke. The $4,000 stolen from the bank was found in the wreckage of the bandits' car. The prisoners said they were Tom Martin and James Gallagher, both of Toledo, O. Gallagher was the wounded man. The automobile which they used in the robbery and attempted getaway was identified as having been stolen in Fort Wayne, Ind.

The robbery of the East End branch of the Merchants Trust and Savings bank was the first bank holdup in Battle Creek's history.

How Trooper Was Slain.

The bandits eluded pursuing cars from Battle Creek and the next heard of them was when State Trooper Burke was found slain near this city.

According to the confessions Martin fired the shot that killed Burke. Burke overtook the bandit car on his motorcycle. He called on them to halt and they did so. As Burke stood beside their car questioning them Gallagher drew a pistol. The trooper knocked it aside and Martin opened fire, killing Burke.

His body was found lying in the middle of the highway with three bullet wounds in the neck. One arm had been crushed and there was a gash across his face, indicating that the bandit car had run over him after he was shot. His motorcycle was standing on its standard by the roadside.

ROB SPORTING GOODS STORE.

Two armed bandits yesterday forced three employés of a sporting goods store at 34 South Clark street into the basement and escaped with $65 from the cash register.

WIFE MURDERER HANGED IN CELL; BLAME GANGLAND

Cleveland, O., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Shortly after Tony Colletto, 21, confessed killer of his young bride, was found dead early today, hanging by his belt in the county jail here, his attorneys charged that both of the killings were committed by gangsters connected with the corn sugar racket. Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Silbert at once ordered a grand jury investigation.

Colletto was to have gone on trial today charged with first degree murder of his 18 year old wife, Christina.

Attorneys Sarah Hedrick and William F. Marsteller said Tony and Christina were killed because they "knew too much." Colletto allegedly was a witness to the gang slayings of Joe Porello and Sam Tilocco, former Cleveland corn sugar dealers.

It was not explained how gangland allegedly reached inside the county jail to kill Colletto; but Coroner A. J. Pearse ordered a postmortem with special efforts to determine if the prisoner had been poisoned.

Portugal to Aid Farmers Hit by Break in Prices

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The government today decided to give financial assistance to farmers who suffered losses by the recent break in the prices of their products. Wine growers also will be aided.

Seize New Suspect in Robbery of Mayor's Wife

Walter Guida, 32 years old, 1116 West Erie street, was arrested yesterday as a suspect of the holdup of Mayor Thompson's wife a week ago when $15,500 in jewels were taken from Mrs. Thompson. Guida was an associate of Sam Battaglia, who is held as one of the robbers. Policeman Peter O'Malley, chauffeur for Mrs. Thompson, who lost his gun and star to the robbers, was unable to identify Guida, who was held nevertheless pending developments. The case against Battaglia is scheduled for preliminary hearing today before Judge Lyle in the Felony court.

Dear Sir:

We wish to express our appreciation for the broad and liberal policy which you adopted several months ago, at the beginning of the business depression by refusing to cut wages or lay off any employee, thereby permitting us to maintain our usual standard of living during this period.

You have shown your faith in the future of Chicago by recently opening two new houses, thereby creating work for the various trades and crafts, at the same time increasing the number of employees of your company.

We know this policy will result in closer co-operation, a higher standard of loyalty and will have a direct effect on continuing the success of Pixley & Ehlers.

"FOOT SLIPPED," DRYS' DEFENSE IN 22 KILLINGS

Government Files Tell of Raid Deaths.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

One group of prohibition killings might be segregated under the heading "His Foot Slipped." The records of the prohibition bureau in Washington, showing the alleged facts and disposition in 154 killings that have taken place since the national prohibition law went into effect, contain at least 22 cases where some such accident occurred, or is given as an excuse. Here are a few of these:

JESS COFFEY: "Facts of the Case—On March 28, 1923, Prohibition Agent Benjamin H. Crumpton, accompanied by some sheriffs, raided an illicit distillery near Muscadine, Ala., operated by Jess Coffey. Coffey attempted to escape and Crumpton fired to his right trying to stop him. As he fired his foot slipped causing the gun to swerve to the left and as a result Coffey was shot and died later.

"Disposition of the Case—Crumpton was indicted by grand jury of Cloburne county for murder. Nov. 6, 1924, was tried and acquitted."

Agent Falls, Man Killed.

DOUGLAS DUNHAM: "Facts of the case—On the evening of Oct. 14, 1923, Deputy Marshal G. C. Bryant, accompanied by Federal Prohibition Agents Cheatham, Harry H. Moor, and Ratledge, went to Jake Brown's filling station near Salisbury, N. C., to serve a search warrant. When the officers arrived one Douglas Dunham was seen in the store in a bending position looking through the door at him. Dunham made a dash for the door opening into a rear room. Cheatham ran after him, but Dunham slammed the door before Cheatham reached it and bolted it on the inside.

"Cheatham with his gun in his hand forced the door open. The floor on the other side of the door was lower than the floor of the store and as the door swung open Cheatham fell down the step to his knees, throwing out his hands to stop his fall. His pistol struck the door and was discharged, the shot striking Dunham, who died as a result of the wound.

"Disposition of the case—Agent Cheatham was tried and acquitted April 18, 1923."

Flees Agent, Is Slain.

ELMER FULTON: "Facts of the case—On Aug. 4, 1927, Agent Charles T. Warner, accompanied by O. T. Mason, J. C. Pane, Lon Wilson, and W. Haskins, went to Pilcher, Okla., to make a buy from W. Johnson and Elmer Fulton. Haskins, observed by Warner and Mason, purchased two half pints of liquor which was put in his car, and Johnson offered to sell him all the liquor he wanted. Haskins said they would take five gallons, but would have to come back for it later.

"Johnson got his partner, Fulton, and proceeded to dig up five one gallon jugs of whisky which were concealed in a tailing pile back of Johnson's home. The jugs were put in two sacks, Johnson carrying one and Fulton the other. As they went to Haskin's car Warner drove up and, jumping from his car, said, 'Boys, you are under arrest; we are federal officers,' and went toward Fulton who started to strike him with a sack containing the jugs of whisky.

"Warner said, 'Boy, don't do that,' and Fulton dropped the sack and ran. Warner gave chase, firing three shots in the ground. In going over an embankment he slipped in the mud and fell, his pistol being discharged as he did so. This shot hit Fulton in the left shoulder blade and passed out through the right breast. A doctor and ambulance were called and Fulton died on the way to the hospital.

Freed by U. S. Court.

"Disposition of the Case—State prosecution in progress Aug. 6, 1927. Released by U. S. court on application of habeas corpus proceedings, Aug. 29, 1927. Judge Kennamer discharged the agent Oct. 21, 1927, saying the act was justifiable."

TOM CHANDLER.—"Facts of the Case—On Aug. 2, 1929, Agent Charles Stevens accompanied by Agent R. H. Hirzel and State Officers Aukron and Lott, drove out of Poteet, Tex., going north on the Palo Alto road. About six or seven miles down the road they turned to the right into a lane and followed it for several miles, past houses and through numerous gates to the home of Tom Chandler. As they approached the house they saw a still in operation in the outhouse.

Agent Stevens told Chandler and three men on the porch of the dwelling that he was a federal officer and for them to stay where they were. The three men ran into the house and Chandler who remained on the porch reached for his pistol. Stevens rushed forward to get to him, stumbled and accidentally fired his rifle, killing Chandler.

"Disposition of the Case—Agent Stevens was placed under $2,000 bond for appearance before the state grand jury in October, 1929. [On Sept. 24, 1929, Agent Stevens was fired on from ambush while returning from a raid. His death the next day resulted from the wounds received.]"

Agent Stumbles; Suspect Killed.

ROY GURGANIUS—"Facts of the Case—On April 9, 1930, Prohibition Agents S. K. Hughes, O. A. McCaskill and T. C. Wilkins accompanied by Clyde McCall, located a distillery in operation near Verona, Onslow county, N. C. They were unable to approach only within about 100 yards without being seen by the operators. From this point they rush in on the still, McCall and Hughes being in front. McCall chased one of the operators, Roland Padgett, and apprehended him.

"The other operator, Roy Gurganius, started to leave the still and Agent Hughes, in an effort to get around the still running as fast as he could stumbled and accidentally discharged his revolver, the bullet going through the cap of the still, which deflected its course about six feet to the right, striking Gurganius about four inches above the hip and 2½ inches to the right of the center of his spine. Agent McCaskill took Gurganius to the James Walter hospital at Wilmington, where he died at 7:40 that night.

"Disposition of the case—Agent Hughes was held by the coroner under a $2,000 bond for his appearance at the October term of Superior court of Onslow county."

(This is the fourth of a series of articles on prohibition. The fifth will appear in an early issue.)

W. C. T. U. TO SUPPORT HOOVER AGAIN IN '32, N. Y. SESSION SHOWS

Johnstown, N. Y., Oct. 13. — [Special.]—A determination to insure the renomination of President Hoover on a dry platform in 1932 became apparent as one of the primary aims of the dry forces in the coming state elections at the sessions of the state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance union here today. This was shown both in speeches by leaders of other dry organizations and in a telegram sent by the convention to President Hoover.

The telegram was due to erroneous reports that Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the W. C. T. U., had outlined plans for a third party in 1932. The telegram read:

"Associated Press wire that Mrs. Boole outlined plans for a third party 1932 absolutely untrue. Mrs. Boole and state W. C. T. U. convention heartily support you and your program."

Lord Leverhulme, Head of British Soap Concern, Here

...RROW 'WET'; NOT CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT'

...Favors Repeal of Dry Law and State Rights.

Newark, N. J., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Dwight W. Morrow, opening his campaign for election to the United States senate on the Republican ticket, reiterated tonight his advocacy of repeal of the eighteenth amendment and eliminated himself as a candidate for the presidency in 1932.

Speaking from the same platform from which five months ago he first expressed himself in favor of repeal and a return to state control of liquor traffic, he repeated that view, commended warmly President Hoover and the national administration, and concluded:

"I look forward with pleasure and confidence to the opportunity of voting two years from now for the renomination and reelection of Herbert Hoover."

Faces Depression Situation.

The senate nominee said it was idle for any Republican to contend the United States was not passing through a period of depression, a period when substantial unemployment exists.

"Merely because I am a candidate for public office," he said, "I do not for one moment underestimate the suffering that hard times bring to many people whose margin of saving has been small.

"Rather I want to recognize frankly the situation that exists and to do what I can to assist those public and private agencies which are trying to remedy the difficulties.

"President Hoover stands today a potent and positive factor for peace in the world—peace at home and abroad," Mr. Morrow said. "His wise action in his unofficial capacity in bringing the leaders of business and labor together one year ago has contributed in a great degree to an avoidance of those conflicts between capital and labor which so often in the past have complicated our periods of depression and delayed our industrial recovery.

Praises Hoover's Work.

"At a time of stress when so many parts of the world are in disorder, our foreign affairs have been conducted with dignity and wisdom. President Hoover's initiative and driving force created the London disarmament treaty, which eliminated for the first time in the history of the world competition in all classes of naval armament among the three leading nations of the world.

"I am not speaking with the authority of the President of the United States or even with his knowledge. I do have the right to say, however, that in my opinion the Republican national administration with President Hoover at its head will be judged two years from now by the patience, the calmness, the sympathy, and the courage with which it has carried on the government during the period of adversity through which the American people are passing.

Wants to Vote for Hoover.

"Moreover, I have the right to say, especially in view of wholly unauthorized statements made during the primary campaign about my own position, that I look forward with pleasure and confidence to the opportunity of voting two years from now for the renomination and reelection of President Hoover."

The most effective cure for hard times, Mr. Morrow said, rests with the people themselves, and every employer who maintains his plant and his organization is making a substantial contribution to the return of prosperity. He commended the labor unions for their efforts to maintain a healthful standard of living, to increase productivity and to avoid unnecessary strikes.

"Dry Law Not Issue."

The nominee was "inclined to agree," he said, with the position of the Democratic party in New Jersey that national prohibition was not an issue in the senatorial campaign. He reiterated his position, he explained, in order that the voters of New Jersey might be under no misunderstanding as to his attitude.

"I subtract nothing from what I said in this hall five months ago. I am in favor of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the substitution therefor of an amendment which will restore to the states the power to determine their policy toward the liquor traffic and will give to the federal government full power to afford all possible cooperative assistance and protection to those states that desire prohibition against invasion from the states that do not.

"My own opinion is clear that there should be a further change in the constitution."

TWO U. S. BORDER PATROLMEN ARRESTED FOR CONSPIRACY

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Three United States border patrolmen were in the county jail at Canton tonight under general charges of conspiracy after several months of investigation by special federal officers.

Two of the men, Francis L. Coveney and Charles Coolican, were held in default of $10,000 bail each and Weldon J. Cheatham was detained in default of $5,000 bail.

Coveney and Cheatham came into public attention two years ago in connection with the fatal shooting of Arthur Gordon, young Plattsburg youth, while the two patrolmen were pursuing a suspected bootlegger near Mooers. Both were exonerated.

NEWARK POISON LIQUOR DEATHS MOUNT TO 20

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—With six deaths from alcohol in Newark last night and early today, the toll of the last five days reached twenty. At the same time, fifteen others are being treated for alcoholic poisoning at the city hospital.

Five of the six who died last night and today were Negroes. Four of them were unidentified.

Two unidentified Negroes were found dead last night on the city dumps with an empty bottle beside them. Shortly afterward, a third Negro collapsed on the street and was taken to the City hospital, where he died later.

JONES LAW GETS IMPLIED O. K. BY SUPREME COURT

Refuses to Review Cases Under It.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The United States Supreme court in effect upheld the validity of the Jones five and ten law today when it denied two petitions for review of cases in which the law was attacked as violating the principles of the constitution.

The petitioners were Hugh McElvogue and William J. Brown, both of whom were sentenced to prison in the federal court at St. Joseph, Mo., under the Jones act, which provides that first offenders can be sent to prison for five years and fined $10,000.

Attorneys for McElvogue and Brown attacked the law on the ground that it provided cruel and unusual punishment and that congress had no right to delegate to judges authority to invoke it against casual as well as habitual offenders. They described the law as "so uncertain in its meaning that persons of common intelligence, and also those versed in the law, must guess at its meaning."

Reason Not Made Public.

In dismissing the cases the court gave no reason for its action.

In another similar order today the Supreme court sustained the conviction of Marco Colpo of Butler county, Pennsylvania, who was prosecuted by federal officers under the state enforcement act. This in effect assured the right of federal agents to act as state enforcement officials where there is a state dry law.

While these decisions pleased the drys, the wets received encouragement from the court's decision to hear on Nov. 24 the case of the Go-Bart Importing company. Philip D. Gowen and William Bartels of New York, petitioners, seeking reversal of lower court decrees denying their application for an order directing the government to restore to them documents and papers alleged to have been illegally seized by dry agents and for the suppression of the papers as evidence.

Gowen and Bartels were charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. Dry agents, their petition alleges, "ransacked" their offices and when Gowen entered forced him to open his desk and safe under threat of breaking into them and "rummaging at will." The petitioners maintained that the methods of the agents were "high handed," "cunning" and that the search was "exploratory" to seek and find incriminating papers.

Appeal from Lower Courts.

The agents justified their procedure by explaining that an informant, not a government employe, had told them Gowen and Bartels had bought and sold liquor from their offices. The District and Appellate courts held that they had reasonable cause to believe them guilty of a felony and that the arrests were lawful.

In the case of the Waterloo Distilling corporation of New York the court decided to review the lower court decision convicting the company of failure to pay taxes on alcohol diverted into bootleg channels. The corporation contended that it was denatured alcohol on which there is no tax. The case was set for argument at this term.

Your Scalp Is Entitled to

121,630 HAIRS

Does It Have Them?

If you are a blonde your scalp should have 140,000 hairs; if a red-head, 90,000 will suffice, while a brunette needs 120,000 to meet present day requirements. The average healthy head of hair should have 121,630 hairs.

Nature provides your scalp with the necessary structure to grow this quantity of hair, but you yourself must help this hair-growing structure to function properly. If you have dandruff; if your hair is falling; or if your scalp is itchy you are surely on the road to baldness.

Let Thomas help your scalp make its quota. Thomas will overcome your falling hair and actually promote hair growth on the thin and bald spots. Each day Thomas is helping more than 1,600 persons to retain or regain their normal heads of hair—and can do the same for you. Call today for a free scalp examination.

After inspecting his dry forces in Chicago yesterday for the first time since becoming national prohibition director on July 1, Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock expressed himself as "optimistic for the future of enforcement here."

At the same time, Col. Woodcock declared: "It is utterly impossible for one prohibition agent to police 60,000 persons, and that is the ratio of our present personnel to the whole population, both as to Chicago and the country as a whole.

Counts on Police Aid.

"However, we do not expect our agents to handle the problem alone. Our objective is to make them efficient investigators and at the same time impress upon the police the necessity for coöperation.

"The police of Chicago have given us splendid coöperation. During my stay here I intend to call on Police Commissioner Alcock, not to seek his aid, but to thank him for what is already being done."

Col. Woodcock said he had asked for 500 additional dry agents but that even if congress appropriates the necessary funds they will not be available until next summer. The additional 500 would make a total of a little more than 2,000—including the special agents—for the whole country. He could not say how many would be allocated to Chicago. He declared himself well pleased with the Chicago personnel.

Congress will be asked to make a special appropriation to be used in "educating the people not to drink," Col. Woodcock said

The new director conferred with District Attorney Johnson and Col. J. F. J. Herbert, Chicago administrator. Col. Woodcock said he would spend about 10 days in the Chicago district.

24,533 DRY LAW CASES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—A total of 24,533 unfinished dry law cases clogged the federal courts on Oct. 1, according to a report made today by the office of Prohibition Director Woodcock, despite the fact that the courts disposed of three times as many cases during September as in the previous month.

In the space of three months, the Woodcock report revealed, persons convicted of offenses against the liquor laws were sentenced to an aggregate of 753,880 days, or more than two thousand years in jail, and ordered to pay fines totaling $775,385.

Chicago Activities Cited.

Among the accomplishments of the dry forces in the Chicago district during September the Woodcock report listed the indictment of 17 persons in conspiracy charges at Indianapolis, several raids in Goshen, Ind., including one at the Goshen Gun club, and the padlocking of an amusement park near Appleton, Wis.

One Chicago case received special mention. This was a raid on "a place on West Lake street which was reported to be the most notorious in the city as a hangout for certain local officers who were alleged to be protecting violators in the city of Chicago." Two prisoners were arrested, the report said.

ROB WOMAN CASHIER OF $1,000.

Two gunmen entered the General Furniture store at 11155 South Michigan avenue yesterday afternoon and took $1,000 in cash and $600 in checks from the cashier, Miss Hattie Metzger 10112 Avenue M. They escaped in an automobile.

MEXICO IS MAKING FAST PROGRESS, SAYS ENVOY IN CHICAGO

Mexico today is making more progress than in a century, Manuel C. Telles, Mexican ambassador to the United States, declared yesterday when he stopped in Chicago en route to Washington.

"Social and economic conditions are much improved," he said. "The improvements begun by President Calles are being carried on and expanded and new ones are being launched by President Rubio. The result is a higher standard of living, advancement of agriculture and the development of industry.

"The illiteracy in Mexico has been reduced in a few years from 90 per cent to 49 per cent, with a further drop in prospect. And, economically, the people are better off than ever before. A few years ago an unskilled laborer in the city got 50 cents a day and 25 cents in the country. Today the same wages are $3.50 and $1.75 per day respectively."

MAL DAUGHERTY IS INDICTED; BANK FRAUDS CHARGED

57 Separate Offenses Are Cited.

Washington Courthouse, O., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Mal S. Daugherty, brother of former United States Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, today was indicted before the Fayette county grand jury on fifteen counts containing 57 separate offenses against the laws of the state of Ohio. He was arrested and held for $40,000 bonds, which were arranged for by his brother, Harry, and his mother.

Daugherty was president of the defunct Ohio State bank, into the affairs of which the state has been conducting an investigation since it was closed May 12.

One other indictment was returned in connection with the bank's failure, that against Virgil Vincent, owner of a grain elevator and secretary of the Fayette County Agricultural association. Vincent is charged with perjury.

Serious Charges Listed.

Misapplication of the bank's money and its credit, embezzlement, deceiving state bank examiners, false entries in the books are among the charges which are alleged to have been committed since Daugherty took over the presidency in 1921. He is alleged to have misappropriated a total of $34,000.

The Ohio State bank gained national prominence through the refusal of Mal and his brother, Harry Daugherty, to turn over the books of the institution to a senate committee which was seeking funds alleged to have changed hands in the famous Teapot Dome scandal.

The probe into the institution was ordered by W. S. Paxton, county prosecutor, after State Superintendent of Banks O. C. Gray and Attorney General Gilbert Bettman forced Daugherty into involuntary bankruptcy. During these proceedings Daugherty admitted his inability to pay notes totaling more than $70,000 held by the Ohio State bank.

The indictments specifically charge that Daugherty loaned certain persons considerable sums of money on doubtful security and converted all or part of the money to his own use. The offenses, as charged, involve borrowing of money from the bank by M. S. Daugherty through a subterfuge. Bank regulations made it impossible for him to borrow in his own name.

Friend in Deals Indicted.

It was in connection with one of the offenses charged in the indictments that Virgil Vincent was indicted. It was charged that Vincent borrowed $3,000 and turned it over to Daugherty, and that Vincent before the grand jury denied making this transaction.

Another indictment against Daugherty charges that on May 9, 1923, as president of the Ohio State bank he made false entries on the bank's books regarding the bank's surplus funds and amounts paid in for capital stock, involving $6,250 with "intent to deceive an agent appointed by the state superintendent of banks."

Daugherty was head of the Midland National bank, which figured prominently in the investigation by the senate of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills oil leases. Shortly after the senate committee had attempted investigation of bank records the Midland National bank was merged with two other Washington Court House institutions into the Ohio State bank. After the merger Daugherty was selected head of the Ohio State bank.

It's Hot in East Canada; Even Raspberries Grow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 13.—Eastern Canada is sweltering in midsummer heat, and people are getting a belated sunburn. Today a temperature of 80 degrees was recorded. Mrs. I. Smith of Sutton, Que., located between Montreal and the American border line, reported today that a new crop of raspberries had ripened on her property.

USE ELECTRICITY TO ABATE SMOKE FROM CHIMNEYS

Engineers Tell Results of Tests Here.

Electricity can cure the smoke evil. The pulsations of an electric current projected by a simple apparatus through a chimney will convert volumes of the blackest smoke into harmless, invisible vapors.

These findings, pointing a way to elimination of the gray blanket which frequently covers Chicago, were announced yesterday by the Chicago branch of the General Electric company. Officials revealed the results of a series of experiments, extending over a year, directed towards abatement of smoke from factory and apartment buildings by a process of electrification.

To Be Tested in Loop.

Engineers of the company warned that the experiments were not completed. The problem of building apparatus sufficient low in cost to be within the means of the smallest apartment building owner is yet to be fully solved. The experiments continue and will be conducted on a large loop building within a few days.

Yet, despite the caution of the scientist, the experimenters were enthusiastic concerning possibilities of their discoveries. A motion picture showing of the results already obtained revealed amazing results.

Eliminate 98% of Smoke.

An attendant pushes a button. Inside the chimney, a high voltage current passes between suspended plates. The particles which make up the blackness and oiliness and dirtiness of the smoke are repelled and attracted by alternate plates. The electricity acts as an invisible filter. The smoke particles are collected in thick layers upon the plates to which they are attracted. There emerges from the chimney hot air, purged of all poisonous substances.

This was the picture of an actual experiment conducted at one of the electric company's warehouses at the foot of Illinois street. The apparatus was crude. Problems of construction, of design, of cost, remained to be met. Yet more than 98 per cent of the smoke from the roaring furnace below had been eliminated.

Experts Explain Method.

The system which thus abolishes smoke was explained by W. O. Batchelder, western manager of the General Electric company, and Arthur F. Riggs, chief engineer. There were no technical mysteries involved.

The process is new only as it has been applied to smoke elimination, Mr. Batchelder explained. As the Cottrell process, it has been used for years in copper mines to collect the valuable dust which arises in mining operations.

About a year ago, engineers conceived the idea of applying the process to chimney smoke. Here, there would be no actual profit in collecting the residue; and the cost, as experienced in the big industrial plants, would prove prohibitive in a small factory or apartment building. Only the saving to the health of employes and the public and the esthetic value of a more beautiful city could be given as arguments for the process and low cost of construction and operation was essential.

Seek Low Cost Apparatus.

The ideal of a comparatively low priced apparatus, functioning efficiently with a moderate use of current, is slowly being approached, Mr. Riggs declared. With the renewal of the experiment upon a large building in the business district, additional valuable data will be obtained, he said.

In remodeling a big smoke stack to make it smokeless, the following steps, as explained by Mr. Riggs, are necessary:

A flue is built from the old chimney to a new section of chimney with shutters fastened as valves to the top of the old chimney and to the opening into the new section. In the new section are lowered about a half dozen plates. These plates are charged with a high voltage direct current which may be obtained from an ordinary light socket through a transformer.

Following the laws of electricity, the plates become charged, some positively and some negatively. The positive plates repel the smoke particles and the negative plates attract them.

Smoke, passing through the old chimney to the new section is cleansed of its particles as it passes the plates. After a period of about five hours the negative plates become so thickly coated with soot that a cleaning is necessary. For a moment the shutter valves confine the smoke to the old chimney while a spraying system cleanses the loaded plates thoroughly with water, the dirt running out through a waste pipe in the bottom of the new section. Immediately the cleansing process is resumed.

START WORK TODAY ON NEW CAR ROUTE FOR SURFACE LINES

Work will begin this morning on the extension of the Western avenue street car line southward. The Illinois commerce commission has granted its permit, frontage consents have been obtained, and new tracks are to be laid between 74th and 111th streets.

Construction is being pushed on the 87th street extension between Ingleside and Vincennes avenues and on the 51st street connecting link between South Park way and Cottage Grove avenue. Work is also in progress on the Montrose avenue extension between Avondale and Milwaukee avenues. Preliminary work is also being done on the Wabash avenue extension from Lake street to Grand avenue. It is hoped to complete these jobs before freezing weather.

"LEGS" DIAMOND CLINGS TO LIFE AND TO SILENCE

But His Showgirl Friend Isn't So Reticent.

New York, Oct. 13. — [Special.] — John T. [Legs] Diamond still clung to his life tonight in Polyclinic hospital, although one of five assassins' bullets which struck him Sunday morning had nipped a corner from his tubercular left lung and buried itself deep in his abdomen.

A pretty chorus girl named Jean Nash, said to be a friend of Vannie Higgins, associate of Diamond's, was questioned by the police tonight. She is the second show girl to be mixed up in the investigation. It was reported the police received information that several days ago, in a conversation with friends in a cafe, she was alleged to have said: "Jack Diamond has not more than ten days to live."

Meanwhile, the two, or possibly three, gunmen who knocked over the widely publicized racketeer with a rain of lead slugs in room 829 of the Monticello hotel appeared to be at least two jumps ahead of the police.

Hotel Manager Still Missing.

The first hurdle, not yet negotiated by the investigators, is the finding of John Ginsberg, manager of the hotel, into whose adjacent room Mr. Diamond is presumed to have staggered after his assailants had too confidently left him for dead.

In the absence of Mr. Ginsberg, the ostensible efforts of the police centered in the continued questioning of Marion Roberts, Ziegfeld dancer, Diamond's girl, who admitted spending three nights with him previous to the shooting.

Miss Roberts, 21, who appeared more embarrassed by the fact that she had let herself get into a jam than by her admissions that she had paid no rent during her month in the hotel and that Diamond had usually given her $30 when they met, was born in Boston, and has been on the stage since she was sixteen. Legs, whom she met last March in the Club Abbey, was her only boy friend, she said. She used to go out some with actors, but her mother objected.

On the strength of Miss Roberts' story, Assistant Chief Inspector Sullivan advanced the theory tonight that Diamond had been shot as the climax of a conference of gangsters, starting in a friendly fashion and lasting more than an hour.

Legs came down to New York from his Catskill home at Acra Thursday night, the girl said, and on Friday night Diamond entertained four men in her room, in a social way, with sandwiches. Who they were, she could not say.

On Sunday morning, about 10:10, a telephone call came to her room, No. 851, for Diamond, and a few minutes later a knock came on the door. While she remained in bed, Legs went to the door and said to his callers, "Come on in the other room," and went out with them, in his red silk pajamas.

Whereupon Miss Roberts, according to her story, lounged a while, then drew a bath in her tub. She remained in the room almost until time for her 1 o'clock rehearsal, but insisted that she heard no shots. The bath, she had prepared she didn't use, but she had no explanation for that.

Legs' Own Story Is Different.

The facts as related by Miss Roberts, coupled with Mrs. Diamond's story that her husband left home Thursday, gave the lie completely to the story told by the cynical Legs to his police friends. He left Miss Roberts out of the story entirely, but when it was suggested that this might be due to a certain chivalry on his part, Police Commissioner Mulrooney thought it was more likely due to Diamond's predisposition to lie.

Yet the gangster appears not to have been without a certain charm in telling of the visit of his severely anonymous assailants.

"They used a lot of sweet words and then gave it to me," he is reported to have said.

In connection with their theory that Diamond was shot in an "internal" dispute in his own gang, the police are trying to find Charles Entratta, alias Greene, an ex-convict, acquitted within the last year of participation with Diamond in the double killing in July, 1929, of two men in the Hotsy Totsy Night club, in midtown Broadway, and Dutch Schultz, a reputed gang leader of the Bronx, who is said to have frequently threatened to kill Diamond.

The name of Al Capone, the famous Chicagoan, has also been mentioned in the investigation. Diamond is said to have run athwart Capone in the Brooklyn beer running and slot machine game.

When Jim's wages were cut

I MADE UP MORE THAN THE DIFFERENCE

"It came upon us suddenly—Jim brought home the sad news. What to do? Expenses were going on same as ever and it was all we could do to make ends meet when the pay check was full.

"Frankly, I am a coupon clipper, and one particular coupon I clipped helped me make up more than the difference between Jim's partial wages and regular pay. It started us off to owning our own home out in the country, yet close enough so Jim can keep his regular job, and be home early for supper!

"We have a modern home with all city conveniences—a fine garden and, best of all, a flock of pure-bred chickens that give us an extra income! It took a little work, of course, to get started—but it was a pleasant task which soon became lighter. This summer our garden gave us many dollars' worth of fresh vegetables that helped cut our living costs. And the chickens and eggs now give us a tidy sum each month. Some months more than enough to meet our regular low payment on our home.

"Jim is back on his regular wages now, and maybe you think we are not making progress! The plan we followed is so simple and well worked out that you should know all about it. The firm that sponsors that plan will be happy to send particulars to any family interested in getting ahead. Simply fill out the coupon and mail it to them for full details."

Only Silent Automatic Gives You the "Wiping WALL-FLAME"

Experience with your own furnace has taught you that to produce maximum heat the flame must constantly lick the entire wall of the fire-pot. This is exactly what is accomplished by Silent Automatic's "Wiping WALL-FLAME". No other oil burner has this slowly swirling flame—which is responsible for Silent Automatic's efficient, dependable and economical performance. We will be glad to explain this in detail. It will give you a clearer understanding of what you have a right to expect from any oil burner . . . and what Silent Automatic actually gives you.

There are a lot of oil burners you COULD buy . . . but of course you want the burner that you KNOW will never fail you.

Consider these FACTS about Silent Automatic.

First, it leads the world in the production of domestic oil burners.

Second, ANY "Silent" owner will say, "I'm satisfied," . . . and MEAN it.

Third, Silent Automatic is produced by experts who, for five years, have built oil burners and oil burners ONLY.

Fourth, "Silent" gives you the "Wiping WALL-FLAME", an EXCLUSIVE feature. It provides the difference in all 'round efficiency that is so emphatically in favor of "Silent".

Fifth, "Silent" has completed and is occupying the world's largest factory devoted to the production of domestic oil burners exclusively . . . the "Silent" organization is PERMANENT.

BALLOTS TO PUT MAZE OF ISSUES BEFORE VOTERS

Largest to List Names of 52 Candidates.

Four ballots, one of them about the size of a table cloth and the others about like napkins, are to be handed to the voters of Chicago three weeks from today—Nov. 4—as they enter the polling booths at the general election.

The big ballots will list all the candidates for the 52 state and county offices involved in this election, from court clerk to United States senator. One of the small ballots is to list the candidates for the 15 municipal court offices. Another of the smaller ballots presents a proposal for a $14,000,000 states bond issue for the state department of conservation. The other small ballot will list 12 additional local bond issue propositions totaling $26,170,000, and will present nine other questions of policy, including the state prohibition referendum.

Ballots Sent to Printers.

The three small ballots have been placed in the hands of the printers by the election officials and the big ballot probably will be ready today. The Chicago election commissioners will meet this morning to decide in which column the name of Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, dry independent candidate for senator will be placed on the big ballot.

The candidacy of Judge William E. Helander, Republican nominee for county judge, was indorsed yesterday by the Better Government association. The association also indorsed the candidacy of Judge Henry Horner, who is Democratic nominee for reelection as judge of the Probate court.

Bertha Baur, Republican national committeewoman for Illinois, announced yesterday that she would appear before the Illinois Republican Women's clubs convention tomorrow with an appeal for the election of Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican nominee for United States senator. Mrs. McCormick also is to address the convention tomorrow. The sessions are to open today. Several of the Republican congressional nominees will take part in the opening program, including Congressmen Morton D. Hull, second district; Fred A. Britten, ninth district, and Carl R. Chindblom, 10th district.

Sees Gain for Democrats.

The Cook county Democratic organization, through Clayton F. Smith, chairman of the managing committee, issued a statement yesterday reviewing the registration figures and interpreting the reduction in the registration totals as a development in favor of the Democratic candidates.

STATE PRIMARY VOTE TOTALS ANALYZED BY MRS. LOTTIE O'NEILL

Mount, Carmel, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Declaring that false propaganda was being circulated in order to "blind the citizens of Illinois to the actual situation now confronting them," Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill gave some figures on party strength in her address here last night.

"There are only two parties—Democratic and Republican. Yet, on account of the Republican senatorial nominee bolting the principles of her party and betraying those who nominated her, a third candidate—an independent Republican entered the field.

"I ask the voter here," continued Mrs. O'Neill, "to look back to the votes cast in the primary. The Republican votes numbered 1,300,000, while the Democratic votes numbered only 240,000.

"Even if the Republican party divided evenly on the candidacy of Mrs. McCormick and the independent Republican, there would still be enough votes over and above those cast by Democrats to elect either Mrs. McCormick or me."

D'ESPOSITO A NEW TYPE IN POLITICS CAREER IS TOLD

Sanitary Dist. Candidate Started as Sailor.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Quirks of fate and fortune find an instance in the case of Joshua D'Esposito, who is hailed as a new type in Chicago politics.

He started as a sailor in Italy with an ambition to be a mariner like Christopher Columbus and he winds up as one of Chicago's great builders. As a youth he learned to be a naval architect, to design ships, so he built Chicago's 95 million dollar Union station, and is now one of the Republican candidates for trustee of the sanitary district, which in the next six years is to build works to cost 163 million dollars. The sanitary canal is the Lake Michigan gate to the Illinois waterway, so the ex-sailor and builder, in a way, is heading back to the shipping, after all.

Becomes Naval Architect.

Mr. D'Esposito was born in Sorrento, on the Bay of Naples, in 1878. He lived in sight of smoking Vesuvius and was graduated from the Nautical institute of Sorrento, which is somewhat like Annapolis, only of lower grade, and for the merchant marine instead of the navy. He was turned out as a full fledged naval architect. Instead of starting to design ships, however, things took a twist. Musing over it yesterday, Mr. D'Esposito unbelted a few reflections on career making.

"We fashion our lives," he remarked, "the way the good Lord places us. To be master of one's destiny means to be able to seize opportunity."

Looking for his first job, young D'Esposito sailed the seas for seven months—Ship ahoy, lads, ho, yo ho, said Barnacle Bill the Sailor. So soon swallowed the anchor and quit the briny deep for the landlubber's life. He came to America in 1897, or 404 years after his countryman, Columbus, and there being small demand for ship architect he got a job as a mechanic. He worked making some of the earliest automobiles in the United States at Hartford, Conn. It was still the bicycle age, and young Jashua drove cars in tests and demonstrations before the turn of the century, and is probably one of the oldest automobile drivers in Chicago. Back in those days most people who bought automobiles thought it necessary to employ a specialist to drive them, and the word "chauffeur" first slid into the English language.

In 1903 D'Esposito entered the employ of the Pittsburgh Railway company, and entered upon his engineering career by designing a power plant to run the Pittsburgh street cars. Soon afterward he entered the service of the Pennsylvania railroad, becoming chief draftsman at Pittsburgh in 1907. Under his direction was designed all project work west of Pittsburgh, including the railroad's harbor work at Ashtabula, Cleveland, Erie, and Sandusky, for ore and coal traffic. About this time he began to work out the early studies for the Union station and commuted between Chicago and Pittsburgh once or twice a week.

The presidents of the railroads entering the proposed new terminal placed him in charge of the engineering work in 1912, and he moved to Chicago and for nearly a year wrestled with a city council committee until passage of the ordinance for the new Union station, one of the largest engineering projects in America. The station buildings cost 15 million dollars and the full cost of the terminal was 95 million dollars. D'Esposito was put in full charge as chief engineer and was the boss builder.

Aided U. S. in Wartime.

During the war D'Esposito entered the government service in 1917 as assistant manager in charge of the installation of machinery in the wooden ship division of the emergency fleet corporation. In fifteen months his division actually delivered 101 wooden ships before the armistice was signed. After the war he resumed work on the Union station, which was finished in 1925, and for two years he operated it and then went into private practice as consulting engineer.

He was married in 1908 to Katherina von Olnhousen and has three children. His daughter, Louise, is a graduate of Northwestern university and his two sons, Joshua and Julian, are at college.

Last spring before the primaries a citizens' group picked a slate of business men for the sanitary district and it ran as part of the Deneen ticket. D'Esposito and Charles M. Moderwell were the two survivors of the Deneen group for sanitary trustees. D'Esposito won despite a handicap in the similarity of his name to that of the late "Diamond Joe" Esposito—no relative, names are spelled differently—which the politicians expected might result in confusion of mind among the voters..

During the primary campaign D'Esposito made a hit with both audiences and workers by the brevity of his speeches. He laid down a rule not to speak more than five minutes. This was rank heresy and bolshevism in the eyes of some county candidates who take ten minutes to wind up.

In fact, some believe his brevity helped pile up his vote. Mr. D'Esposito laid it down that the taxpayer, the laborer, business and professional man might be benefited by electing experienced men to expend the tax money.

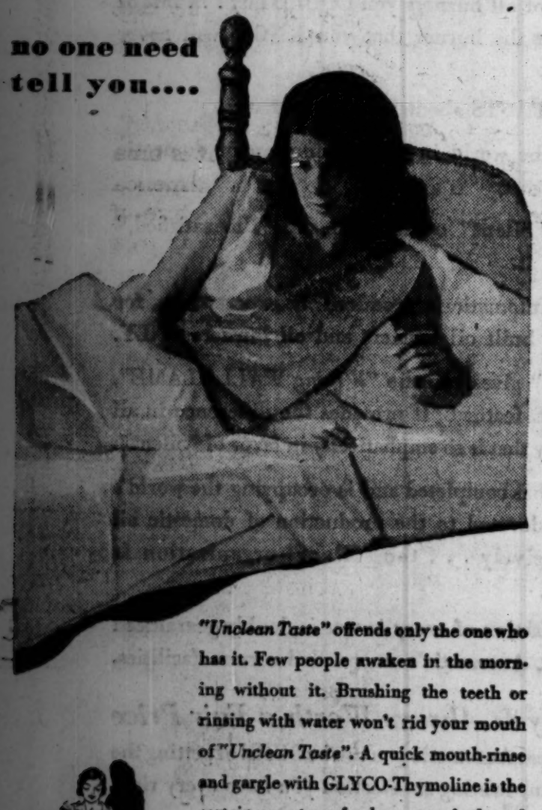
You know . . . when you have "UNCLEAN TASTE"!

no one need tell you....



"Unclean Taste" offends only the one who has it. Few people awaken in the morning without it. Brushing the teeth or rinsing with water won't rid your mouth of "Unclean Taste". A quick mouth-rinse and gargle with GLYCO-Thymoline is the certain way to refresh your mouth and restore clean taste. Being an alkaline solution it does this gently and naturally, by aiding the tender mouth membranes and glands to function in a normal way.

GLYCO-Thymoline is different. It is effective without sting or harshness. Do not confuse it with highly flavored mouth washes that merely replace one taste with another. Too, GLYCO-Thymoline deodorizes, not merely disguises, your breath. It relieves irritated throats and clears husky voices. Indispensable in the morning.

Physicians and Dentists have prescribed GLYCO-Thymoline for over 30 years. They will tell you your mouth wash should be ALKALINE! Use it daily when you brush your teeth—and any time "Unclean Taste" assails. At all Druggists.

WALSH FACING WET THREAT AT MONTANA POLLS

Hard Liquor and Hard Times Chief Issues.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Helena, Mont., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Prohibition and hard times provide a combination of issues that is producing a desperate senatorial contest between Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, dry Democrat, who is a candidate for a fourth term, and Associate Justice Albert Galen of the Montana Supreme court, wet Republican. Both candidates are men of conspicuous ability, in recognition of which Montana has repeatedly and for many years rewarded both with high public office. Both are Roman Catholics. The choice between them will record Montana's mandate of action on national questions of vast import.

If the Montanans choose Justice Galen for their senator, they will choose a conservative, committed to the Republican principle of high tariffs, who defends President Hoover and pledges himself to support Mr. Hoover generally save in the matter of prohibition, in the solution of which problem the candidate advocates repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Walsh Dry and Liberal.

If they decide to retain Senator Walsh they will choose a liberal, or radical as many regard him, who holds for the Democratic principle of low tariffs, except on local products, who blames the Smoot-Hawley tariff act for a large part of existing economic ills, who advocates the export debenture as a means of farm relief and who is committed to the perpetuation of national prohibition unless otherwise instructed by his state by referendum.

Party managers on both sides admit it is a close fight. Party lines are being pretty well shot to pieces by the impact of new issues and new views of old ones. The eastern wheat and stock raising half of Montana is preponderantly Republican and bone dry [politically]. In this region radical Republican farmers, once affiliated with the socialistic non-partisan league, and national grangers committed to the export debentures are exhibiting a tendency to support Senator Walsh as a protest against agricultural depression and as an expression of a demand for radical farm relief measures.

Walsh Satisfies Drys.

Another consideration including these dry Republicans, particularly the women, to support Senator Walsh is the fact that he is politically dry and has been personally dry since the advent of legal prohibition, whereas Justice Galen is politically wet and has been personally dry since becoming a candidate for senator.

The western half of Montana, which is more urban and industrial than the eastern half, is preponderantly Democratic and wet. It was due preëminently to the anti-prohibition sentiment in this part of the state that Montana twice has repudiated prohibition, once when it repealed its state enforcement law in 1926 and again in 1928, when it rejected a reënactment thereof which was sought by the Anti-Saloon league.

Parenthetically it may be stated that the visitor finds plenty of evidence of Montana's wetness. Saloons thinly disguised as soft drink parlors operate more or less openly. Canadian liquor is to be had, but the product of Montana mountain distilleries is more popular.

Walsh in the Lead.

On the economic issue it seems probable that Senator Walsh has the edge on his opponent at this writing and if Justice Galen wins it will be the result of wet Democrats going over to him in the numbers that recorded Montana wet in two referenda.

Senator Walsh long has been one of the pillars of the Volstead régime. Two years ago he was a dry candidate for the Democratic nomination for president, but was disastrously routed in the primaries. In his canvass for reelection he has not mentioned prohibition up to date. In an interview, however, he did state that he would vote in the senate to submit the repeal of prohibition to the states if Montana by referendum should record itself for repeal. Incidentally Mr. Walsh has asserted that a national referendum on prohibition would be unconstitutional.

This commitment to abide by a prohibition referendum did not cause the Anti-Saloon league to disown Senator Walsh as it did Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick in Illinois for taking the same attitude. The league, as well as the W. C. T. U., is actively working for Mr. Walsh.

Galen Openly Wet.

Justice Galen says that his friends besought him to soft pedal the prohibition issue, but without success. He asserted that such would not be "the correct attitude of a candidate for the office of United States senator."

"I would much sooner," he said, "go down to defeat with colors flying, standing and fighting on principle, than to succeed by subterfuge and quibbling. There can be no question but what the present lawless condition existing throughout the country and disrespect of law is occasioned in great measure by the efforts made to uphold and enforce the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law.

"That the constitution upon which our whole social structure rests must be obeyed should be unquestioned. That it has been jeopardized by existing conditions is the well founded belief of many whose honesty of purpose is beyond doubt. Organized banditry, sustained by the vast sums collected from illegal traffic in liquor, must be suppressed. The widespread official corruption made possible by participation in the loot of vice and crime that prevails under existing conditions must be extirpated. The law should be respected and upheld."

Has Two Ways Out.

Justice Galen thinks the evil would be remedied either by restoration of liquor control to the state or by a federal dispensary system.

"I am," he said, "for the submission to the people of an amendment to the eighteenth amendment, revesting in the respective states the right to determine for themselves their attitude toward the sale, manufacture and transportation of intoxicating liquors within such states. But in order to avoid the violation of prohibition laws within any state and to protect state prohibition, where adopted, I would reserve to the federal government, under its interstate powers, the most complete and effective jurisdiction to provide prevention, penalization and punishment of any interstate traffic which would lessen the effectiveness of prohibition within any state adopting it.

"As an alternative solution of the problem, I would favor an amendment permitting the manufacture, dispensation and sale of alcoholic liquors by the government of the United States under such regulations and restrictions as may be prescribed by law, provided that no liquor should be sold, nor transported into any state in the union which by state legislation expressed opposition."

At the risk, he says, of being pronounced a traitor to the dry cause, Mark D. Fitzgerald, Republican, a lifelong teetotaler, is seeking election to congress in the western Montana district, on a platform advocating repeal of prohibition and the substitution of government manufacture and sale of liquor.

His opponent is Congressman John M. Evans, dry Democrat, who beat a wet rival in the primary by only 150 votes.

It Is Time to Push

A NEW season is upon us. It is a season rich in rewards for all who have the stamina to stand by America.

This country is, and has been for some time past, in the soundest economical condition of any country in the world.

Nothing can effectually stem the course of her progress. Neither doubt nor pessimism can cloud the evidence of vitality which shines through at this time.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) does not presume to prophecy. Unfortunately there have been too many prophets and too few patrons of business during the past nine months.

This company comes forward with direct and tangible evidence that industry is quickening to the new season—rousing itself to action.

The industrial lubrication department of this organization reflects this activity. Manufacturing plants that were previously inactive have recently placed orders for industrial lubricants. More and more concerns which were running along at reduced capacity now increase their orders for lubricants.

Happily, this condition cannot be isolated. If orders for lubricants are being placed, then orders for other commodities are being placed with other concerns. That means more capital is being spent.

Mark the significance of this news.

It is an accurate index. It indicates that business has ploughed through the worst of the period of depression.

It is time to push. It is time for industry, in general, to mobilize its forces. It is time for every man and woman in America to look squarely to the solid structure of the country, and not at the shifting fogs which doubt and pessimism create.

It is time to spend—time to buy. It is time to get into stride with the new season.

CIVIC FEDERATION JOINS FOES OF TAX AMENDMENT

Fears New Burdens for Property Owners.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Civic federation joined the Illinois Manufacturers' association and the Illinois Agricultural association yesterday in opposing the proposed tax amendment to the state constitution.

The Civic federation says in a bulletin that the amendment "is badly drawn, makes new taxes sure and relief doubtful."

While the reasons of these three organizations differ, each expresses the fear that the adoption of the amendment will add to the tax burden of the property owners. The Civic federation's opposition was unexpected. It supported the tax amendment of 1916, the revenue article of the new constitution in 1922, and the revenue amendment of 1926, although criticizing the phraseology of each. But it believes the form of this is worse than the others.

Permits New Taxation.

The federation says that the amendment will unquestionably permit the legislature to impose new forms of taxation, but that it is doubtful whether the legislature has also been given the authority to substitute the new forms for the old forms or otherwise grant relief from present tax loads.

Another objection is that the amendment authorizes the legislature to permit all sorts of municipal corporations, other than cities, towns, and villages, to levy special assessments or impose special taxation for local improvements.

The agricultural association argues these same two objections, while the Manufacturers' association, in its opposition, relies chiefly upon the first complaint.

Sees Battle in Courts.

In addition, the Civic federation says it has been unable to find a lawyer who can predict with reasonable certainty how the Supreme court will interpret the amendment and therefore predicts that it will cause much litigation.

Regarding another objection which has been given wide circulation, the Civic federation says: "We have no sympathy with the prejudicial arguments raised by political opponents of the amendment to the effect that it threatens to tax Cook county citizens for the benefit of the rest of the state. On the contrary, we believe that proposed section 2 gives to local governments far greater opportunity to share in taxes collected by the state than is now possible."

Refers to Income Tax.

This reference is to the requirement that if an income tax is inaugurated 55 per cent of the collections shall be returned to the county wherein collected. That was particularly offensive to the Agricultural association because its leaders believe that provision will force the continuance of present tax forms downstate. The Civic federation says this provision is "more than fair to Cook county," yet says that "the amendment merits defeat."

The Civic federation says that it submits its report "although the pending resolution (amendment) has so lacked in support from the time of its submission as apparently never to have had the slightest chance of popular ratification."

THOUSANDS RIOT IN BERLIN; POLICE BATTLE FASCISTI

City Is Terrorized as Reichstag Opens.

Then he nominated temporary officers, including the Fascist leader, Herr Goehring, who rushed up like a soldier taking a fort, while the communists yelled: "Down with the slave drivers and the Young plan! Down with Bruening, who makes the workers starve to fulfill the Young plan!"

Boos and Whistles.

While the roll was being called the Fascisti and communists sat, shouting invectives, whistling, and booing, while the government parties, the Socialists, Centrists, and neutral Nationalists sat hunched together, terrified, between the right and left groups, who were ready to pounce on each other.

Couriers in khaki, with snappy military movements, rushed through the ranks of the Fascisti, issuing orders for concerted action by the members, but the expected battle did not come off today. Adolph Hitler himself this morning gave orders to abstain from a fight. Similar orders were given by the Red leaders. Consequently the first day of the new reichstag ended without blows inside the parliamentary building.

Demand Cabinet Quit.

The communists were the first to register a motion demanding the withdrawal of the Bruening cabinet because of lack of confidence. They also demanded that the government cease payments of reparations under the Young plan.

The Nationalists were preparing a similar motion. The economic party ordered its member of the cabinet, Dr. Bredt, to withdraw unless the government agrees to demand an alteration of the Young plan payments.

Leaders of the reichstag fear Chancellor Bruening will not be able to cope with the lack of confidence of all these parties. He is still negotiating for the support of the Nationalists and Socialists, but his hopes of getting the support of the Socialists are dwindling.

Demand Greater Defense.

The Nationalists, as the price for their coöperation, demand a revision of the Young plan and "complete freedom of action of the reichswehr." A motion demanding this freedom was filed tonight.

"Germany's military power is not strong enough to defend her frontiers," the motion read. "The league of nations has refused Germany's request to summon a disarmament conference for next year. The failure of Germany's opponents to carry out the disarmament prescribed in the Versailles treaty is a breach of the latter. Therefore Germany has the right to deman dthe abolition of restrictions crippling the reichswehr."

The reichstag will convene again on Wednesday to elect a president and discuss a cut of 20 per cent in the salaries of deputies and ministers and the restriction of all ministerial pensions to a maximum of $3,000 per year.

140,000 BERLIN WORKERS STRIKE AGAINST PAY CUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—The difficulties Germany is experiencing were further increased today by the vote of 140,000 Berlin metal workers to strike in protest against the decision of the government arbitrator, who ordered a 6 per cent cut in their wages.

This will bring the total of jobless in Berlin to 500,000 out of a total population of more than 4,300,000, and greatly increases the danger of jobless riots.

The labor ministry declared tonight that the arbitrator would be willing to alter his final decision in favor of the workers if they would agree to abandon the strike.

16 Year Old Girl Kills Herself Over Smoking

Danville, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The body of Genevieve Bradford, 16 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bradford of this place, was found in her room here today with a revolver by her side. Mrs. Bradford told police that she had warned the girl that unless she stopped smoking cigarets she would have to give up her boy friend.

CATCH ROBBERS, RECOVER JEWELS IN 30 MINUTES

Within a half hour after two young robbers had escaped with $2,500 worth of jewelry from the home of William Huber, 2908 Seminary avenue, the Sheffield avenue police had arrested them and recovered the loot. The police radio and the quick eye of Sergt. James Patterson of the station's flivver squad were responsible.

The jewelry was taken from a second story bedroom while Mrs. Huber was entertaining guests downstairs in the living room. One of these was Harry Anderson, a teacher at Crane Technical High school. Hearing a noise upstairs he ran to investigate. One of the robbers leaped from a window.

The Sheffield station was notified the robber had probably broken a leg. When Sergt. Patterson received the radio broadcast he told Patrolman Peter Hanson, Victor Eck, and Harry Shaff, "We'll look for a kid with a limp." They seized James Hulbert, 16 years old, 2820 North Racine avenue, near a movie theater in the neighborhood. He confessed, implicating Edward Ehl, 17, of 2132 Herndon street. The two guided the police to an alley in the rear of 1124 George street, where they had buried the jewelry in a coffee can.

NEGROES FLEE TOWN AFTER THREE CONFESS KILLING A WHITE MAN

Ste. Genevieve, Mo., Oct. 13.—(AP)—More than 100 Negroes, practically the whole Negro population, had left town tonight following the confession of three Negroes, two men and a woman, to the murder yesterday of Harry Panchot and wounding of Paul A. Ritter, both white.

The only two Negro families left here were guarded tonight by militiamen, called together by Gov. Henry S. Caulfield, at the request of Sheriff Zeigler, to prevent mob action.

The three Negroes, J. C. Lee, 28; Guy Taylor, 26, and Vera Rogers, 30, were taken secretly to the Hillsboro jail, 30 miles away, following their confession that they shot and killed Panchot, shot Ritter, and threw him into the Mississippi river in the course of a holdup.

Steamer Recovers Body; May Be No. Shore Captain

A body believed to be that of Capt Irving Anderson, commander of the steamship North Shore, which sank in a gale after leaving St. Joseph, Mich., on Sept. 27, was found yesterday by the crew of the steamer Steel Vendor.

DRUGGISTS TOLD HOW NEW BILL PROTECTS PRICE

How the Capper-Kelly bill, pending in congress, would allow manufacturer, wholesaler, and retailer to enter into an agreement as to the sale price of a commodity, if they chose, was explained to the National Wholesale Druggists' association yesterday in their 56th annual meeting at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The speaker was Congressman Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania, one of the authors of the bill.

"This is not a mandatory measure," Congressman Kelly told the 1,000 druggists assembled. "It does not compel any manufacturer or wholesaler or retailer to do anything. It simply permits them, if they mutually agree to do so, to protect the price of the article specified in the agreement. It is the American plan of doing business."

Harry A. Wheeler, vice chairman of the board of the First National bank of Chicago, welcomed the visitors to the city, joked with them of the mock dangers of assassination on Chicago streets, and observed, in a serious vein, that Chicago is the envy of the world because of its transportation facilities, its schools, and its Chicago plan, rapidly becoming a reality. Today the druggists will hear Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol in the bureau of prohibition. The convention opened Sunday and closes Thursday.

"Lazy" Said the Boss "Acidity" Said the Doctor!

Charged with laziness—guilty simply of acidity! That's the situation with many men today. They realize that they are not themselves—they're conscious of a vague, tired feeling that's always with them—they know they have to pull themselves together for each and every task—but they can't tell what's the trouble. They're branded as lazy and ambitionless when the real truth is that they're sick men—victims of acidity.

Acidity, due to our unnatural eating habits, irregular hours and other violations of Nature's laws, causes acid-indigestion with gas, sourness and burning. Also, it sets up fermentation and putrefaction in the intestinal tract, which forms poisons that sap our strength and vitality, irritate our nerves, spoil our sleep and make us weak, listless and chronically tired.

To correct acidity a remarkable new product has been developed by a 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany. It comes in the form of small white tablets called Magnesia Oxoids, which do not have to be chewed but may be swallowed whole.

Magnesia Oxoids, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active oxygen. Now, active oxygen, as any doctor will tell you, when generated within the digestive tract, does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucous. It checks the putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal tract. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the natural movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true relief of acidity and Magnesia Oxoids supply them in a perfectly natural manner.

Make This Acidity Test

See for yourself how much acid has to do with your sleeplessness, your run-down condition and that persistent feeling of tiredness. Make this acidity test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Walgreen's Drug Stores, Economical Drug Stores or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal. Note the pick-up in your pep and vigor. Mark the increase of your stomach and nerves. If after taking contents of one bottle you don't feel decidedly better, return the bottle and the druggist will promptly and cheerfully refund your money.—Advertisement.

FUTURE OF G. O. P. MAY HINGE UPON FATE OF PINCHOT

Policy on Insurgency and Prohibition Involved.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Political interest has become focused upon Pennsylvania as a result of extraordinary developments of the last few days.

In Washington it is recognized that the situation in the Keystone state is of more than local importance. Election of Gifford Pinchot as governor in the face of the formidable opposition which has developed will mean that this stormy petrel of the Taft administration will be in a position to be a trouble maker for President Hoover in the 1932 convention of the Republican party. He may be the candidate of the radicals for the presidential nomination. His control of the Pennsylvania delegation to the national convention would be a factor toward keeping the party dry.

Wet or Dry Party in Issue.

Defeat of Mr. Pinchot, on the other hand, will serve to check somewhat the increasing strength of the radical element in the Republican party as shown by its victories in Wisconsin and Nebraska. Furthermore, what is regarded as of more immediate importance by some of those most active against him it will make it a certainty that the Pennsylvania delegation to the Republican convention in 1932 joins forces with those of other eastern states in a demand for repeal of the 18th amendment or modification of prohibition laws.

Of special significance is the fact that dyed-in-the-wool Republicans whose party regularity has been unquestioned in the past, have reached the point in this rock-ribbed Republican state, of being unwilling longer to accept a party nominee who is an intimate associate of the Norris-La Follette radical group of the senate and who is an extreme dry. By many observers this development in Pennsylvania is regarded as foreshadowing far reaching realignments and a shifting of party policies.

Radicals Sense Challenge.

That the radicals as well as administration conservatives have their eyes on the Pennsylvania situation is indicated by the announcement by Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Ida.], one of the leaders of the senate radical group, that he favors a senatorial investigation of the charge that the public utilities have raised "vast sums" to defeat Pinchot.

President Hoover, it is known, would have preferred the nomination of almost any one else than Mr. Pinchot for governor by Pennsylvania Republicans. While the President and Mr. Pinchot are in agreement on prohibition, their views are far apart on economic questions. Mr. Pinchot's Washington residence in fact was a meeting place for the senate radicals in the planning of their campaign to embarrass the Hoover administration during the fights over farm relief and tariff legislation and previously during similar controversies in the Coolidge administration.

Mr. Pinchot has been active in connection with the radicals of both the Republican and Democratic parties in stirring up the "power trust" issue.

Result Believed Doubtful.

Political observers seem to agree that Pennsylvania is now doubtful so far as the governorship is concerned and that John M. Hemphill, the nominee of the Democratic party and also of a so-called Liberal party set up by the Republican, has a real chance of election over Mr. Pinchot. Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, the Republican senatorial nominee, who has remained regular although not a Pinchot follower at heart, will be elected without difficulty.

The principal developments of the last five or six days which have brought about this situation include the following:

Philadelphia Leaders Bolt.

Declaration of 47 out of the 48 members of the Republican Philadelphia city committee in favor of the Hemphill candidacy.

Well substantiated reports that William S. Vare, the Philadelphia Republican leader, will throw his influence to Hemphill whether he makes an open declaration or not.

Support of the Hemphill candidacy by Thomas W. Phillips, millionaire Republican and former representative in congress, who polled a heavy vote in the primaries as the gubernatorial candidate of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Announcement of the support of Hemphill by a notable list of leaders in financial and industrial affairs in both Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, a power in Pennsylvania politics, has thus far avoided any comment on the situation. Mr. Mellon has always been a particular target for the criticisms of Mr. Pinchot and presumably entertains no love for him. W. L. Mellon, former Republican chairman, however, has indicated his intention to go along with the party ticket. Republican State Chairman Edward Martin and Mayor Mackey of Philadelphia have remained regular, as has Joseph Armstrong, county chairman in Allegheny county.

The prohibition issue was emphasized in yesterday's statement by Mr. Phillips in support of Mr. Hemphill. Mr. Phillips referred to the Snyder-Armstrong state prohibition enforcement law which was sponsored by Mr. Pinchot when governor.

"Opposed to Mr. Hemphill is ex-Gov. Pinchot," said Mr. Phillips. "Mr. Pinchot as governor was responsible for the Snyder-Armstrong act carrying penalties and provisions which hark back to the dark ages. No one of intelligence can read the Snyder-Armstrong act and then conscientiously vote for Mr. Pinchot."

Mr. Phillips declared further that if Mr. Pinchot is elected "it requires little imagination to picture our party forced by Mr. Pinchot to straddle the issue in 1932 and see him, flushed with a dry victory in a wet state, enter the list of presidential possibilities as an independent candidate supported by western insurgents."

BOULDER DAM CASE WILL BE RULED ON BY SUPREME COURT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Validity of the Boulder dam act will be passed upon by the Supreme court of the United States. The state of Arizona, which fought the 165 million dollar project in congress throughout the years of its consideration, today was granted permission by the court to file its bill of complaint attacking the constitutionality of the act and asking that the secretary of the interior be permanently enjoined from enforcing the Colorado river compact and from proceeding with the construction of the dam, which is intended to be the highest in the world.

Arizona did not ask for a temporary injunction and consequently there will be no halting of construction work pending a final decision of the court.

Arizona met with a rebuff during the day when the controller general rejected its plea that funds appropriated by congress to start work be held up.

DOCTOR SHOOTS MAN, OPERATES TO SAVE HIS LIFE

Bullet Stops Chicagoan at Girl Patient's Room.

Carthage Mo., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—In the white stillness of the operating room, three surgeons are fighting desperately to save a life.

On the operating table lies a man, grievously wounded by a bullet. The operating surgeon is working with the swift but unhurried efficiency which comes of his training. The operating surgeon's eyes behind the surgical mask are those of a young man. They do not waver from the task before them except at rare instances when they gaze into the eyes of the other two surgeons; those of elderly men. A nod of the head is the only answer.

Not a Word Spoken.

Not a word passes; a motion from the operating surgeon and a white clad nurse hands him a fresh instrument or an antiseptic.

The younger surgeon is Dr. W. B. Chapman; one of the others is Dr. U. S. Chapman, his father, and the third is Dr. K. E. Baker. The man on the operating table is Bernard Grinder.

Only a few minutes before the younger Chapman and Grinder stood face to face in the corridor of the Chapman hospital.

Tries Force Way in Room.

Grinder, a registered nurse, graduate of Bellevue hospital, New York, and more recently an attendant in the Cook County hospital in Chicago, had attempted to force his way into the rooms of Miss Imogene Woodfill.

Grinder had demanded money and Miss Woodfill fled to Dr. Chapman for help. The surgeon ordered Grinder to leave, enforcing his demand with a revolver.

The man refused, lunged at the surgeon, and tried to grab the gun. There was a flash, a sharp report, and Grinder fell, shot in the abdomen.

An Emergency Operation.

Dr. Chapman summoned his father and Dr. Baker. An emergency operation was imperative. An ambulance conveyed the wounded man to McCune-Brooks hospital, where the younger Chapman pitted his skill against death, brought near by the bullet he had fired.

The surgeon lost the battle. Three hours after the operation Grinder was dead.

PLAN OFFICIALS INSPECT WORK ON NEW VIADUCT

Hugh E. Young, president of the Chicago plan commission, and Warren E. Wright, president of the Lincoln park board, yesterday visited the site of the new Randolph street viaduct with engineers to study plans and determine what progress had been made since work started last Saturday night. The viaduct will provide a roadway 84 feet wide, following the course of the old wooden viaduct which is being torn down, from Michigan avenue and Randolph street east, across the Illinois Central tracks to the outer drive. There will be sidewalks, one 24 feet wide and the other 20 feet wide, on the sides of the roadway, making the total width of the viaduct 128 feet.

HINDENBURG.

The rioting of extremist partisans in Berlin may portend worse to come, but we think it is not to be taken too seriously. Our confidence in the stability of the German nation is greater than our fear of the mischievous possibilites of the German reactionaries and their present coöperators, the communists. Towering over the troubled scene is still the great figure of Hindenburg, in whose shadow Hitler and the Red agitators look small. The great president represents the character of the German people, and in these stormy times the eyes of the world turn upon him rather than upon the posturing of the captains of revolt.

Old as years go and older still in honor and the long traditions of his line, Von Hindenburg today gives power and character to a new Europe. His armies rumbling into Russia, Italy, and France are broken and gone; his emperor is gone; his hopes for triumphant Germany are lost forever; but Von Hindenburg serves his people. Morning and evening he prays upon his knees, it is said, for the emperor and the old ways. Persuaded that a duty to his fatherland lies in serving the new government, he has taken oath—a solemn thing to him—and office and become the main power of the republic against return to royalism. "Ordnung muss sein," "Order must be," even though the form of order may not be wholly to his liking; and the floods of Fascism, royalism, communism, and similar rebellions find in him their primary obstruction. Hindenburg is the rock of Europe and the main hope for European order.

What a man is may rise above the things he does or says, and the character of Hindenburg becomes greatly a reserved force, as Emerson would name it, "which acts directly by presence and without means." Men have come in crises thus whose very being is a message and a power among their people, and great character in the world is still its main reliance in dangerous times. Reason and wit and learning, authority and external power may come and go, but great character endures within great leaders and their people. Within this leadership a people is made one in character and power. Washington was such a man. Lincoln, Hannibal, and Cromwell were great characters.

As an old man, honorable but undistinguished, Paul von Hindenburg took command of German forces before Tannenberg. Europe was driving on into the long storm of war, and the old general, with his chief of staff, the captor of Liege, began there a career that met and merged with the career of Germany in massive crises, victory, and ultimate defeat. From war the old man went on alone, where the character of Ludendorff could no longer follow, to give himself in service to the young and faltering republic. Again his love of Germany was triumphant. He became Germany indeed as no king or arrogance of dynasts ever could become, and with Germany in his heart today he holds his fatherland, so far as any man can hold it, from driving with all Europe into a last disorder and despair. At Tannenberg Von Hindenburg's first order was: "We will trust one another and do our duty together."

The deep fire of defeat consumes a weaker man, but Hindenburg grew greater in it. An evil peace was laid upon all Europe at Versailles, and the world, as the old general knew it, was down in ruin; a young republic struggled feebly to rebuild what war and hunger and rebellion had broken; and to the old soldier, then nearly 80, shrewd men came with offers of the presidency. He refused to stand for president and refused again until Von Tirpitz led him to believe it was a duty. He was elected by a narrow margin, his support mainly from the rural districts. He took the oath of office and of loyalty. Reactionaries and royalists were jubilant. One of their own had won.

But the people's faith was wiser than the skillful plans of party leaders. When the politicians came to him with plans to sign leading towards royalism, the old general broke out in anger: "Do you think I am to be a puppet? I did not want this office, but now that you have elected me to it you will remember that I am president and to be treated accordingly." And today he still is president of the republic in spirit and in fact.

The legend of Von Hindenburg has grown great around this proud and loyal firmness. Once it was military and moral; now Von Hindenburg becomes a spiritual strength in Germany of high meaning. His legend and the man himself are not far separate, and though the man has made mistakes, grave ones, as when he forced Von Bethmann-Hollweg out of office and killed the hope of timely peace, his sincerity and character rose above them. As in war, his life has been from youth a naïve pattern of duty and of faith; so in peace and politics his moral simplicity and stanchness, his love and strength, have become Germany's salvation. "I have never admired the cosmopolitan spirit, but I have never been prejudiced against other nations," he said long ago, and today the old general from the Prussian marches is the same. He has brought old strength, old courage, old simplicity to a new world. The new world needs him.

INFLUENCE OF THE LATE NAVAL CONFERENCE.

French naval planning, if persistent reports are to be credited, throws an interesting light upon the practical workings of our movement to reduce naval armament. As the building of superdreadnaughts of the pre-Washington conference type has been restricted by agreement, enterprise has been directed to evolving a type of ship which will occupy the same relative position. The German baby battleship, or Ersatz cruiser, has given the French experts a new standard of efficiency and they are now planning to design ships within the Washington treaty limitations, but having in a smaller compass a hitting power and an ability to withstand punishment only less formidable than the superdreadnaught and considerably greater than that of the 30,000 ton eight inch gun cruiser Great Britain, Japan, and America have been squabbling over. These baby battleships will cost less than the old superdreadnaught and as the latter pass off the scene will occupy the same position held by the older type. As there is no limit except upon the old capital ship and plane carriers to which France is bound and as France is now in the situation and, it would seem, the mood expressed by the old American song, "We've got the ships, we've got the men, we've got the money, too," it would seem that the immediate results of the London conference can hardly be reassuring to advocates of reduction of armament who regard the facts.

Mr. Hoover in celebration of the achievement of the London conference declared that "it will renew again the faith of the world in the moral forces of good will and patient negotiation, as against the blind forces of suspicion and competitive armament."

We should have more confidence in his generous hope if all observable phenomena were not to the contrary. The net concrete results of our repeated essays at armament limitation and reduction have been the limitation and reduction of American naval power, a less reduction of British naval power, and substantial increases of Japanese, French, and Italian naval power. We are unable to find in limitation and reduction of the naval power of the two most pacific great nations of the world any progress toward world peace.

MR. BRUDER AND FATE.

Mr. Bruder of Northwestern is an exceptional football player. He is a brilliant back, frequently irresistible, but he also has become an exemplar of the old Greek dramatic idea of the inexorability of fate as a thing of design and not of chance. Bruder showed his distinction as a sophomore when he was first available for the team, but having sparkled into the play was injured and out the larger part of the season. Last year as a junior he broke his leg in winning the first game, that with Wisconsin, and was out of uniform the rest of the year. This season he was warranted in thinking that accident had done its worst with him and that the law of averages, if nothing else, would intervene.

It was a jaunty defiance of bad luck which gave him No. 13 in the squad numbering, and with this little defiance of fate he played in the opening game, with Tulane, with all the effectiveness expected of him. The next day a slight fever indicated the flu. He went to the hospital, but was discharged in a few days and was to have played last Saturday against Ohio State. Saturday afternoon it was announced that he was ill and Saturday night that it was smallpox. No. 13 may get in the game again in a few weeks. He's game, but the Greeks would know him to be one of the men whom fate occasionally selects to illustrate that life goes by design and not by chance.

Undoubtedly the health authorities would object, but one thing the varied game has not yet seen and that is the ground gaining ability of a first class back if the loud speakers were to announce at the beginning of the game that he had the smallpox. That experiment seems to be out, but it appears that Northwestern is about to offer another one to discover, in next Saturday's game with Illinois at Urbana, how well a freshly vaccinated team can play.

RUSTY WEAPONS OF THE LAW.

Judge David has made a suggestion for the more effective prosecution of gun toters which ought to be helpful in the campaign against crime. He called attention to an old statute under which persons previously convicted of a felony may be sent back to the penitentiary for from one to ten years if found with a deadly weapon.

That such a measure should have been left dormant during the many years in which gun toting has been a notorious evil illustrates the lack of initiative and thoroughness of our law enforcing agencies. Laymen cannot be blamed for not knowing of its existence, but it is a sorry commentary on our authorities that this law has been gathering dust so long. Perhaps the use of the vagrancy statute and Judge David's disinterment will encourage further search and bring about other rusty weapons. We have laws and laws, but none is self-executing. We could do with fewer of them and more enforcement of those that it will pay to enforce.

Editorial of the Day

WINTER AND UNEMPLOYMENT.

[New York World.]

The announcement of Miss Perkins, the state industrial commissioner of New York, that factory employment rose about 2 per cent in this state from the middle of August to the middle of September is worthy of special attention for two reasons. In the first place, Miss Perkins has consistently avoided the Pollyana methods of the Hoover administration in discussing unemployment and has been content to state the plain facts. When she says that there has been improvement we may rest assured that there has been improvement. In the second place, this is the first gain to be recorded in New York state since October of last year.

Some improvement in employment conditions is to be expected at this season, but in spite of the reported increase for this state the number on factory pay rolls is still about 16 per cent less than twelve months ago. This means that a hard winter lies ahead of many idle workers. Obviously, the time to plan for the alleviation of suffering from this cause is now. Miss Perkins has outlined a program for the guidance of the communities of the state in alleviating unemployment in coming months; and in his address before the American Legion at Boston this week President Green of the American Federation of Labor urged the ex-service men to coöperate with labor organizations.

These are timely suggestions. Even if business improvement in the next few months should surpass all expectations, only a portion of the unemployed will be able to find jobs before the end of winter, and in some districts, as in the bituminous coal fields, for example, the immediate prospect is anything but cheerful. Preparations to meet winter conditions cannot be made too soon.

DEATHS BY ACCIDENT.

ACCIDENTS have become one of the important causes of death, outranking some of the preventable diseases. Health departments are planning measures of prevention suited to this cause of fatality, on the principle that both law and public opinion look to them to save human lives. Street accidents loom large in this group, and the automobile is the chief cause of street accidents. In addition to the heavy loss of life there is a staggering financial loss. The statistical bureau of the National Safety council places the annual loss due to motor accidents at eight hundred and fifty million dollars.

When President Hoover was secretary of commerce he called a conference to discuss means of lessening street accidents due to motor vehicles. There were several of these conferences during the period when President Hoover was in the cabinet, and at least one has been held under Secretary Lamont.

Out of these conferences there have come some model laws. In the Public Safety for September, 1930, Mr. S. J. Williams of the National Safety council estimates that 22,000 lives have been saved by the operation of this model law in the nine states that have adopted it or some law closely following it. He says: "Since enactment of driver's license laws with examination in these respective commonwealths there have been 39 per cent fewer automobile fatalities than there would have been if they had experienced the same percentage increase which occurred in the nonlicense states. The laws have been in effect for an average of eight years."

The tendency of the automobile or highway fatality rate is markedly upward. In some states this has become one of the most important causes of deaths, far outranking smallpox and some other of the diseases against which we spent much money and effort.

When a state passes this license law experience has shown that there is a temporary increase in the automobile fatality rate. Then the rate starts down. The decline keeps up. The law generally provides the then drivers with licenses without much of an examination. The satisfactory results become evident two or three years later, when the requirements are being enforced.

HARE LIP AND TRENCH MOUTH.

Mrs. A. B. writes:

1. What is hare lip?
2. Trench mouth?
3. Are these contagious?
4. My young daughter had a badly swollen lower lip. It has been this way for a year. Sometimes it swells over and makes her face swollen, too, her chin red, and blisters on the chin. She has been to a doctor and he said it was indigestion. She sticks to her diet, but it does not seem to help. Is this indigestion?

REPLY:

1. A congenital deformity of the lip.
2. An infection of the gums or some other part of the interior of the mouth.
3. Trench mouth is: hare lip is not.
4. My guess is that your daughter has urticaria or nettlerash, and that something in her diet is responsible. The disorder will disappear when she finds the cause and avoids it.

WHY CHANGE FOREHEAD?

G. D. H. writes:

1. The base of my forehead, over the eyes, is curved outward. What is the cause of it?
2. I am told it can be straightened by an operation in which they break the curvature and reset same.
3. Would an operation of that sort destroy my features?

REPLY:

1. Your supra-orbital ridge is larger than the average. Probably you have a rather large supra-orbital sinus and thus the large ridge. It does no harm. Some women prefer men that way and some men are partial to foreheads of that type.
2. You have been misinformed.
3. It would leave you less good looking than you now are.

STORE TRIED TO OBLIGE.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—During the last part of August I selected a raccoon coat at a fur store on Wabash avenue. The price of the coat was $345, of which I have paid $55 since. In the last month or so I have had financial difficulties and find that I am unable to finish paying for this coat. Today I visited the manager of the store and asked him for a refund and explained the circumstances. He absolutely refused me a refund and I would like to know if he can do this, in view of the fact that I have not received the coat yet. It has been in the store's possession since the purchase, with no alterations whatever. The manager says that the reason he would not consider a refund is the fact that the coat was bought during their August sale. Will you please tell me if there isn't some way possible for me to get this $55 of mine? A. K.

As long as they are ready to carry out their agreement and you are not ready to perform yours, you are not in a position to secure court relief.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TOO MUCH MOSQUITO.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—[Friend of the People.]—Residents living near Union park are being pestered at night by mosquitoes. Some think that there must be stagnant water in the park where the mosquitoes breed. Could this be investigated, please? C. M.

This is the first complaint of this nature to reach us.

We will investigate the condition immediately with a view to correcting the cause of same. HUGH M. SMITH,
General Superintendent, West Chicago Park Commissioners.

WEED SCREEN GONE.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—Would it be possible to have weeds cut along the sidewalks and back on the vacant lots on Wabansia avenue from Nashville to Oak Park avenue? Many people must travel this street after leaving the feeder bus at Narragansett avenue. After dark these weeds become a good hiding place for the holdup man or moron. G. H.

Report is made that weeds have been cut in parkway and along the edge of sidewalk on Wabansia avenue from Nashville to Oak Park avenue, as per request.
JOSEPH J. BUTLER,
Superintendent of Streets.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Honk, honk! for Bill Stratton, our highly esteemed secretary of state, who announced yesterday he would do his darndest to get a law through the next legislature requiring all people who run around in Illinois with those very deadly weapons known as automobiles to pass a stiff driver's examination and get a license card if they can show cause. And just the other Sunday Judge Fitzhenry of the United States District court and Archie Bowen, superintendent of charities in this here state of Illinois, were driving in a car piloted by a chauffeur near Springfield, same state. They saw a car approaching them at a furious burst of speed and leaping like a mountain goat from one side of the street to the other. The chauffeur gave a shriek of agony and said, "I can't guess where that thing is going to land. I'll stop right here." He stopped the car in the hope that the frenzied machine would miss him, but, no, it struck full force and there was a crash of glass and the horrid sound produced by grinding fenders.

After the accident, and finding nobody was hurt, Judge Fitzhenry gallantly went over to what was left of the charging car, and told the two women, who were its occupants, he trusted they were not injured. They said they weren't, and then the judge said that if it was a fair question, why did their car behave like theirs had done. "Well," said the woman who had been driving, "you see we had to catch a train and we were going real fast." "But," said the judge, with a trifle of irony in his voice, "are there no brakes on your car?" "Oh, yes," said the woman, "but you know if you put the brakes on when a car is going as much as forty miles an hour then the car will turn upside down right away" So hurry up, Bill Stratton, have that bill of yours passed right away. There seems to be a lot of people careening around the highway these days that don't know what brakes are for. They don't even know what the wheel is for or why is an accelerator. You tell 'em, Bill.

We've been a long time building
Whimsical fantasies,
Trying to fashion perfection
Out of our memories;
We have gone back to gather
Moments of ecstasy,
Trying to pattern a story
That's a fragile filigree.

We've set a stage in image
To make a mimic play
Wherein our whims and dreams take part
To carry us away
On careless wings of fancy
To the drowsy borderlands
Where yearnings find fuifillment
In the heart that understands.

COLORADO PETE.

THERE IS SO MUCH excitement in the newspapers over peewee golf that it causes us to wonder. All we ever see on a peewee golf course is a sad eyed man dragging a sod roller around. If that's the way the game is played then we're glad we never took up golf.

WE LOOK DOWN from our Line window into the empty soap lot and see always eager people passing in and out gazing on the captive whale. He is very popular the captive whale, and we wonder that nobody has nominated him for mayor. We'd always know where to find him; he wouldn't make speeches, and, being dead, of course he doesn't drink and ought to get a big dry vote. Well, if nobody else will do it, we will; we nominate the whale for next mayor of Chicago.

JUST A LITTLE HELP WOULD EASE THINGS UP CONSIDERABLY

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

OCTOBER 14, 1914.

LONDON.—Reports are current here that Ostend has been taken by the Germans. The city is almost deserted by Belgian and English troops and the German advance, it is believed, will be unopposed. The German forces entered Ghent without opposition. The Belgian capital has been moved again, this time to Havre, in France. The British consul has left Ostend, leaving his affairs with the American consul.

LONDON.—The Germans are making a desperate effort to break the extreme left of the allied armies and have brought about a contest in the province of Picardy which may decide the issue of the battle of the Aisne, which has now been in progress for a month. Two objectives are possible in the German campaign. One is the capture of the seaports of Calais and Dunkirk, giving bases for naval or aircraft raids on the British isles. The other is the crumpling back of the allied left upon its main lines on toward Paris.

CHICAGO.—The total registration in Chicago before revision for the November elections is 560,292, a decrease from the last complete registration of 92,973.

BOSTON.—A world's record that never will be beaten was hung up by Boston's Braves today when they handed the grand old Athletic machine a fourth straight defeat and wound up a world's series in four games for the first time in the history of baseball. The score was 3 to 1. Shawkey and Pennock pitched for the Athletics and Rudolph for the Braves.

OCTOBER 14, 1900.

CHICAGO.—Stagg's Maroons narrowly escaped defeat at the hands of the Minnesota Gophers in the game at Minneapolis yesterday. The brilliant work of one lone man, Quarter Back Henry, resulted in a tie score of 6 to 6. Henry got around Minnesota's left end for a run of 88 yards and a touchdown in the last minute. Other football scores were: Northwestern, 12; Indiana, 0; Wisconsin 11; Beloit, 0; Michigan, 24; Case, 6; Illinois, 16, Knox, 0.

CHICAGO.—Yale university, through a committee of its professors, has pronounced Chicago the typical American city. Many others had reached that decision already, but the pronouncement of this eminent authority may serve to convince some remaining skeptics in the east that it is a fact—that Chicago is the center and essence of Americanism and American life.

SCRANTON, Pa.—The anthracite coal miners in convention here today voted to end the strike and return to work provided the operators abolished the sliding scale and promised that the 10 per cent advance will continue six months. This decision was brought about by the efforts of "Mother" Jones, Organizer Dilcher, and other leaders heretofore supposed to be opposed to a settlement on the terms offered. If the mine owners consider the proposition unacceptable, the miners are willing to arbitrate, but they will continue the strike until the operators agree to the proposition.

OCTOBER 14, 1880.

INDIANAPOLIS.—Revised figures on the election Tuesday show the election by the Republicans of seven out of thirteen congressmen, with the chance of controlling the next legislature and electing a United States senator. Porter was elected governor and all his associates on the state ticket were elected. With singular unanimity the Democrats have fixed upon William E. English, Democratic candidate for Vice President, as the scapegoat for all their crimes, blunders, and misfortunes. From Gov. Hendricks and Senator McDonald down to the humblest ward worker all unite in condemning him and in demanding that he withdraw from the national ticket.

NEW YORK.—Leading Democrats give up the campaign as hopeless. Jewell figures Indiana's Republican majority at 5,000 and Ohio's at 21,000. All stocks and railroad securities are still advancing. Tilden says that the forlorn hope of the Democracy is Maine. Members of Gen. Hancock's staff admit that his chances for the presidency all went with Indiana.

JUDGE LYLE.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—I write to heartily commend your editorial this morning in favor of the reëlection of Judge Lyle. It was certainly a word in due season.

Increasingly it becomes apparent that we are seriously handicapped in Chicago by having an impressive list of judges and lawyers who have become, doubtless unconsciously to themselves, worse than useless through the overlapping folds of red tape and precedence so admirably illustrated by Mr. McCutcheon in his cartoon.

With many others I keenly regret the fact that the organizations originally set up by the legal profession to aid in maintaining the high standards that formerly obtained have become sadly undermined, perhaps by a process that might be likened to the racketeering that is doing so much damage to many business interests in these days. If, finally, there should come about a real shakeup and house cleaning in our whole judiciary situation as a result of the astonishing recommendation made by the Bar association not to vote for the reëlection of Judge Lyle, there will be great cause for thanksgiving.

HENRY P. MAGILL.

JUDICIAL FITNESS.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—As a member of the Chicago Bar association and a practicing lawyer in all of the courts of Cook county for the last seventeen years, I feel it my duty to defend the report of the bar association's committee on candidates because I have appeared before Judge Lyle in civil branches of the Municipal court and believe that the committee is justified in saying that Judge Lyle has not a judicial temperament. While he may be doing the city some good by his activities in the criminal branch of the court, much harm can be done in the civil branch to the rights of citizens by a judge who is not possessed of a greater judicial temperament and who may be swayed in his decisions by his own personal opinion rather than by the law and facts before him.

The Chicago Bar association, through its committee on candidates, is primarily interested in electing judges who will render decisions in both the criminal and civil branches in an impartial manner and in strict accordance with the law. I believe that all of the members of the Chicago Bar asspciation heartily approve of its committee's recommendation that Judge Lyle should not be elected. ALFRED M. CORDELL.

THE GALAPAGOS ISLANDS.

Columbus, O., Oct. 8.—A friend sends me your editorial of Oct. 3 on the Galapagos islands. Permit me to compliment and thank you for your attitude and expression. If it is possible for the United States to acquire these islands, it would, in my opinion, be very desirable from every point of view.

THE IOWA BUILDING.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—I am writing in answer to a letter published today under headline "The Iowa Building." Your correspondent, who signs himself "South Sider," evidently did not know what he was writing about. This building he calls the Iowa building he dates from the World's Fair time of 1893, but the building as it stands today was built many years before the World's Fair was ever thought of. This building is about 60 years old and was built as a park pavilion. The old seawall to the east of it was built for its protection against the lake storms. The state of Iowa at the time of the fair made application for allowance of space to build a building, but they were late in getting in their application, and no desirable space was available, so the pavilion was offered them and accepted. They built an addition to the west of the pavilion, using both the pavilion and the addition for exhibits and entertainments. This addition was demolished with all other state buildings, but the old building itself remained the same as it is today.

The pavilion is a landmark, one of the oldest in Chicago. The park board has painted it and made many repairs, including new cement sidewalks, this summer. The building is a very substantial one and, to me, very attractive in design. Considering its age it is in wonderful condition and should be given just as much consideration by the Chicago Historical society as the old waterworks tower at Chicago avenue.

PARKS FOR POSTERS.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—A political campaign is with us again. And again we see trolley and other poles covered with stickers and posters and cheap banners. But I think the limit is reached when a tree on Drexel boulevard, near 43d street, is used for such a purpose. I wonder if the south park board will rule against such a practice?

My suggestion is a voters' boycott on all these cheap patriots whose names and faces are flaunted from poles, alley fences, refuse boxes, and abandoned houses.

Why should our city be made ugly and trashy looking by any sort of posters? This so-called sniping of advertising ought to be abolished by a city ordinance. What official or civic group will sponsor such a measure? F. A. T.

POLICEMEN AS CHAUFFEURS.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 9. — Why doesn't THE TRIBUNE say something about the reason for Mayor Thompson using a policeman as a chauffeur? Or is it understood that mayors have a right to use public employés for private purposes? E. W. SPRINGER.

TWO AMERICANS KILLED BY PLANE CRASH IN DESERT

U. S. Writer and Wife Are Victims in Morocco.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CASA BLANCA, Morocco, Oct. 13.—Two Americans, Mr. and Mrs. Ternille Dix of New York, lost their lives yesterday when an airplane flying between Casa Blanca and Toulouse, France, crashed ten miles north of Colomba, Spanish Morocco.

The French pilot, La Guerris, and a French passenger named Benezet were also killed.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Dix were taken to Tangiers in a motor truck this afternoon, and the United States consul is arranging for burial after communicating with relatives in America.

The machine left Casa Blanca airdrome at 4:30 a. m. yesterday and landed at Rabat an hour later, picking up mail. It then proceeded toward Tangier, where it was due at 7:30. When the machine failed to reach Tangier authorities started an investigation, and at noon obtained a report from roaming Arabs that an airplane had fallen and was a total wreck between Larache and Soka el Arba. The director of the company here, M. Jubin, proceeded to Larache in a special plane and found the wrecked machine.

Son of Insurance Company Official.

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Ternille Dix was the son of William Frederick Dix, a vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, whose home is at East Orange, N. J.

Three months ago an American house published the young man's first book, "The Black Baron," a biography of Gilles de Rais, the medieval "Bluebeard." The father, also a writer, is treasurer of the Authors' club.

Young Dix was married about a year ago to Monica Goebel and they went to Europe last spring, planning to return in about a month.

Daughter of Late Congressman.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Ternille Dix formerly was Miss Monica Goebel of Cincinnati, daughter of the late ex-Congressman Herman P. Goebel.

Two Priests Killed in Alaska.

KOTZEBUE, Alaska, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Two Catholic priests and a pilot were killed here yesterday when the mission plane Marquette crashed. The dead are Ralph Wien, noted Alaskan aviator; Father Philip I. De Lon, head of Jesuit missions in Alaska, and Father Walsh of the Kotzebue mission.

Wien had made a test flight before taking up the priests. The crash came while the ship was circling the field.

Spectators said the motor seemed to stall and the ship dived to the ground, burying its nose in the frozen earth.

The Marquette, a six passenger Bellanca cabin plane powered with a 225 horsepower Diesel motor, was sent to Alaska this summer. It was to be used by Jesuit priests in visiting missions in the interior of Alaska.

It was blessed at ceremonies at Roosevelt Field, N. Y., by the Rt. Rev. Joseph R. Crimont, bishop of Alaska, and then flown to Alaska.

STOPPED IN CHICAGO.

Father De Lon was welcomed to Chicago last July while flying from New York to Alaska with Brother George Feltes. While here the missionaries were guests of the Rev. Father Hubert Noonan, pastor of St. Ignatius church.

HOOVER NAMES 3 TO ARRANGE U. S. EXHIBIT AT FAIR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—William R. Castle, assistant secretary of state and former ambassador to Japan, has been named by President Hoover as chairman of a special committee to arrange for the government's participation in the Chicago World's Fair in 1933, it was disclosed here today. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture R. W. Dunlap and Julius Klein, first assistant secretary of commerce, were selected as the other members.

In naming the committee President Hoover made known his desire that the government portray as nearly as possible scientific and industrial developments during the last century. Under the plan now being worked out each government department and institution will prepare its own exhibit for inclusion in one large federal building. It is expected that an appropriation which may run above a million dollars will be asked of congress to finance the government exhibits.

As a preliminary step Mr. Castle has asked all heads of government departments, institutions, and commissions to meet at once and work out detailed plans for their participation in the government display. Detailed letters showing the exact nature of their display, the amount of space needed and the funds necessary to finance their exhibits are expected to reach Mr. Castle's committee by the first of next month.

Assistant Secretary Castle said today that at the committee's first meeting navy officials expressed the hope it would be possible to send the U. S. S. Constitution, the famous frigate which has been reconditioned at the Boston navy yard, to Chicago in time for the exhibition.

Inquiry at the navy department disclosed that Capt. Y. R. Johnson, who was selected by Assistant Secretary Ernest Lee Jahncke, to aid him in placing the naval display, is investigating the feasibility of sending the vessel to Chicago.

"I hope it will be possible to send the Constitution to Chicago," he said today. "The navy would like to have the vessel there as a part of its exhibit if it is possible to do so."

A study is to be made of the engineering features of the problem of towing a boat drawing twenty feet of water through the shallowest part of the St. Lawrence river, which is fourteen feet. It is considered possible that the vessel might be taken over the shallow portions by means of pontoons.

Thousands have bought the radio MARCONI praises

Senatore Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of radio, leader of radio science for 36 years, who praises the new Radiola

Here is a new radio so far advanced . . . so skillfully engineered . . . so startling in performance that it has been acclaimed by the greatest celebrity in the radio art — Marconi himself — as "a great advance in radio reception!"

With faith in Marconi's expert judgment . . . and with the utmost confidence in any instrument bearing the RCA trademark . . . thousands have visited Radiola dealers throughout America to see and hear this latest triumph of radio science!

"Such gorgeous tone," they exclaimed! "Thrilling . . . lifelike . . . brings in distant stations so easily . . . what exquisite cabinets . . . such marvelous value!"

Climax of 7 Years' Research

The new Radiola is the result of seven years' development of the Super-Heterodyne principle. It is the finest home instrument that the world's most brilliant group of radio engineers can build. You can always depend on RCA for the ultimate in radio, for RCA has always been the recognized leader of the industry, the creator of practically every great advance in radio.

The new Radiola is four times more sensitive, three times more selective than any recent model. It meets perfectly modern broadcasting conditions.

The government has assigned to each broadcasting station a broadcasting channel of a standard 10-kilocycle width. The new Radiola is so expertly designed that it receives all of the program in the full width of the channel — no more — no less. Hence the remarkable tone quality, the startling realism, the exceptional freedom from overlapping, noise and distortion.

Never Before Such Value!

This New instrument is the greatest value in Radiola history. Four years ago a Radiola Super-Heterodyne Console model cost $570. Today, this exquisite model, with all its revolutionary improvements, comes into your home for only $142.50, less Radiotrons.

These facts might seem sensational! But it is so easy for you to prove them to your own satisfaction. See and hear this new instrument which the Radiola factories are working night and day to produce in quantities sufficient to meet the demand. Look for the famous RCA trade-mark. Insist upon it. It is your guarantee of the utmost in modern radio and continued pleasure through the years.

KILLED BY AUTO WHICH UPSETS AS IT DODGES HIM

Six Deaths Raise Total for Year to 808.

A pedestrian was killed last night when an auto turned over on him as the driver cut the car sharply in an effort to avoid striking him. The victim was Emil Tschutte, 60 years old, 1617 South 3d avenue, Maywood, a deputy bailiff of the Municipal court employed as a custodian.

The accident occurred as Tschutte was crossing Irving Park boulevard at 73d court. Frank Thomas, 4227 Oxnam avenue, the driver, told Albany Park police that as he swung his car to avoid hitting Tschutte, the vehicle skidded and turned over. Mrs. Harriet Wielgus, 26 years old, sister of Thomas, who was riding with him, suffered minor injuries but the driver escaped. He was held.

This death and five others raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 808. The victims:

Mrs. Hazel McAuliffe, 38 years old, 1836 South 7th avenue, Maywood. Died in the Westlake hospital, Melrose Park, of injuries received when her auto crashed into another on River road near Des Plaines. Ray Holic, 1655 West 61st court, Cicero, was the driver of the other car.

Frank Kovar, 16 years old, 2641 Thomas street. Fatally injured when his car collided with a truck and overturned at Oak Park and Ogden avenues, Berwyn. He died soon after being taken to the Berwyn hospital.

Clifford Griswold, 40 years old, 8057 Ellis avenue. Died in the Ravenswood hospital of burns received on June 15 when his auto struck a safety island at Western and Wilson avenues and burst into flames.

Hans Grinderslew, 8 years old, 7249 St. Lawrence avenue. Killed when he jumped off a truck on which he had "hitched" a ride at Champlain avenue and 73d street.

Anthony Sliva, 49 years old, 2846 West 25th street. Died in St. Anthony's hospital after being struck by an automobile in front of his home. Joseph Kiers, 2911 West 25th street, who was driving a rented car, was held.

FRANCE MENACED BY FLOODS; CITY UNDER THREE FEET OF WATER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 13.—France is menaced by the worst floods in 20 years. Rivers are overflowing their banks from one end of the country to the other, causing enormous loss of property.

A violent tornado struck the department of Isere, in the Dauphine Alps, last night, uprooting trees wrenching off roofs, wrecking houses and church steeples and severing all communications. The tornado, which lasted only three minutes, was followed by a torrential downpour. The damage is estimated at about $400,000. One person was killed.

A cloudburst in the valley of the Meuse, near Bar-le-Duc, caused disastrous floods which made many families homeless.

Dijon, capital of the ancient province of Burgundy, where some of the famous vintages are grown, awoke today to find the lower part of town inundated by the river Ouche. Three feet of water ran in some streets.

TEXANS ROUSED FROM SLEEP BY SECOND FLOOD

Homes Inundated, Stock Destroyed.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Flood waters today caused anxiety in Texas, where for the second time within a week livestock was drowned, transportation halted and citizens awakened to find homes and shops inundated.

Brady, a town of 5,000 population in McCulloch county, bore the brunt of the discomfort and damage by flood waters when the Brady river again overflowed. Fifteen business houses were flooded and the water came within two or three feet of last Monday's high mark.

Aroused from slumber by an alarm sent down the stream from Eden, where a torrential rain sent the river on another rise, residents of Brady arose before dawn to build improvised levees of cement and sand bags.

Gradually Recedes.

After rising within two feet of the courthouse plaza, which was submerged last Monday, the waters began to recede. Scores of persons, however, had been forced to flee from their homes near the river—homes they had so recently cleaned.

The South Concho river at Christoval, in Tom Green county, left its banks and four feet of water stood in the Santa Fé railway station, the biggest rise recorded there since 1906.

Four hundred sheep were drowned, trapped in the shipping pens. The river was 900 feet wide at its highest stage. The Concho waters washed out 300 feet of Santa Fé railway track between Valera and Talpa.

Canadian River Raging.

The Canadian river in the Panhandle swept away two railroad trestles, one each for the Fort Worth and Denver and the Rock Island, tying up railroad traffic north and northwest of Amarillo. Several hundred feet of Rock Island track was washed away between Eden and Sanjon and service was suspended between Amarillo and Liberal, Kas.

Divers Seek Reason Today for Sinking of Rotarian

Divers this morning will reopen the question of how and why the old floating restaurant and clubhouse, Rotarian, sank to the bottom of the Chicago river at Clark street. They will descend through 25 feet of muddy water and make an investigation of the hull of the aged craft to determine whether an open petcock, a hole bored in the hull, or merely old age caused the foundering.

Walter J. Powers, who conducted a chop and fishhouse on the boat, could not be found for questioning Friday night after the boat had foundered. Nor could the police find Edward Olson, a watchman, who had been left in charge while Powers went away to recover from an attack of lumbago. Powers ordered the restaurant closed during his absence.

Says Boat Was Scuttled.

Miles J. Devine, owner of the boat and president of the Cook County Democracy club, declared he was convinced the boat was scuttled. "I understand that one of two things happened," he said. "Either Olson was paid $200 to open a petcock or else he was overpowered and another man who was paid $250, scuttled the craft. I obtained this information in a curious fashion which I do not wish to disclose at the present time."

Police yesterday questioned Walter Lehman, chef on the boat, when Powers could not be found. He was released. "Powers told me a week ago," he said, "that he was going to close the restaurant and be gone for about a week. He paid me $35 of $60 that he owed me. Wednesday I went back for the balance of my pay and talked to Olson. He told me he was going to quit for fear the boat would sink. He said Powers told him it was necessary to keep the pumps running almost all the time."

Called Boat in Good Shape.

Devine classified this as a hallucination. "In 1920," he said "$50,000 was spent on the boat. In 1926 I spent $5,000 to have the hull repaired. At that time an official of the Manitowoc Boat company said the Rotarian had the best and tightest hull of any boat on the lakes. Six months ago we ran the pumps for a short time and found only an inch of water in the hull."

Police at the request of Devine have conducted a search for Powers since the sinking, but have only found that he is in a "quiet spot" for his lumbago. Sunday Powers called up Devine and promised to be in Devine's office on Wednesday for a conference. He refused to state his present whereabouts, but denied that he knew anything of the sinking. He also denied any statement about the necessity for pumping.

Sinking of the Rotarian ended a three year fight to force removal from the Clark street dock where it had rested without a city license.

BISHOP SAYS PROHIBITION HAS MADE US DRINK

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Bishop George Finnegan of Helena, Mont., last night told more than 5,000 Catholics from the Pacific northwest that there is more drunkenness in America today than before prohibition.

"We are less temperate minded because we have passed from self-regulation under God to a form of civic regulation," said Bishop Finnegan.

BOY HIT BY BUCKSHOT.

Bruno Wat, 7 years old, 1110 Cleaver street, was shot in the back with a buckshot last night while in front of 1411 Cleaver street by another boy of his own age who was firing at random with an air rifle.

Hunt Woman Who Robbed Shoe Store as Customer

Police last night were looking for a young woman who walked into the store of Charles Miller, 5036 South Ashland avenue, the other day and asked for baby shoes. Behind her was a man. As Miller took down several boxes of infant footwear the woman drew a revolver and commanded him to hide himself in the basement. Miller did, and the woman and her companion escaped with $160 and a $50 check.

This 4-ounce bottle makes 12 full pints of refreshing mouth wash.

Beauty—and that Beastly Taste!

Morning Mouth is easy to get rid of with Astring-o-sol

You'll be amazed how quickly Astring-o-sol completely rids you of that dry, stale, waking-up taste. Just shake a few dashes of Astring-o-sol into a quarter-glass of water. Then gargle and swish the tingling liquid through your teeth.

That Beastly Taste will disappear instantly. Your mouth will feel cooled, refreshed, stimulated, and clean. Your breath will be purified. And you will have a sparkling after-taste.

Astring-o-sol's amazing effectiveness as a mouth wash is due to the fact that it penetrates down deep into the tissues, tiny crevices and pockets; exerts a powerful antiseptic and germicidal action that kills the germs embedded there; is absolutely safe to the most delicate tissues; produces a mild astringent action that helps to drive out bacteria; and leaves an antiseptic effect that remains at the sources of infection for hours.

Because Astring-o-sol is a concentrated preparation, it: 1. Does More—you can use it in any strength; 2. Costs Less to Use—a 4-ounce bottle makes 12 full pints of refreshing mouth wash; 3. Tastes Better—you can dilute it to suit your taste; 4. Takes Up Less Space — in your medicine cabinet or traveling bag.

Try a bottle today. Dentists and Doctors use Astring-o-sol and prescribe it to their patients for its superior penetrating power, powerful antiseptic and germicidal activity, effective astringent and cleansing qualities.

FREE! An artistic Lanster Glass—in your choice of 3 beautiful pastel colors—is given FREE with each bottle of Astring-o-sol. Your neighborhood druggist is now featuring this special introductory offer.

INVALID WINS 'INTERESTING WANT AD' PRIZE

Says Tribune Is Her Pastime

The editor of the Want Ad Tribune received the following letter from Miss Genevieve Schneider, R. N. 1651 N. McVicker avenue, thanking the Tribune for her check, received as a reward for "makin' the Wise Crack column":

"Have received check for Interesting Want Ads Comments contest, and extend my sincere appreciation.

"It may be interesting to you to know that the Tribune, with its various contests, is my source of pastime, even to the cross-word puzzles. I am confined to my bed and have been for a year. Besides, the Tribune is the medium through which I do bedside supervision of the greater portion of the family buying.

"Last, but not least, the Tribune editorial page has helped me to improve a neglected education, and helped me to pass a high school equivalent examination."

Thank you, Miss Schneider, and, the Tribune wishes you a quick recovery from your illness.

WANTS CONTEST RULES PUBLISHED AGAIN

Mrs. John Doyle, 1515 White avenue, Beloit, Wis., writes for information concerning the rules in the Interesting Want Ads Contest. Perhaps we had better give them to you again, just so you won't forget. Many humorous advertisements appear in the newspapers daily. The Want Ad section also has its quota. Those are the ones we are interested in. If a want ad strikes you as being funny, or unusual, clip the want ad, write a short comment, similar to the ones you've already seen, and send it to Interesting Want Ads, Chicago Tribune, 1015 Tribune Tower, Chicago.

From Tribune Only.

Of course, these want ads must be taken from the want ad section of the Chicago Tribune. It makes no difference in what issue of the Tribune these wise cracks are found. Three prizes are awarded each week: First prize, $3 and two prizes of $1 each. Letters and Wise Cracks become the property of the Tribune. All clear now? Fine! Let's have a big response next week.

Services Offered Range from Bookkeeping to X-Ray

Victor Herbert, the famous American composer, certainly knew human nature. In his song, "I Want What I Want When I Want It," from "Mlle. Modiste," he picked on one of the foibles of humanity, typically American, too, even though he assigned the part to the blusterous Comte de Mar of the gouty foot and testy disposition. Americans "want what they want when they want it"! Usually they get it.

Getting Service Made Easy.

To satisfy Americans, service must be instantaneous. Modern life, geared for high speed, admits no delay in getting things done, whether it is in business or personal affairs. In that explanation lies the reason for the success of the Tribune Want Ad Business Directory. Up-to-the-minute business men offer their services in this column so that you will experience no delay in obtaining efficient and personal attention to your needs. Chicagoans have been quick to take advantage of this service.

35 Services Listed.

In one Sunday issue of the Tribune 35 different types of services were offered. Listed alphabetically, they ranged from Accounting to Window Shade Making and Repairs. Personal and home services, mechanical and professional services were included in this long list.

Personal and Home Service.

Among those inviting your patronage for personal and home services were these: Beauty shops; dressmaking and embroidery work; fur storage and repairs; caterers and ice cream makers; beverage and table water dispensers; draperies, slip cover and fixture makers; furniture repairers; hosiery repairing; lamp and lamp shade makers; massage and baths; rug and carpet cleaners, and shoe repairing.

Mechanical and Professional.

Accountants; advertising service; auto repairing and storage; carpenters; coal, coke and fuel oil supply houses; freight forwarders; funeral directors; golf courses and golf equipment; heating and plumbing installations and repairs; moving, hauling and storage service; nurseries, trees, shrubs and flowers; painting and decorating; piano tuning; plastering; printers and engravers; radio service and repairs; roofing; X-Ray and Ultra-Violet Ray machines and treatments, and window shade makers and repairers.

At Your Service.

Every day, and especially on Sunday, you will find these services offered to you in the Tribune Want Ad Section. Clip this column. Put it some place where it will always be handy. Then you'll be sure to get the service you want when you want it!

TO EXTEND ARMY AND NAVY SLICES ANOTHER YEAR?

Budget Hearings Hint of More Retirement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—President Hoover's retrenchment program for the army and navy will be extended throughout the next fiscal year, it was disclosed today when budget bureau officials began executive hearings on the 1932 naval estimates. Although no figures have been determined upon definitely, it was learned that the navy's budget will run from $10,000,000 to $35,000,000 below the sums made available by congress for the current fiscal year. The army's cut may reach $10,000,000.

Extend Enlistment Cut.

The navy savings will be effected largely through continuing the 4,800 slice in enlisted navy personnel another year, the operation of the minimum possible number of ships, further curtailment of shore stations and some reduction in the funds recommended for new construction.

Whether the recent slashes in navy and marine personnel are to be followed by curtailment of army recruiting has the latter service guessing. Army officials state no cut has been ordered thus far, although there have been indications next year's budget will not call for the full 165,780 men appropriated for this year. There have been no indications that the personnel cuts will affect the coast guard or prohibition forces.

Far Less than Appropriated.

As both the army and navy are expending several millions less than appropriated for national defense purposes by congress, the actual sums expended during the next fiscal year are not expected to run much lower than actual expenditures this current year. Indications are the navy will withdraw from the treasury less than 360 millions of the 391 millions available at the beginning of the fiscal year.

Next year's budget is expected to run between 360 and 370 millions. The army budget is expected to approximate 320 millions, compared with 331 millions voted for the current fiscal year.

DIES OF POISONING.

U. S. AIRPLANES AND LINER TO SPEED JAP NAVY PACT TO LONDON

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Fast army airplanes and a special diplomatic courier who will use the most speedy vessel in the American merchant marine will be pressed into service by the state department at the request of the Japanese government to expedite the arrival in London of the Japanese ratification of the London naval treaty.

To speed the journey of the signature of the treaty by the Japanese emperor in time for the ratification ceremony in London, before the opening of the league of nations preparatory disarmament commission at Geneva Nov. 6, two army pursuit planes will be dispatched to Vancouver and fly with the document to New York.

At New York the document will be turned over to Pierre de L. Boal, assistant chief of the division of western European affairs of the state department, who is sailing for London on the Leviathan Saturday to attend the Geneva session of the league commission as an American advisor. The document will be delivered in London to Ambassador Matsudaira of Japan.

One hundred and fifty co-eds were vaccinated yesterday at Northwestern university as a result of the discovery that Hank Bruder, half back and captain of the Purple's football team, was a victim of the disease. Two hundred men students were vaccinated, bringing the total number to 350. Altogether about 500 will have to be vaccinated as a result of orders by President Walter Dill Scott.

The co-eds received their treatments at Roland hall, the infirmary for girls. Some emerged with bandaged arms, but most of them were limping. They were ordered vaccinated because they had attended the dance given on Saturday night for members of the football squad.

Hank Bruder in an interview given through a window at the Isolation hospital yesterday opined: "They'll probably want to kill me when I get back to school."

President Scott said he couldn't understand how Bruder escaped vaccination at his entrance examination. "So far as I know," Dr. Scott said, "he is the only student aside from conscientious objectors to escape this requirement."

HIGHWAY PAYMASTER ARRESTED.

Harrisburg, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Harry L. Childers of Harrisburg, paymaster for Dungey & Cochrane, contractors on state highway 142 at Eldorado, was arrested today on a charge of embezzlement.

SIX AMERICANS RESCUED FROM CHINESE BANDITS

Two Yankees Remain in Dangerous Area.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, China, Oct. 13.—Six Americans who have escaped the bandit infested area in Fukien province, where two British women missionaries, Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss Eleanor Harrison, were recently put to death by beheading, reached Foochow today. Two other Americans, William Cassidy of Michigan City, Ind., and Dr. Walter Judd of Nebraska, were left behind.

It has not been learned whether the latter two chose to stay or could not be reached to warn them of the dangers.

The six reaching safety were Dr. and Mrs. James Edward Skinner, North Topeka, Kas., of the American board of missions; Mamie F. Glassburner, Woodbine, Ia., of the woman's foreign mission board; John R. Grace, and Bernard C. Werner of New York, and Paul Curran of Rising City, Neb.

Those coming out of the bandit area were accompanied by the British consul, who headed the party sent to rescue the two slain British women. According to the Americans, all foreign lives in Fukien province are endangered.

Banditry is increasing in other parts of southern China. Pirates seized a river steam out of Canton and carried off eight armed guards and 30 passengers, mostly Chinese, for ransom.

China to Fight Bandits.

NANKING, China, Oct. 13.—(AP)—C. T. Wang, Nationalist foreign minister, today announced that since hostilities in the civil war virtually had ended, freeing government troops for other duties, a military force would be sent to Fukien province to crush the bandits who murdered Miss Eleanor June Harrison and Miss Edith Nettleton, British missionaries.

Saved by Concertina.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—That music hath charms to soothe bandits as well as savage beasts was the discovery of R. W. Porteous, missionary, and his wife, of Willmar, Minn., while they were held captive for three months by Chinese brigands.

Under constant threat of death, Mr. Porteous said he discovered that singing hymns and playing on a battered concertina fascinated the bandits so that the executions were postponed daily. The pair were captured March 23 and released on June 26, when negotiations for $50,000 ransom failed.

Mr. Porteous said his captors demanded Chinese music, but were glad to hear church music while plotting to behead them.

BOB IS REPORTED RESTING HERE TO REGAIN HEALTH

Charles V. Bob, New York banker and mining engineer, who for the last four days was supposed to have been missing, yesterday was reported resting in Chicago to avert a nervous breakdown. This report was made to New York associates of Mr. Bob by his attorney, Ferdinand Pecora.

According to the attorney the banker will remain in seclusion in Chicago for a few days before returning to New York, where Assistant Attorney General Washburn wants to question him regarding his operation in shares of the Rainbow Luminous Products company and Metals and Mining Shares, Inc. Bob's attorney said that he would assist the government men in their inquiry.

The announcement dispelled fears that the New Yorker and his pilot Col. Dean Lamb, had been injured in an airplane accident on a flight from Chicago to New York.

TESTS FOR INTELLIGENT PEOPLE—A SERIES

What is the origin OF THE cabriole leg?

UNTIL the time of William and Mary, British furniture had been decidedly rectangular. Chair legs had followed severely vertical lines, never relaxing into a curve. Furniture had been generally heavy, and almost as immovable as a mantelpiece. Now from Holland came the new idea of furniture easily portable and delicate with grace—and this new shapeliness and lightness was well exemplified by the "cabriole" or "bent knee" leg which Dutch merchantmen had originally brought back from China. The Danersk chairs and table illustrated show the cabriole leg at its best.

How is the Upholsterer's Art like that of a Sculptor?

The sculptor models with clay over a crude frame the object he wishes to depict. The true upholsterer skilled in his art starts with a crude frame. Instead of clay, his materials are curled hair, burlap, twine and springs; but he must nevertheless model and fashion these raw materials into a beautiful form and one of extreme comfort. The artist upholsterer serves years of apprenticeship.

Where is the Upholsterer of Buckingham Gate?

A famous British upholsterer, the dean of his profession, formerly executed commissions for the English gentry, including work in Buckingham Palace. His shop was at Buckingham Gate. Now he lives in Stamford, Connecticut, and is in charge of Danersk upholstering.

The Danersk Elbow Chair is a careful reproduction of an English original in the South Kensington Museum. The luxurious Seymour Wing Chair is an excellent copy of a fine American Queen Anne piece. These, and all other Danersk upholstered chairs and couches, are hand-made under the watchful eye of "the upholsterer of Buckingham Gate"—one of our colony of Scotch and English craftsmen.

Danersk upholstered chairs can be purchased for as little as $75.00. By the Danersk Plan of Monthly Terms you can purchase a single piece or group of pieces totaling $250.00, on which your initial outlay is only $50.00.

Write us specifically about your home and we will send you a copy of our new seventy-two page book on "How to Know Good Furniture." Call and see the furniture itself, where you can inspect, without obligation to purchase, hundreds of authentic designs for all the rooms of the house.

PRICE OF FLOUR FALLS; SEE MORE BUYING OF BREAD

Bakers Tell High Costs of Production.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Times of frugal buying, coupled with tottering commodity price levels, are reacting to reduce flour prices, along with the prices of wheat, corn, rye, and other farm crops. Yet a survey of the baking industry yesterday pointed to general belief by the nation's 20,000 bakers that more bread may be consumed in the next few months to offset a steady decrease in the consumption of foodstuffs that has continued almost unabated since wartime "save the wheat" campaigns.

The lead in downward price levels for bread was announced yesterday by two chain stores, when 16 ounce loaves were offered at a nickel, a move which independent bakers declared was "price appeal" to bring trade into these stores. Bread is being sold in Chicago and neighboring cities this week at quotations said to be below cost of production, but ranging upward to fifteen cents a loaf for the highest grade.

Flour at Low Price.

Flour prices last Saturday struck the lowest figures since 1896 in some markets. Since Jan. 4 Chicago standard grade flour has dropped more than $2 a barrel, from $7 to $4.60. Quotations at $4.25 a barrel in Kansas City were said to be the lowest in that market's records. Yet these trends have not followed the violent fluctuations of the future trading in wheat, millers said.

"It takes about a barrel of flour to make 300 pounds of bread," explained one baking official. "Thus it would take a range of $3 in flour prices to effect one cent change in a loaf. But competition has forced us to add more milk, shortening, and other ingredients that were used grudgingly yearr ago. And our labor and distribution costs, by far the larger portion of our costs, have mounted steadily."

Great Variety of Price.

President Henry Strude of the American Bakers' association declared there was ample variety of breads available "just around the corner" at a variety of prices to fit most any purse or appetite. He decries that day when bread "will be buffeted about like sugar" on the basis of price without consideration of the quality of the loaf itself.

"Before the war," he said, "Americans consumed 5.30 bushels of wheat per person per year; now we consume about 4.26 bushels. If the per capita consumption of wheat could be restored to its pre-war basis we would use as much more as Kansas grows in a year, the largest wheat producing state in the Union."

Bakers indicated yesterday that they were hesitant about making their usual 6 month and yearly flour contracts this fall, although heavy purchases of new wheat are credited to domestic millers. This lack of usual baker purchases, coupled with hazards in the market now laid at the door of the government's grain stabilizing activities, were said yesterday by the baking trade to "unnecessarily depress the farmer's grain prices."

"Forty or fifty per cent of all our bread flour goes into commercial bakeries now," stated Tom Smith, baking association secretary. "The wrapping alone costs from one-third to two-thirds of a cent, and, although no accurate data are available for the industry, the overhead of pay roll, machinery, modern equipment, and distribution is by far the largest part of the cost of a loaf of bread."

Housewives no longer want to bend over the kneading board and the oven to produce bread, he declared, when competitive bakeries place it at her neighborhood store, fresh daily. He said bakeries could get fully 50 loaves more from a barrel of flour than the housewife used to do.

U. S. SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO BLAME BACK SEAT DRIVERS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Three cases in which defendants claimed "back seat drivers" had been injured because they had not warned automobile drivers were refused review today by the Supreme court.

Cecile S. Cole was accused by the Spokane, Portland and Seattle railroad of Washington of contributory negligence because she did not warn a driver of an approaching train. A $22,000 judgment was returned against the railroad in lower court.

The Erie railroad contended Charles Stewart had been negligent in not warning a truck driver, with whom he was riding before a train struck the vehicle in Cleveland. Stewart also was awarded damages against the railroad in lower court.

The third case was brought by the United Can company from St. Louis with the claim that Mrs. Theodore Ryan was injured through her own negligence when she failed to tell the driver of the machine in the back seat of which she was riding that a truck was approaching.

GRAIN DEALERS HIT FARM RELIEF AT SESSION HERE

Say Law Is Inadequate, Strikes at Business.

Relief measures for the grain farmers of the United States and Canada were scored by officers and speakers at the opening of the 34th convention of the Grain and Feed Dealers' National association at the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

Charging that President Hoover's plan of farm relief "strikes at the very heart of American business," Charles Quinn, secretary of the association, reviewed the year's developments.

Calls Farm Act Unsound.

Quinn denounced the agricultural marketing act as "wholly unsound, wholly inadequate to bring relief to farmers, and wholly unsuited to the psychology of the American people."

"Fair minded grain traders do not protest the organization of farmers to distribute their products," said Quinn. "But they do protest the means employed by President Hoover and the unfair, unwarranted methods used to displace a system that has proved its value to the country. If the principles embodied in this act are accepted by the people of the United States what is to prevent the socialization of all industry?"

Hits Canadian Pool.

Frank Oliver, former dominion minister of the interior of Ottawa, Canada, criticized the position of the Canadian wheat pool, said to control the marketing of 55 per cent of the prairie grain production. He said no single country could permanently enhance world prices by withholding crop surpluses, pointing to this policy in Canada as having resulted in "a collapse of prices with far reaching injury to the economic structure of the country.

"Holding back of wheat from a low market has always been accepted as legitimate 'merchandising,' but a blockade of crop transportation when prices had become abnormal, as in July, 1929, was something else again. We have antagonized our customers and left the market open to our competitors," declared Oliver.

Grocers Told That Attitude Rules Business Situation

Business declines and advances are provoked largely by the attitude of business men, J. Frank Grimes, president of the Independent Grocers' alliance, told a meeting of the organization's wholesalers yesterday at the Drake hotel. "Both optimism and pessimism are fearfully contagious," said Mr. Grimes. "And during a period of depression it is up to the business man to get behind and push. Our records show a tremendous sales increase over last year and we intend to keep right on going."

Labor Likely to Disapprove Unemployment Insurance Law

Boston, Mass., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Flat disapproval of resolutions which would pledge the American Federation of Labor to support a scheme of compulsory unemployment insurance under federal and state supervision was forecast here today.

The committee, to which was referred all proposals bearing on the relief of unemployment, is expected to approve the comprehensive program offered by the executive council for dealing with unemployment.

Favor Voluntary Method.

Action against compulsory unemployment insurance and in favor of the voluntary method, it was said, will be based on organized labor's "historic position" on the subject. This position, now being attacked by the adherents of the compulsory form of unemployment insurance, who are expected to wage a battle for their program, was reached by the federation as a result of battles over the same subject in past conventions.

In 1906 the convention of the federation refused to indorse compulsory insurance. In 1913 a declaration was adopted stating that "there are many ways in which organized labor and the general public could mitigate the evils of unemployment without an elaborate program of social justice or economic reforms."

In 1916 the convention criticized a union for asking congress to investigate compulsory social insurance. At that time it was said that "insofar as social insurance by the state and government is concerned, if established at all it should be voluntary and not compulsory."

Dislike European System.

The conventions of 1928 and 1929 placed emphasis on regularizing employment and stabilizing production and distribution.

A large measure of American labor's hostility to compulsory unemployment insurance arose from the investigation of the European system by the late Samuel Gompers.

The executive council's report on a program for unemployment relief includes the following: Reduction in hours of work, stabilization of industry, efficient management in production and sales policies, a system of unemployment exchanges, adequate records of employment and unemployment, use of public works to speed cyclical unemployment, vocational guidance and retraining for those displaced by technological advances, a special study of technological unemployment, and a study of relief proposals. The closest approach to approval of the compulsory form of unemployment insurance will be the concession that the study of relief measures is to include that scheme.

The MURDER at the VICARAGE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS.

Mr. Clement is vicar of a country village in England. His wife, Griselda, is nearly twenty years his junior. The vicar's young nephew, Dennis, lives with them.

Col. Protheroe, a pompous parishioner, who makes life miserable for his daughter, Lettice, and his second wife, Anne, is expected at the vicarage at 6:15 one evening. At 5:30 the vicar is called to visit a dying parishioner and leaves word for the colonel that he will be back on the vicarage grounds, coming out of the house in an agitated state. The day before the artist and Mrs. Protheroe had confessed to him their love for each other. In his study the vicar finds the colonel dead, murdered apparently. No weapon is found. Dr. Haydock is called, and he says Protheroe has been dead half an hour and summons the police. A note which the colonel started to write to the vicar is headed 6:20. A chair, overturned when the colonel fell forward, stopped at 6:22, but it was always kept from three minutes fast.

Lawrence Redding and Mrs. Protheroe both confess to the murder.

Miss Marple, a near-neighbor, saw Anne Protheroe go to the vicarage about 6:15 and then to the studio. She had no place to conceal a weapon. Redding came along shortly afterward and joined her at the studio. They came out a little later and walked toward the village.

Lawrence and Anne admit they had confessed the crime thinking the other had committed it. Lawrence said he had come back to see the vicar after leaving Anne and had found his pistol and thought Anne must have taken it.

"Murder by person or persons unknown," is the verdict given at the inquest.

The unfinished note found when Col. Protheroe died is discovered to be a forgery.

Hawes, the vicar's young curate, has been in a highly nervous state since an attack of shaking sickness. The vicar rushes to him in response to a phone call and finds Hawes gone. At his feet a crumpled note, which the vicar examines and finds to be the real note left by Col. Protheroe. It is addressed to the vicar and accuses Hawes of misappropriating church funds. The vicar sends for Col. Melchett, the chief constable.

INSTALLMENT I.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE.

Melchett looked at me questioningly. At this point the writing tailed off in an undistinguishable scrawl where death had overtaken the writer's hand.

Melchett drew a deep breath, then looked at Hawes.

"So that's the solution! The one man we never even considered. And you drove him to confess!"

"He's been very queer lately," I said.

Suddenly Melchett strode across to the sleeping man with a sharp exclamation. He seized him by the shoulder and shook him, at first gently, then with increasing violence.

"He's not asleep! He's drugged! What's the meaning of this?"

His eye went to the empty cachet box. He picked it up.

"Has he——?"

"I think so," I said. "He showed me these the other day. Told me he'd been warned against an overdose. It's his way out, poor chap. Perhaps for the best, too. It's not for us to judge him."

But Melchett was chief constable of the county before anything else. The arguments that appealed to me had no weight with him. He had caught a murderer and he wanted his murderer hanged.

In a second he was at the telephone, jerking the receiver up and down impatiently until he got a reply. He asked for Haydock's number. Then there was a further pause during which he stood, his ear to the telephone and his eyes on the limp figure in the chair.

"Hullo—hullo—hullo—is that Dr. Haydock's? Will the doctor come round at once to High street? Mr. Hawes'. It's urgent—what's that? Well, what number is it then? O, sorry."

He rang off, fuming.

Wrong number, wrong number—always wrong numbers! And a man's

He busied himself with the case he had brought with him.

life hanging on it. "Hullo—you gave me the wrong number—yes—don't waste time—give me three nine—nine, not five."

Another period of impatience—shorter this time.

"Hullo—is that you, Haydock? Melchett speaking. Come to 19 High street at once, will you? Hawes has taken some kind of overdose. At once, mind, it's vital."

He rang off, strode impatiently up and down the room.

"Why on earth you didn't get hold of the doctor at once, Clement, I cannot think. Your wits must have all gone woolgathering."

Fortunately it never occurs to Melchett that any one can possibly have any different ideas on conduct to those he holds himself. I said nothing and he went on:

"Where did you find this letter?"

"Crumpled on the floor—where it had fallen from his hand."

"Extraordinary business—that old maid was right about its being the wrong note we found. Wonder how she tumbled to that. But what an ass the fellow was not to destroy this one. Fancy keeping it—the most damaging evidence you can imagine!"

"Human nature is full of inconsistencies."

"If it weren't, I doubt if we should ever catch a murderer! Sooner or later they always do some fool thing. You're looking very under the weather, Clement. I suppose this has been the most awful shock to you?"

"It has. As I say, Hawes has been queer in his manner for some time, but I never dreamed——"

"Who would? Hullo, that sounds like a car." He went across to the window, pushing up the sash and leaning out. "Yes, it's Haydock all right."

A moment later the doctor entered the room.

In a few succinct words Melchett explained the situation.

Haydock is not a man who ever shows his feelings. He merely raised his eyebrows, nodded, and strode across to his patient. He felt his pulse, raised the eyelid and looked intently at the eye.

Then he turned to Melchett.

"Want me to save him for the gallows?" he asked. "He's pretty far gone, you know. It will be touch and go anyway. I doubt if I can bring him round."

"Do everything possible."

"Right."

He busied himself with the case he had brought with him, preparing a hypodermic injection which he injected into Hawes' arm. Then he stood up.

"Best thing is to run him into Much Benham—to the hospital there. Give me a hand to get him down to the car."

We both lent our assistance. As Haydock climbed into the driving seat he threw a parting remark over his shoulder.

"You won't be able to hang him, you know, Melchett."

"You mean he won't recover?"

"May or may not. I didn't mean that. I mean that even if he does recover—well, the poor devil wasn't responsible for his actions. I shall give evidence to that effect."

"What did he mean by that?" asked Melchett as we went upstairs again.

I explained that Hawes had been a victim of encephalitis lethargica.

"Sleeping sickness, eh? Always some good reason nowadays for every dirty action that's done. Don't you agree?"

But at this moment there was an interruption—and a most amazing one. The door opened and Miss Marple walked into the room.

She was pink and somewhat flustered and seemed to realize our condition of bewilderment.

"So sorry—so very sorry—to intrude—good evening, Col. Melchett. As I say, I am so sorry, but hearing that Mr. Hawes was taken ill, I felt I must come round and see if I couldn't do something."

She paused. Col. Melchett was regarding her in a somewhat disgusted fashion.

"Very kind of you, Miss Marple," he said dryly. "But no need to trouble. How did you know, by the way?"

It was the question I had been yearning to ask.

"The telephone," explained Miss Marple. "So careless with their wrong numbers, aren't they? You spoke to me first thinking I was Dr. Haydock. His number is three five."

"So that was it!" I exclaimed.

"And so," she continued, "I just came round to see if I could be of any use."

"Very kind of you," said Melchett again, even more dryly this time. "But nothing to be done. Haydock's taken him off to the hospital."

"Actually to hospital? O, that's a great relief! I am so very glad to hear it. He'll be quite safe there. When you say 'nothing to be done,' you don't mean that there's nothing to be done for him, do you? You don't mean that he won't recover?"

"It's very doubtful," I said.

Miss Marple's eyes had gone to the cachet box.

"I suppose he took an overdose?" she said.

Melchett, I think, was in favor of being reticent. Perhaps I might have been, under other circumstances. But my discussion of the case with Miss Marple was too fresh in my mind for me to have the same view, though I must admit that her rapid appearance on the scene and eager curiosity repelled me slightly.

"You had better look at this," I said, and handed her Protheroe's unfinished letter.

She took it and read it without any appearance of surprise.

"You had already deduced something of the kind, had you not?" I asked.

Good morning!

P. S., N. B., and don't forget—the State-Lake's gone all movie! No more vaudeville. It won't be long now. . . .!

Two stars for "Half Shot at Sunrise" because Wheeler and Woolsey are in it. Without them its batting average would only have been worth one shiner, for as a vehicle the picture neither is very clever nor often funny. Its vulgarities are crude and hauled in by the heels. The extra star is a sincere tribute to the personalities plus of the co-stars who, I think, are the most engaging pair of male funmakers in the show business.

These mirth provoking kidders spend much of their time this trip in running like everything, for the time is 1918 the locale France, and they are A. W. O. L. Generals, colonels, captains, M. P.'s, not to speak of waiters, are all mad at them. Only the ladies—and one of these is a colonel's daughter—love the boys. And there's your story.

Photography, sound and supporting cast get by all right. The producers missed a bet in not building up a fatter rôle for Edna May Oliver. Wheeler, Woolsey and Oliver! What a trio that would be! Or I'd love to see Miss Oliver do a hurdle with Marie Dressler and Polly Moran. God never made anything funnier than Edna May.

It's only fair to say that while "Half Shot at Sunrise" as a whole doesn't stir much enthusiasm, Wheeler and Woolsey manage to keep you in good humor throughout its duration.

"THE PAYOFF."

THE CAST.

Chief Crook	Lowell Sherman
Another Crook	Hugh Trevor
The Girl	Marian Nixon
The Boy	William Janney
District Attorney	Alan Roscoe

KIND: Just another crook drama.
QUALITY: Fair.
STORY: Trite. Moderately interesting.
DIALOGUE: So so. Lacks surprise.
ACTING: Very good.
DIRECTION: Superior. Mr. Sherman, who directs as well as acts in the picture, did all that was humanly possible to raise the film from the slough of the mediocre—but didn't quite succeed.
PHOTOGRAPHY, SOUND, SETS, and the like: Good.
REMARKS: Considerable honest work went into this production, but nothing that anybody accomplishes interferes with your realization that "The Payoff" is just the same old stuff.

See you soon.

Church Federation Report on Crime Expecetd Today

The executive committee of trustees of the Chicago Church federation meets today at the La Salle hotel to consider the crime report of the political action commission of the federation. The political action commission handed the report to the trustees last week. After debate over certain "sensational" elements in the report, the trustees turned the report over to the executive committee to make suggested modifications before its publication.

It is believed that the report, originally drafted by a special committee with the Rev. Frank E. Jansen, pastor of the Mount Zion Lutheran church, as chairman, will be published today.

LONDON MUSICIANS HEARD IN FESTIVAL OF CHAMBER MUSIC

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The second program of the chamber music festival at the Simpson theater (Field museum) yesterday afternoon gave Chicago its first chance to listen to the Brosa quartet of London, likewise Miss Harriet Cohen, pianist, of the same city. These at one time and another ranged through a list of music that began with Beethoven, his string quartet in C sharp minor, opus 131, if labels are necessary, thence without break to such moderns as Frank Bridge, Arnold Bax, and Theodore Szanto.

It is more than likely that both quartet and pianist will become well known in America, even though some of the music they played will linger along in not more than semi-occasional hearings. They have made a point of developing a polished, exact, finely wrought tone that seldom beats heavily on the ear, and consequently in the hushed ecstasy of a chamber music festival is exactly the right sort of a tone.

One hates to get into the state of mind of finding fault over such an exquisitely played performance as that of yesterday, but the fact remains that it was pretty long. The Beethoven work has come to be looked upon as something rather sacrosanct, having no dealings with anything as sacrilegious as a blue pencil. Yet it was enough for a full section of a program, filling up about as much mood as a willing listener could evoke. Then there were three new pieces to follow.

Here you were transported into something of violent contrast to even the latest Beethoven, where melodies ran off into unexpected directions, harmonizations seemed to be made up of handfuls of unassorted notes, all the formulas, in fact, of modern music. At the same time the curious newnesses frequently worked out in their own definite and sometimes inspiriting moods. The Bridge trio, for example, was full of gayety, sometimes bitter in its undercurrents, but full of hearty cheer.

This was a first performance in America of the piece, as was the one following, Bax's "Legend" for piano and trio. Szanto's "Choreographic Suite" for string quartet closed the performance. The Brosa quartet, though not Miss Cohen, will be heard again tonight. They, four other soloists, and a chamber orchestra conducted by Hugo Kortschak, will present a program of Italian music, ancient and modern.

Oct. 25 Likely Wedding Date for Princess

Premier Mussolini May Not Be There.

ROME, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Princess Giovanna, 23 year old daughter of the king and queen of Italy, tonight appeared certain to become the bride of Boris, king of Bulgaria, in the oldest Gothic church in Italy. There she often has prayed over the tomb of St. Francis of Assisi.

Though there was nothing official either about the date or place of the wedding today, there was little doubt, however, that the bride would fulfill her wish that the marriage be the great religious event of her life. She is not only devoted to the memory of the saint, but is a tertiary of the Franciscan order. So far as known, the wedding will take place on Oct. 25.

Premier Mussolini, who under all normal conditions would be present at the marriage, has accepted a speaking engagement in Rome on that day. From this it is inferred that there is a desire to avoid all undue emphasis upon the importance of the ceremony for several reasons.

King's Visit Limited.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Oct. 13.—While there is nothing sure about the date and place of the marriage of King Boris and Princess Giovanna, on Oct. 28 the Bulgarian general assembly will meet at Sofia and King Boris must attend. Consequently the marriage must be celebrated early enough in October to give the royal couple time to return to the Bulgarian capital, or else be deferred until November.

It is also certain that all questions connected with the Vatican dispensation are already arranged, as was done on the occasion of the marriage of the Princess Mafalda to Prince Philip of Hesse. The royal couple promise to bring up all children in the Catholic religion.

Congratulated by Hoover.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The American minister today sent to King Boris the following telegram:

"In behalf of the Hon. Herbert Hoover, President of the United States of America, it gives me great pleasure to convey to your majesty the President's sincere felicitations and hearty congratulations upon the occasion of your engagement to her highness, Princess Giovanna of Italy, and to wish you many years of happiness and prosperity.

Mary Garden Predicts Talkies Will Spell the Doom of Opera

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Mary Garden will appear in an all-Debussy program with Walter Gieseking on Oct. 25 at Carnegie hall. She also will make a single appearance in Philadelphia in "The Juggler of Notre Dame." Today at her hotel here she gave her views on opera, the talkies, radio, her Debussy program and other subjects.

Miss Garden said she was quite positive that opera was doomed by the talkies within a comparatively short time. It was merely a question of time, she reiterated, before the sound-films would perfect three-dimensional and colored television. Then with their inherent advantages of concentrating action, doing away with long waits and obtaining scenic effects beyond even the most modern stage machinery, the talkies would kill opera as we now have it. "Talkies are the greatest entertainment," she said.

"Radio thrills me like champagne," she repeated. "Often, as I stand there as my voice is being broadcast, I feel the fantasy that perhaps my sister in Paris is hearing me. I do not like the sloppy, sentimental songs so current, however, over the radio. I hope those responsible for the programs will realize and come up to their great responsibilities and opportunities to accustom the general mass of people to like the right music, for, after all, it is much a matter of happy training."

New Director Talks.

European artists look on the Chicago Civic Opera company as the greatest in the world, Dr. Otto Erhardt, that opera's new stage director, said on his arrival here yesterday. The list of artists, he declared, is the finest obtainable, and the company is not afraid to experiment.

Dr. Erhardt was the producer of the premiere of "Machinist Hopkins," by Rudolf Hindemith. In it he wore overalls to keep to the spirit of the opera, which dealt with labor.

"I am modern," he said. "You see me now in shirtsleeves. I am working. But because I am modern and not addicted to the letter of the dusty past, I am not mad. If the score demands it, my treatment will be modern. If not, it will not be."

To arrive here in time to begin rehearsals for the American premiere of "Lorenzaccio," which will open the season Oct. 27, Dr. Erhardt produced 35 operas in the first six weeks of the Dresden season. Among them was a new "Salome," produced with modern costumes and sets.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THIS is the play that clicked off a complete year in New York, from August to August, although the going was rough during that term of economic history. It was a David Belasco entry, and it gave substantial proof that the old master of stagecraft still knows how to pick them and groom them and carry them along as prize-winners. It came to the Erlanger theater last night to add another alluring title to Chicago's list of playbills.

The scene is a small city in Michigan: and the occupants of the old family mansion where all the excitement occurs read the Saginaw Daily News before breakfast. The characters are the home-folks of Chicagoland, and everything is quite midwestern and congenial, except for the usual amount of domestic nagging, until the pretty daughter of the household tells a whopper in order to break her engagement to the big bonds-and-mortgages fellow of the community.

To soothe the sting of the broken troth, she tells this small town egotist, with a quizzical smile, that she is about to become a mother. She is, of course, a modern young woman who knows that such things happen occasionally and can't be laughed off.

Whereupon the alarms and excursion of farce begin. Miss Joyce is a sly young minx who does not take any one into her confidence, not even her mother. She lets the scandal of her own invention take what course it will; and accusations hurtle through the air, impaling various innocent bystanders. Almost every man within range comes, at one time or another, under indictment as the guilty partner of Joyce's secret sin, although she bravely tries to clear them by insisting that it was only a traveling man.

Harlan Briggs, as the comic banker who looks something like an adult Skeezix of the comic strips, is the first victim, but he swiftly wriggles out of the case. Then Joseph Striker, as the handsome bank clerk for whom Joyce broke her engagement, is charged with the seduction, and her wild young brother goes after him ineffectively with a revolver. The henpecked Porter Hall, a cousin of the family by marriage, is the next victim of the dragnet.

Finally Joyce's ex-guardian, the trustee of the family investments—Minor Watson acts this homespun lawyer with authentic midwestern touch—stands up in family meeting and claims the honor of having collaborated with Joyce in the conjuration of the stork. He, of course, is ready to marry the girl. He is our hero—one that knows when and how to lie like a gentleman.

And there you have "It's a Wise Child" in casual synopsis. It is a smoothly framed, plausibly acted farcical comedy which wins its laughter easily and always keeps its risky little intrigue within the bounds of good taste. Most plays of the type, in this period of brazen theatricals, are frankly salacious of intent. But "It's a Wise Child" remains true to the wholesomeness of its environment. Saginaw, Mich., will not need to rise in protest against this picture of its domestic life.

The Joyce of the story is played with decided charm by Mildred McCoy, a young actress with eyes and smile that are bewitchingly true to the "home girl" type. Mr. Watson gets into the gallery of William Hodge as the lawyer; Mr. Briggs is a mellow caricature as the bleating banker, and the others have the happy identity with their rôles that is usually found in a Belasco cast.

Brain Provides Values of Life, Surgeon Says

Why Live Like Vegetables? Dr. Mayo Asks.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The span of human life is certain to increase during the next half century, but the beneficiaries are likely to find the added years of little value, unless the medical profession can keep the brain developing and functioning as long as the body lives. So declared Dr. Charles H. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., here today.

Dr. Mayo commented on the prospective lengthening of the life span after he had spoken briefly before a session of the American College of Surgeons. That group opened its twentieth annual clinical congress in this city today.

"Undoubtedly a human being will be able to live longer in the next half century," he said, "but the problem of the medical profession is to build up the brain so that it advances in development with the body. Should we advance human age, if the brain becomes useless at the end of the normal life span? Is there any use of making it possible for a man to live to be 90 if his brain dies at the age of 70?

"In institutions and homes we see many old people in their second childhood, merely vegetating, just like trees, possessed of a strong body, but with a brain that is almost through functioning.

"Until we teach them and educate them how to live so that their brains will continue to function for the years added to the bodies' life, there is little use in increasing the life span.

"Indications are, however, that the span is increasing. One of the greatest strides will be made when a cure for cancer is found here. In India the average age is 20. Here it is 50. In the seventeenth century the average age was only 20 in this America.

"The advance noted has come chiefly through community teaching, principally lessons on care of infants and small children, so that they grow up with strong bodies and minds. An advance is being made now in the schools in the teaching of hygiene, because after the first period is passed the child has to look out for itself. Later on the medical profession will be able to concentrate on teaching the individual man and woman how to care for themselves."

Dr. Mayo told the surgeons' congress that there was great need for more widespread knowledge about the science of medicine.

"The public is more ignorant about medicine than about any other science," he asserted.

Brooklyn Bull Fighter Keeps Details of Story

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Sidney Franklin, of Brooklyn, young matador who has raised the American name in the bull arenas of Spain during the last two years, returned to his native country tonight as its only bull fighter.

"All I can tell you," he said, "is that I have recovered from my wounds, am in good health, and that I fought fifty bulls during my career in Spain," he said. "Further than that I cannot speak, as my brother and my manager have warned me by radio not to give an interview. I don't know what they are holding out for, but I will have to wait."

Marshall Field and Bride Seek Lions for Museum

NAIROBI, KENYA, Africa, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Marshall Field III. and his bride, who are on an aerial honeymoon tour, arrived today from Juba in a government survey plane.

After an accident to their own machine last week they motored to Juba and borrowed a plane to come here. Tomorrow they will leave on an aerial hunting expedition on the Serengetti plains in quest of a lion group for the Field museum at Chicago.

Brighter Colors Being Chosen by Debutantes

The younger women of fashion, the debutantes of this and last year are more inclined to adopt the latest quirks of fashions than are their more conservative elders. They never are extreme in their sartorial taste, but they more often do wear bright colors or accept the newest wrinkle in ornamentation or line than do the women a few years older.

This is particularly true of street clothes. Most of the matrons, young and old, are favoring black this year, but the maidens are choosing shades of brown, red, and green for their street attire. Miss Ann Small wears a suit of billiard green wool trimmed at the cuffs and collar with baby leopard, and a matching felt hat trimmed with a small bow of the fur. Her purse and slippers are of alligator.

Miss Beatrice Kirk, one of this year's buds, has a striking set of accessories to wear with a dark suit, consisting of a vagabond shaped hat with brim turned back off the face, gloves with large gauntlet cuffs and an envelope purse are all made of blue and white polka dot fabric.

A clever Sunday evening dress worn by Miss Peggy Hambleton is a two piece affair of gold and yellow lame and black velvet. The top part is of the lame, is close fitting and sleeveless and has a flaring peplum, and the skirt is of the velvet.

Old Masonic Cemetery to Become College Campus

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The old Masonic cemetery in the residential district of San Francisco will become a college campus as a result of a United States Supreme court decision in Washington today.

The Supreme court denied the petition of cemetery lot holders for a review of lower court decisions sustaining a city ordinance directing removal of the cemetery as a public nuisance.

Outdoor Exercise First Step Toward Better Complexion

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

By all odds the commonest facial blemish is the blackhead, and few people escape at one time or another in their lives from being victimized in minor or major degree.

Local treatment is always the first thought when confronted with the blackhead evidence. But the point to realize fully is that a blackhead is built on a congestion of the sebaceous gland. The excretory duct is clogged with sebum, becomes dilated and you have the common little nuisance when black discoloration forms on top.

Now, in order to prevent this clogging of the gland there is nothing so helpful as a revived and stirring circulation. I have seen it happen time and again that girls after taking a course of exercises, after each period of which they indulged in a shower, were rewarded by a distinct clearing of the annoyance of which we are talking. The influence of good circulation on the small ducts is almost startling.

Young girls, then, should get in as much outdoor exercise as possible, because they are the keenest sufferers from this ailment. A wholesome diet counts, of course, with a minimum of sweets, starches and greasy foods, but working up a good circulation will speed along the face clearing as no other agency.

A great deal of carelessness is practiced in removing blackheads, which may or not have developed into pimples. The consequence is that the acne type of skin is often developed through the invasion of bacteria due to hurried expulsion of the small, black, wormlike thread. It is to this I want especially to call attention today.

The most scrupulous cleanliness for the performance is exacted. Hands must be scrubbed before they eject the mildest blackhead. Consider each tiny blackhead as a potential pimple, which it not always is, but well may be if pus-forming bacteria enter the sebaceous gland.

Pressing a blackhead out must be done gently in order not to bruise the skin. Cover the fingertips with two soft clean tissues before squeezing the affected spot. And have on hand a pledget or soft ball of cotton saturated in a disinfectant fluid, whichever you find most agreeable to use. It's a bit of prevention that may save you endless trouble.

Ex-Kaiser Undecided About Actor's Depiction of Him

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Considerable speculation has been aroused here as to whether the former kaiser will apply for an injunction against impersonation of himself in the play, "Brest Litovsk," by Dreifisch.

A lawyer for the former emperor and two of his high officers attended rehearsals of the play and found "the former kaiser's tragic fate impersonated with great artistic and histrionic ability."

A second performance, however, was attended by the former crown prince and a party of friends of the deposed ruler. They became highly indignant and recommended an injunction.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, and emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs and colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from cold, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

Admiral Byrd's Lecture to Aid Infant Welfare

BY THALIA

Announcements are going in the mail today for the lecture Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd is to give on Sunday, Nov. 16, at the Opera house under the auspices and for the benefit of the Infant Welfare society of Chicago.

Philip D. Armour, president of the society; Mrs. Eugene S. Talbot Jr., president of the Woman's auxiliary, and a large portion of our fashionable clientry will be actively engaged in selling the tickets for the next few weeks.

Mr. Armour and members of the board of directors are taking the responsibility of selling the boxes. The officers and members of the various branches of the women's auxiliary, as well as the Junior league, are to help to make the affair successful. Lucius Teter, chairman of the board; Earle L. Reynolds, treasurer of the Infant Welfare; William E. Clow Jr., A. B. Dick Jr., Donald B. Douglas, and Erskine Wilder compose the men's committee. The women who are working in their respective committees include Mrs. Herbert F. Perkins, Mrs. Arthur F. Tuttle, Mrs. Edward R. Welles, Mrs. John H. McIlvaine, Mrs. John F. Miller Jr., Mrs. Andrew McNally, Mrs. Henry Garner, and Miss Dorothy Ranney for the Junior league.

Admiral Byrd's lecture is entitled "Flying to the South Pole." He will give it to the accompaniment of his own moving pictures. It will be his first public talk in Chicago on the subject of his recent trip. A feature of the evening will be the presentation to Admiral Byrd of the Chicago Geographic society's gold medal. On Nov. 11 Byrd is to address the geographic society.

Mr. Armour plans a stag luncheon for the famous flyer, to take place at the Chicago club on Saturday, the 15th, if he finds it possible to arrive that day.

Miss Eleanor Pier, daughter of Garrett C. Pier of Greenwich, Conn., who made her debut here at the residence of her grandmother, Mrs. E. Crane Wilson of Evanston, a year or so ago, was married on Saturday afternoon to Carvill Wilson Alton at her father's residence. Her sister, Mrs. Frederick Hawley [Beatrice Pier] of Evanston, was matron of honor, and William Spencer of Chicago was best man for Mr. Alton.

The bride wore her late mother's wedding gown, and rose point that belonged to her grandmother ornamented her tulle veil. Mr. and Mrs. Alton are sailing this week for Europe and are to reside in Chicago on their return in early December.

Chicagoans were in the bridal parties of three other eastern weddings last Saturday. Mrs. J. Sterling Davis was one of the bridesmaids at the marriage ceremony in Rye, N. Y., of Miss Maud Lawrence Pool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence Pool of Rye, to Roger Conant Walcott, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Walcott of New York City. Mrs. Davis is a sister of the groom. Mr. Davis was one of the ushers.

Miss Barbara King was maid of honor and only attendant for the wedding of Miss Muriel Hedges of New York City and Gervert S. Whitman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bradbury Whitman of Garden City, which took place at Westbury, L. I.

Miss Dorothy Ranney was one of the bridesmaids in the wedding of Miss Irene du Pont Carpenter to William J. Kitchell, a large affair which took place in Wilmington, Del., at Christ Protestant Episcopal church.

The Chicago committee for the American Merchant Marine Library association that is preparing for a drive for books for sailors is to give a luncheon today at the Arts club for Mrs. Henry Howard, who has come from the east to help propaganize for the drive. Mrs. Howard is president of the national A. M. M. L. A., Mrs. Howard spoke at the Chicago woman's club and the Woman's City club yesterday.

Mrs. John Borden, Mrs. Burt A. Massee, Mrs. Farwell Winston, and Mrs. James A. Cathcart compose the committee that hopes to collect 20,000 volumes for sailors on the great lakes.

Mrs. Harmon Beardsley Butler of Winnetka and her brother, Augustus S. Peabody of 936 Lake Shore drive, have returned from a six weeks' trip to Carlsbad, Germany.

Mrs. Thomas S. McClelland has returned from Stockbridge, Mass., and is at the Ambassador East for the winter.

The Stephen A. Fosters of Winnetka have also returned from Europe, having been gone on a two months' trip.

The handiwork display and tea sponsored by the Woman's Parish league of St. James' is to take place this afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock at the parish house. Mrs. A. C. Cox is general chairman and Mrs. Orville Taylor is in charge of the tea. Others of the workers are Mrs. Clement Studebaker, Mrs. E. L. Ryerson Jr., Mrs. Alan C. Dixon, Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. Henry Hooper Jr., Mrs. John L. Senior, Mrs. Nelson Thomasson Jr., and Mrs. James Lawrence Houghteling.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar W. Johnson of 1343 North State street, who have been at the Chicago club at Charlevoix, Mich., this summer, departed from New York City on Saturday, according to an eastern dispatch, for a month's cruise on their yacht off the coast of Florida.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover has a severe cold, but has sent out cards for a reception in the White House Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock for the women accompanying the delegates to the seventeenth annual convention of the Industrial engineers. That group meets Wednesday morning, and President Hoover will receive the delegates that day.

Mrs. E. E. Gann, sister of and hostess for Vice President Curtis will give a tea on Friday afternoon for the women and a bridge luncheon at the Congressional Country club has been arranged for them on Wednesday and a large luncheon for them will be given at the Carlton on Thursday.

Former District Engineer Commissioner Brig. Gen. Charles W. Kutz, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Kutz have returned to Washington to live and have leased 2032 Allen place for the winter. Mrs. Kutz was a daughter of the late Randolph de B. Keim, a leading journalist forty years ago in Washington.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Mrs. William H. Sands arrives today on the Leviathan and will go to her apartment at the Sulgrave.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Harris Giddens are giving a dinner at their home, 955 Park avenue, on Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. Giddens' birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor F. Ridder will give an afternoon reception at their home, 81 East 79th street, on Saturday, Nov. 29, to introduce their debutante daughter, Miss Mary Ridder.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Gallatin have returned from a visit in the Adirondacks and opened their apartment at the Surrey hotel, 20 East 76th street.

MISS VIRGINIA SAYLES.

[Baddell Studio Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Avery Sayles of 6812 Ashland boulevard announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia, to Marvin George Flannery, son of Mrs. M. E. Flannery of Vermilion, S. D. Miss Sayles is attending Northwestern university. Mr. Flannery was graduated from the University of South Dakota, and is now a senior at Rush Medical college.

Boy Married Other Girl; Annabelle Asks: Is He Happy?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I loved a boy with every fiber of my being and I have reason to believe he loved me. But there were obstacles in the way of our marriage. He is married now, and try as I will I cannot forget him.

"What I want to know is, does he spend even an occasional moment thinking of me and, perhaps, regretting, or have men that power of quick forgetfulness that I am so earnestly seeking? I'd like to hear a man's opinion. ANNABELLE."

It is not likely you will get a man's opinion, Annabelle, for men are mute on the subject, in so far as my observation is a guide. But that is understandable. If they remember the girl and they are married, their happiness lies in keeping their thoughts concealed. If they forget, there is nothing to tell.

A general conclusion, however, can be made. It is that when men are through with a romance, they are through-er with it than a woman ever manages to train herself to be.

Simultaneously two alimonied divorcees reciting their trials and tribulations in the public press recently, wrote of the thoroughness with which man is off with the old love once he is off with it. But one cannot generalize from such instances, either. Other alimony-paying males might spend hours mulling over the incidents, sentimental and otherwise, of a former happy union.

It's one of those things that, for one's own peace of mind, had better not be dwelt upon too eagerly. What solace could be gathered from the thought that a man married to another woman for whom you had been cast over did give you a moment of tender reflection? Or, if he had put you and all incidents connected with you completely out of his mind, what use then in discovering the sad truth?

Lure of the Oceans Lingers in Paintings on Show This Week

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

In the Knoedler galleries there opened on Saturday a most fascinating exhibit for those who enjoy good craftsmanship and the smell of adventure that hangs about the sea. Arthur Briscoe is showing four water colors and a group of etchings. He is an Englishman and has already a reputation among those who follow current achievements abroad. He is known for his handling of marine objects, particularly for his capital drawings and paintings and prints of ships, their rigging, their ropes, and their sails.

Possibly he is the only man who interests himself so keenly in the details of a ship's dress. He can make a fantasy out of very little. Give him a set of taut lines, a flapping sail, and a polished mast, and he will give you a masterpiece. For proof, turn to the water colors. You will see "The Burst Topsail," the ripped flanges whistling in the wind. You will see the beautiful geometric pattern he obtains in "Main Mast," a subtle harmony of planes. In "Painting the Main Mast" there is a magnificent setting forth of ropes, gorgeously exact.

Turning to the etchings, the range of subject widens. Here are discovered fishers and sailors, danger, beauty, storm, and calm. "Ten Knots" is a fair wind astern and the ship running free. "Calking" for a moment is a dice game, until realization dawns that these men are working, not playing. "The Wheel" is one of the best of the prints. The two sailors are excellently portrayed and they strain at the wheel, keeping the course in the teeth of a stiff wind.

Some of the magic beauty which John Whorf last winter put into his water colors of sailing boats in tropic waters is in "The Bowsprit," a long arm stretched over rough water. Whistlerian influences are felt in the dark lighting of "Sorting Fish."

NEGLECTING CITY TREES.

This has been an unusually hard year for trees in Chicago and nearby cities. Experts of the parks commissions have noted that those trees given the most chance for existence in the form of watering and feeding have fared best. But the city, which gradually has reduced its attention in recent years to trees that line paved streets, seemingly is in no position to take care of beautiful elms, oaks, and maples that represent material wealth running into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The problem of protecting street trees therefore is left to community interests or to land owners in their own localities. In some cities the land owners of a block secure jointly the services of capable tree experts who can trim, repair, feed, and otherwise prolong the life of trees which, if left to die, would be expensive to replace and require years to become useful for shade purposes.

In other sections the individual owners care for their own trees, as well as those in the parkways which rightfully should be maintained by the city. Heavy watering is necessary, as trees consume barrels of water during a warm summer, taking it in through roots and exhaling moisture through the leaves in a breathing process.

The root system of a tree extends as far out underground as its branches reach above ground. The outer roots also gather the food. This can only be taken in soluble form, so that the tree may be said to get its sustenance in the form of soups. Fertilizers should be placed in holes bored through the lawns to a depth of two to four feet, or they may be spread under the sod when it is taken up and replaced.

Morrow Sponsors Mexican Art Show in New York

New York, Oct. 13. — (AP) — High-pommelled silver-mounted saddles and fiery colors of tropic frescoes flashed among the somber objets d'art of the Metropolitan museum today at the opening of an exhibition of Mexican art. The exhibition is sponsored by former Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and Dr. Frederick P. Keppel, president of the Carnegie Foundation.

Mrs. Morrow attended the opening of the exhibit, which includes examples of Mexico's art from the early sixteenth century, when Hernando Cortes invaded the country, to the present. Pieces were lent by the National museum in Mexico City, the state museum in Guadalajara, Ambassador Morrow, and other collectors.

It will continue through Nov. 9 and will be shown later under auspices of the American Federation of Art at Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Washington, Milwaukee, Louisville, and San Antonio.

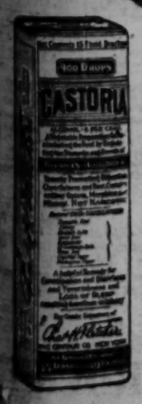
CHILDREN CRY FOR IT!



FIVE million modern mothers will tell you that children DO cry for Fletcher's Castoria. For mothers always give a few drops of this pure vegetable preparation when a child has any of the symptoms that tell of sluggish bowels, colic, or other upsets. When tiny tongues are coated and breath is bad. When a child is restless, irritable. Always soothing and comforting to an infant—yet it is effective for children in their teens. You never have to coax children to take Castoria; they love its taste.

Be ready for the next case of sour stomach, constipation, or other need for Castoria!

KOTEX

WHY do you suppose our outstanding hospitals, staffed by world-famous surgeons, make it a point to specify Kotex? There's more than one reason!

In the first place, it is hygienically safe. In the second place, it is amazingly absorbent—and that is vital for all surgical purposes. Actually—think of this—Kotex is five times as absorbent as the finest surgical cotton! The material of which it is made (Cellucotton—not cotton—absorbent wadding) is laid layer upon air-cooled layer. And each one of these delicate layers is a quick, complete absorbent in itself.

Because it is so absorbent and because it absorbs scientifically (not just in one concentrated area, but all over) Kotex naturally stays soft. It is guaranteed to stay soft longer than any other sanitary pad.

13,000,000 pads to hospitals alone

To give you an idea of the great weight of hospital approval in back of this first of all sanitary pads, the hospitals of America bought 13,000,000 Kotex pads during the first nine months of this year. Then, added to this number, they bought 2,500,000 pounds of Kotex absorbent—which is enough to make 80,000,000 more pads.

Hospitals need the best. So do you. Safety, security, good health demand it. Why should you be content with anything else when you can buy Kotex everywhere?—at all drug, dry goods and department stores. You ask for it by name. Simply specify: Kotex.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1 Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, fleecy softness that lasts for hours.
2 The Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.
3 In hospitals—Kotex is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.
4 Deodorizes . . . safely, thoroughly, by a special process.
5 Disposable, completely, instantly.

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

The NEW KOTEX BELT

brings new ideals of sanitary comfort! Woven to fit, on an entirely new patented principle. Firm yet light; will not curl; perfect-fitting.

Yankees Urged Not to Coddle Latin America

Jacksonville, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—With delegates generally agreed that the United States should discard any remaining feeling of superiority toward Latin-American countries and substitute a program of mutual coöperation and understanding, the four day institute on pan-American relations came to a close today.

Summarizing results, Chester Dewitt Pursley, banker and philanthropist of Peekskill, N. Y., who with McMurray college donated the institute, pointed out that numerous noted speakers had voiced the belief that the United States should drop any tendency to patronize South American countries.

Dr. Dexter Perkins of the University of Rochester at a closing session today, declared the less the Monroe Doctrine is cited "in complacent superiority," the better for western concord.

"The public mind has been confused about the scope of the Monroe Doctrine, particularly by Roosevelt's interpretation with its implication of right to intervene in unruly Latin-American states," Dr. Perkins said. "It is the business of teachers and publicists to see that the doctrine is restricted to its original meaning.

"The doctrine, even in its earlier form, contains an implication of American superiority offensive to Latin Americans. As for the doctrine in Europe the day has gone when it is likely to be challenged seriously."

Andrew Ten Eyck of New York, lawyer and a manager of the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass., declared that the United States is "super-sensitive" about South American trouble, but does not bother to understand it."

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S DRESS.

This graceful dress will have special appeal to women with figures a little above normal. The softly falling jabot collar adds a graceful touch to the bodice and offers opportunity for contrast, while the scalloped outline of the skirt diminishes the width through the hips. Black Canton crêpe with the vestee of the dress material, and the jabot of white crêpe will be stunning. Black transparent velvet, with the vestee of lace is lovely.

The pattern, 2706, comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 14 inch wide all over lace and ⅝ yard of 39 inch white contrasting.

How to Order Clotilde Patterns.

Science Offers No Substitute for Real Home to the Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Yesterday we were talking about education and trying to get away from the mental habit of thinking that education equals schooling and schooling equals education. We realized that schooling could and should be a big rich, developing, happy part of every day for a child, but that it could not take care of his whole education. And we listed a few of the experiences outside of school that educate a child.

Many sincere people have the narrow definition of education and think that the school will educate their children entirely.

I know of a number of people who feel that, because they have sacrificed to send their children to a fine progressive school, they have taken care of his education—and so rest on their oars. They think they've done enough.

They don't realize that their own part in their child's education is tremendous. But they are not the only ones who don't realize this.

We all need to wake up more to the fact that life outside the schoolroom is constantly at play on children—is influencing them every minute of the day—is educating them.

When we realize this, we become more alert to the advantages and disadvantages of their home life and their outside companionship, and what it all does for them and to them. When we realize that we begin to understand what education is—that it is the whole developing process of life—not merely what goes on in the schoolroom from nine to two or three. Thinking about education in this way makes us less apt to let go when school days come—laying the whole burden of education on the teachers and the system.

Dr. Esther Loring Richards of Johns Hopkins—herself a psychiatrist, so it comes with especial interest from her—says:

"There is a popular notion that in our present age of scientific progress, with physical hygiene taking care of the body of the child, and psychology and education taking care of the mind of the child, the home can sit back and rest from its labors.

"Not a bit of it."

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

One Saturday night, while powdering my nose in a crowded theater washroom, a rather shabbily dressed woman said to me: "Can you give me the time?" I thought she said "Can you give me a dime?" and, therefore, I opened my purse and handed her a dime. She laughingly informed me that she did not want a dime, but rather the time. I became so embarrassed at my blunder that when I looked at my wrist watch I forgot that it had not been in running condition for three weeks, and said, "Two o'clock."

A girl next to me heard it all and said: "No, that isn't the right time; it is 10:30." By that time I was as red as the tapestry furniture, so I made a hasty exit, amid the titters of some 25 girls. E. H.

Hats Perch Jauntily at Very Top of the Head

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special Correspondence.] —Remember how comic the smart ladies of the late nineties look with their picture hats on top of their pompadours in old photographs? It looks like Paris millinery modes are trying to bring back something similar for autumn, 1930.

The most celebrated hat in Paris today is a tiny tricorne of black velvet from Suzanne Talbot that sits right up on top of the head. Luckily there's no pompadour under it, so, really, it is quite charming. This hat, which is sketched in the center, was first worn by Lady Abdy, who launches a lot of millinery fashions, and since then professional buyers and ladies generally have been sitting up and taking concentrated notice of it. It's entirely unstiffened and made of millinery velvet, which is made to hold the shape because of lines of silk, machine stitching.

In his new collection Jean Patou shows hats with crowns no deeper than a soup plate, and all of the milliners are doing the same thing. Those little hats sit on top of the head, and that doesn't mean maybe.

At the bottom of our sketch is a velvet soup plate hat with a rolled up brim trimmed with a long, thin willow plume. It almost caused a riot at the Ritz recently. And no less a person than Patou is sponsoring these willow plume trimmed dish hats. They are only suitable for ladies whose hair is long or longish and softly waved or curled, but for such they're quite thrilling.

Food Talk.

On July 13 in our Sunday column the subject of cake was discussed and in that article there appeared a recipe for glorified devil's food cake as well as one for seven minute icing topped with melted bitter chocolate to be used on the cake. These particular recipes have brought us many letters. Not a report has been made of a failure on the cake.

This cake and icing have been made in my kitchen a number of times by both experienced and inexperienced cooks and my personal direction has in each case amounted to nothing more than turning over to the cook the recipe which I gave in the article.

It is important that every detail of the directions in a recipe be followed to the letter. And here I wish to emphasize the important points in the making of the seven minute icing. [I am again giving the recipe for the convenience of illustrating my points.] You will note that the icing is cooked in a pan surrounded by boiling water. The water must boil vigorously, actually roll in the lower part of the double boiler and this water must come well up around the upper inset pan. Be sure the water is boiling when the ingredients are put in. Beat vigorously all the time and cook no longer than seven minutes. At the expiration of this time pour out the boiling water and replace with cold.

A word about the chocolate icing. One of my readers writes that she melts the chocolate over water that is "far from hot." And this gives me a clew as to why she is failing.

If you follow these directions exactly I cannot see any reason for failure:

SEVEN MINUTE ICING.

2 egg whites, unbeaten.
⅛ tsp. cream of tartar.
⅓ cup cold water.
⅛ tsp. salt.
2 cups granulated sugar.
1 tsp. vanilla.

Put the first five ingredients into the top of a double boiler. Set this into the lower part of double boiler filled with enough boiling water to come up well around the upper part. Beat continuously with a rotary egg beater for seven minutes. Boil the water in lower part of boiler while beating the mixture. Remove from fire. Pour out boiling water and replace with cold. Let stand 5 minutes. Add vanilla. Then spread on the cake. When a firm crust appears on the top, drizzle melted bitter chocolate over the surface. Melt chocolate over lukewarm water. Yield: Sufficient for a thick layer of icing on a two layer devil's food cake.

Science Discovers LIQUID that has no color "yet"

It Imparts Color to GRAY HAIR

WILL the wonders of science never cease! Now a scientist has discovered a colorless liquid that actually imparts color to Gray Hair no matter what your age—no matter how Gray your hair—no matter what else you might have used without satisfaction. Already hundreds of thousands of people have used this amazing discovery. It is called Kolar-Bak and is as simple to use as A, B, C. You merely comb it into your hair and the color comes—the Gray disappears so gradually, so perfectly, that no one detects it. Another strange thing about this colorless liquid is that the one very same bottle will do for Blonde, Black, Brown or Auburn. Now you don't need to experiment with uncertain, messy, sticky preparations that may endanger your hair. Kolor-Bak, the clean, colorless liquid, leaves the beautiful sheen of your hair unchanged. Get a bottle today—and if Kolar-Bak doesn't make you look 10 years younger, your money will be refunded any time you request.

New Way Banishes Fading and Dingy Grayness in Home Washing

Makes Local Hard Water Soft as Rain—
Cuts Washing Time in Half

SCIENCE of late years has done many wonderful things for women. But none more really amazing than this new way of fadeless washing. Some 2 million women have adopted it.

Not a soap—but a discovery that makes even ordinary soap safe. That makes harsh "hard" water and ordinary household soap into a virtually NO-FADE combination.

You can wash the most exquisite things, often 50 times or more without noticeable fade or "soap eat" wear. Can keep priceless table china safe from dishpan fade . . . indefinitely. And—cut your work time one-half or more. Women are flocking to it.

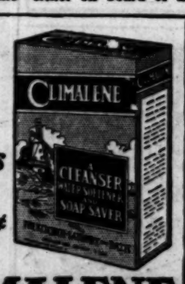
What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene. A scientific discovery that acts in two ways:

That takes the harshness out of so-called "hard" water; the hardness that makes extra rubbing and the superfluous use of strong soap necessary to get things white and clean.

That turns that harsh "hard" water INSTANTLY into water so soft that it does the work with ONE-FOURTH the amount of soap you now use. Then, due to bland cleansing qualities in itself, Climalene DISSOLVES all dirt and grime. And thus again cuts the amount of soap you use. And cuts washing time—either on board or in washing machine—50% or more. Consider what that means in saving wear and spoil.

You just add two tablespoons to a tub of water. That is all. Use the same soap you ordinarily do. Then see for yourself the amazing results.



10¢ packages (12 OZ.) 32 oz. Pkg. 25¢

CLIMALENE

Laboratory Proved

To prove those points, we wash fine things all day long. French lingerie, for instance, we wash 40, 50 times with this preparation and strong soap or washing flakes. Even the most delicate colors do not fade.

We wash fine colored table linens up to 80 times—WITHOUT fade. We take gold encrusted china of almost priceless value and wash with strong soap hundreds of times. And never a sign of gold worn away.

We pay as much as $5 for fine stockings of light tint color. Then TRY to fade them with repeated washings. And only when we fail in fading them, does this amazing preparation go to you, AND—it acts actually as a BEAUTIFIER to the hands. Never before have you seen a cleanser so gentle.

Remember the name—Climalene. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages.

EDUCATORS ASK MORE PRIVILEGES IN BROADCASTING

Demand Laws to Curb Commercial Activity.

Representatives of 30 college broadcasting stations and other organizations sponsoring the use of the radio for educational purposes met yesterday at the Stevens hotel and adopted resolutions emphasizing the need of legislation to provide better hours for educational broadcasts. William John Cooper, United States commissioner of education, presided.

"The public demands entertainment most, evidently," said Harold A. Lafount, member of the federal radio commission. "Educators are attempting to gain a position on the air and possible legislation is being discussed to enable the commission to provide better hours and more time for educational broadcasts. The federal commission has no power to reduce the number of stations. Legislation is necessary if entertainment is to be diminished and educatio . increased."

Called Because of Conflict.

The conference was called, according to Commissioner Cooper, because of many letters sent to him, "indicating a conflict between educational and commercial institutions in the field of radio." He cited one incident where a university protested when a commercial institution entered the field to broadcast their own football games and overpowered the university broadcast.

A resolution presented by Dr. Joy Elmer Morgan, representing the National Education association, which was acted upon by the delegates, read: "A definite recommendation should be made to congress that a law be passed alloting channels in the air to schools and colleges following the same procedure as was followed by the federal government in making allotments of the radio domain." Dr. Morgan added that "unless a protective law is enacted the schools will be forced to do only what the commercial organizations allow them to do."

Asks Congress to Act.

The educators approved a resolution to be presented to congress which suggested that a minimum of 15 per cent of all broadcasting channels which may become available to the United States be assigned to educational institutions and government educational broadcasting stations. Taking into consideration the available wave lengths this would mean that 41 college stations would be alloted about 9 wave lengths, Commissioner Lafount said. Another resolution appointing a committee to care for the interests of educational broadcasts was also adopted.

Dr. Hall, Famed for Finds in Ancient East, Dies at 57

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Dr. Harry Reginald Holland Hall, aged 57, one of the foremost archaeologists of England, died today when a blood clot developed on his brain. He was keeper of Egyptian and Assyrian antiquities in the British museum and distinguished himself as director of excavations in the near east. Dr. Hall discovered some of the most famous treasures in south Babylonia and at Ur of the Chaldees.

U. S. Painter, 'Grand Old Man of Montparnasse,' Dies

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Alexander Harrison, 76, the oldest American painter in the Montparnasse art colony, died today. Mr. Harrison, known as the 'grand old man of Montparnasse,' was born in Philadelphia Jan. 17, 1853. He came to Paris 50 years ago. He was made a knight of the Legion of Honor in 1889 and was elected an officer in 1901. He is said to have been one of the first artists to have painted nudes in the open.

BUSINESS SLUMP FAULT OF G. O. P., COX DECLARES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—James M. Cox, Democratic presidential nominee in 1920, said in a radio address tonight that the world-wide business depression started in the United States and the dreadful thing about it is that it could have been avoided."

Mr. Cox charged that the Hoover administration "encouraged the gambling hysteria" preceding the stock market "crash" and that it "then forced upon an unwilling people the tariff law which later accentuated the depression."

"We must not lose sight of the impressive fact," he asserted, "that our tariff changes were initiated when our country was living in unprecedented prosperity. When the President signed the now famous bill in the face of the most representative, far spread, and appealing memorials ever addressed to an executive, he gave furtherance to the ills born of his first failure to act in the face of an inevitable crash in our stock markets."

Discussing the stock market hysteria, Mr. Cox said the preceding "hysteria and the wild dreams of fortune were the direct consequences of administration propaganda."

"The government had the power of restraint," he added, "but did not exercise it. The President and his advisors either lost their heads or they had become so indoctrinated with the theory that the stock tape is a certain index to our economic state that they were, no doubt, no less shocked than the rest of the country when the disaster came.

"The Republican party has kept its eye so singly focused upon the money power of the little circle which it has made its business to serve that it has neglected the buying power of the vast masses which it is the proper business of American statesmanship to serve."

N. Y. City Health Officer Out of Medical Society

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The acceptance of the resignation of Health Commissioner Wynne from the New York County Medical society was announced tonight by Dr. George W. Kosmak, head of the organization, following a meeting of the Comitia Minora, its governing body.

Dr. Wynne's resignation, which automatically compels him to withdraw from the Academy of Medicine and the New York State Medical society, was submitted on Oct. 3 after a protest because Dr. Wynne had permitted his name and picture to appear in advertisements of a tooth paste. Dr. Wynne said he had received no remuneration for this.

SPANISH STRIKES SPREAD; POLICE BATTLE RIOTERS

MADRID, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Strikes broke out in Murcia and La Linea today as the government continued to round up radical agitators in the Spanish provinces. A general strike was declared in La Linea in sympathy with that at Malaga. At Murcia civic guards charged a crowd of strikers, while police raided munitions stores and put all arms and ammunition in armories for safekeeping.

Workers in Santander threatened a general strike if the authorities permitted members of the monarchist union, composed of friends of the Primo de Rivera régime, to speak there.

The Bank of Spain, sole bank authorized to issue paper currency in the nation, announced today a group of its directors was leaving immediately for foreign countries to make gold deposits in the hope of bolstering the peseta. Spanish exchange dropped to new low figures this morning, the peseta touching 10.12 to the dollar and 49.40 to the pound sterling, though most of the actual transactions were at 10 to the dollar.

GOLD ANKLET ON BABY STARTS NEW TAGGING SYSTEM

A small gold anklet bearing the identifying inscription "Baby of Elinor and John McMahon" was worn yesterday at the Passavant hospital by the nine pound son of Attorney and Mrs. McMahon of 122 East Chestnut street. The baby, which was born on Sunday, was the first one in Chicago to be so tagged in accordance with the new rules of the health department.

Rules providing that any baby born in a hospital must have a metal identification tag attached at the time of birth and in the presence of two witnesses were made by Health Commissioner Kegel following the mixup of babies in the Bamberger-Watkins case. The infants were "shuffled" in a hospital.

The new anklet tag must remain on the baby's leg until the child is taken to its home. The anklet has a self-locking clasp which must be severed to be removed. Dr. Kegel obtained the gold anklet for the McMahon baby and it will be kept by the mother as a token.

U. S. Marine Officer Dies by Own Hand in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Lieut. Harvey Byars Alban of the United States marine corps, captain of the Nicaraguan National Guard detachment at Port Corinto, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself in the head. Lieut. Alban, whose home was in Missouri, was found dead on the beach.

MRS. KUDERLING, FOUNDER OF AD SERVICE, DEAD

Mrs. Mary Baker Maguire Kuderling, founder and managing owner of the Advertising Record company, a statistical concern with offices here and in New York, died late yesterday at the Passavant hospital, where she had been a patient four weeks. Before founding her company, the basic idea of which was to measure advertising space for publishers, Mrs. Kuderling was secretary to the late United States Senator Medill McCormick. At one time she was an auditor for THE TRIBUNE. Mrs. Kuderling was 55 years old, and lived at 4247 Hazel avenue. She is survived by her husband, Dr. Carl R. Kuderling.

FLAT BURGLARS GET $300 LOOT.

Burglars, who forced a door to a basement apartment in a building at 4447 Greenwood avenue yesterday, escaped with $270 and a watch valued at $30. Adam Spiegel, janitor of the building, told police he had collected the money from tenants and hidden it in a small box in a bookcase.

Fog, Aerial Beacon Combine to Appear Like Flames

A low fog ceiling, the Lindbergh beacon and red display lights near Evanston tricked the sight of many residents in northwest county towns last night, giving an illusion of a huge conflagration. The beacon rays merged with distant red rays and fog, it was explained. In the loop moisture laden air, holding down skyscraper chimney smoke, resulted in an alarm that the new board of trade building was on fire. The atmospheric condition aided by illumination atop the building, made it appear as though smoke were belching from the structure.

7,000 BRITISH FIRMS DEMAND TARIFF WALL

Query Shows Business Men Oppose Free Trade

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—British industrialists, as represented by the Federation of British Industries, which claims a membership of 7,000 firms with a total capital of two and a half billion dollars, have declared against free trade by an overwhelming majority.

On a questionnaire recently sent out 72 per cent of the membership voted and of this number 96 per cent favored a change in the present British fiscal system. The questionnaire asked for an opinion as to the relative merits of free trade, protection and of imperial preference, and a combination of these two policies. Only 3.9 per cent favored maintaining free trade. The British Labor government is in favor of free trade.

As a result of this voting the grand council of the federation decided today to press for a "fiscal system which will combine the protection of our industrial interests at home with the widest possible extension of interempire preference." A special fund to conduct a campaign to carry out the latter proposal will be raised.

Await British Rejection.

The imperial conference is still in a state of suspended animation, waiting for a coup de grace to be administered by the British government in the shape of a declaration that it cannot and will not put taxes on foreign food, with preferences to dominion food growers.

This final blow is expected to be administered with all gentleness and formality after various British government departments to which the proposals of the Canadian prime minister, Robert B. Bennett, have been referred, have gone through the process of considering them and reporting to the government that they are unacceptable under the present British fiscal system.

Graham Makes Statement.

The heads of the delegations met today and listened to a long dissertation by William Graham, president of the Board of Trade, supported by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer. Both are firm free traders, but Mr. Graham unbent so far as to say that the government accepted, in principle, preference where there are existing British tariffs.

He gave no promise, however, that existing tariffs would be continued and his declaration must be read in connection with statements by both Mr. Graham and Mr. Snowden in the house of commons, in which they said that the aim of the government was to abolish all present duties at the earliest possible moment.

Mr. Graham is also reported to have told the delegates today that any idea of taxing food, or in fact of imposing any new tariffs, was out of the question.

Offers Substitute Proposals.

As a substitute for Prime Minister Bennett's tariff plan, Mr. Graham threw on the table for consideration various other ways of helping interimperial trade, but without in any way putting them forward as British government plans.

Among these suggestions was the import board's bulk purchase arrangement for the exchange of staple products such as English coal for Canadian wheat or British steel for Australian wool. A quota system for mixing dominions and home grown wheat was also suggested, and another suggestion was a series of credit agreements such as provided in the Anglo-Argentine ar Anglo-German treaties.

All these suggestions were discussed in general today, and tomorrow morning the heads of the delegations will meet again to take them up in detail.

CIGAR STORE IS ROBBED.

Two armed men entered a United States cigar store at 991 West Madison street last night and after threatening the clerk, Paul Bauer, took $200 from the cash register and $100 in street car tokens.

HAITI ELECTS 1ST PARLIAMENT IN 15 YEARS TODAY

U. S. Marines to Stay in Barracks.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The first parliament since the dissolution of Haiti's legislative bodies 15 years ago will be elected tomorrow. Two hundred thousand voters have registered for the election, representing a fairly large proportion of the potential electors, since only the men among Haiti's 3,000,000 inhabitants have the right of franchise.

The new parliament of 15 senators and 36 deputies will meet as a national assembly to choose Haiti's next president.

Marines to Stay in Barracks.

The 800 American marines stationed in Haiti have been ordered to remain in their barracks tomorrow. The Garde d'Haiti, a native military force, organized and trained by American officers, will be on the alert for any possible disorders.

While Haiti's manhood today debated how to use again the right of franchise, after failing to exercise it since the constitution was amended in 1918 to permit foreigners to own land, the women went to the churches to pray for a peaceful election day.

The new president to be chosen by the national assembly will succeed Eugene Roy, who became provisional chief executive May 15, when Louis Borno's second term expired. The Forbes commission which investigated the American occupation of Haiti obtained a promise from Borno that he would not be a candidate for a third term. Roy, like Borno, was elected by the council of state, a body of 21 members appointed by the president to carry on the functions of the legislature in the absence of a legislature.

A Six Year Term.

While Borno's two terms lasted eight years, the new president will be restricted by the constitution to one term of six years.

During the 108 years preceding the American intervention of 1915, Haiti had 24 chief executives, including one "emperor." Only two were allowed to go peacefully from office. Seventeen of the 24 were deposed by revolution and five died in office, three of the latter meeting violent deaths.

The assassination of President Guillaume Sam was the immediate occasion for the landing of American marines. An infuriated mob dragged Sam from the French legation, beheaded him, and then dragged his body through the streets. The massacre of 167 political prisoners by one of Sam's blundering generals had caused the gathering of the mob, which included many relatives of the massacred victims.

Terms Are Brief.

Sam and a half dozen of his immediate predecessors averaged less than six months in office. President Dartiguenave, the first chief executive elected since the occupation, served a complete term of seven years, and Borno, his successor, held office eight years.

POLAND BARES BOMB PLOT ON PILSUDSKI'S LIFE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 13.—Discovery of a plot to kill Marshal Pilsudski, Polish dictator, was revealed here tonight. Eight Polish socialists were arrested as members of the conspiracy and four are said to have confessed to having prepared the assassination plans.

Authorities searching the headquarters of an illegal militant socialist group confiscated a quantity of bombs, revolvers, rifles and ammunition.

The plot to murder Pilsudski was scheduled for Oct. 10, but was delayed when some of the participants backed out upon learning that it was against the dictator's life. Military authorities also confiscated a special issue of the socialist newspaper Robotnick.

FOOT SAVER SHOES

are absolute proof of how smart COMFORTABLE footwear can be!

THERE are those who divide shoes into two groups. "Fashion" models, charming but cruel to the feet. And "comfort" models, easy to wear but dull, dowdy and an affront to style.

Women who figure thus have simply never known the happiness of Foot Saver Shoes! Here is footwear offering you the comfort of which you fondly dream . . . and in a manner that would do credit to the smartest shoe made . . . all designed with the Foot Saver patented Inbuilt construction, a marvelous device which brings luxurious comfort to the tired foot. Incidentally, Foot Saver Shoes reveal a price modesty that is most appealing.

Medalist's Card

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. O. S. Hill's card in the qualifying round of the women's national golf championship follows:

Par—Out	354	354	463—36
Mrs. Hill—Out	454	555	453—40
Par—In	344	363	555—42—81
Mrs. Hill—In	444	552	535—39—79

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—While the galleries followed the defending titleholder and other stars, Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, slipped a today to post a 79, two under par, and capture medal honors in the qualifying round of the women's national golf championship.

The golfing lady from Missouri, who took up the game six years ago because of ill health, gave a practical demonstration that average length shots straight down the middle surpass the wallops that wander into the rough. She went out in 40, one over par, but lopped three strokes off outstanding figures with a 39 for the inward stretch.

That bit of sub-par golf was good enough to show the way to Miss Glenna Collett, New York City, seeking her third successive title and fifth golfing crown, and others whose names are considerably better known in the annals of the royal and ancient game.

One stroke behind the leader came Helen Hicks, the 19 year old miss from Inwood, Long Island. Miss Hicks, runnerup in the women's Canadian championship this year, also toured the course with an unfaltering game. She was out in 41 and carded the same score on the homeward stretch.

Miss Collett Third.

Tied for third place with par 81s were Miss Collett, tournament favorite; Miss Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, and Miss Maureen Orcutt of Haworth, N. J.

In 82 placed Mrs. Leona Pressler, San Gabriel, runnerup last year, well up among the leaders. Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, real veteran of the field, qualified easily with an 85. The same score assured Miss Marion Hollins of Santa Cruz, a place in the championship flight. Three times former champion, Mrs. Hurd, then Dorothy Campbell, won her first title in 1909. Miss Hollins won the crown in 1921.

The well trapped north course, with its slick greens, shattered the comeback aspirations of one former champion, Mrs. Helen B. Stetson of Philadelphia. Winner in 1926, she chalked up a 44—49—93 today to fail to qualify by two strokes.

Miss Hill is by no means of the "unknowns" of golf but her step into the ranks of the medalists of major tourneys such as this was not expected. Last year she reached the semi-finals of the national only to be beaten Miss Collett 3 and 2. She also won the western women's title in 1928.

Birdies First Hole.

A brief sketch of her play shows she birdied the first hole with a four after dropping a mashie shot one foot from the pin. Trapped on the 175 yard par three fourth, she wasted a shot when missed a long putt, finally taking five. On the par four sixth she found another trap and took a five but her seventh five on the 525 yard eighth ended down her score for the nine.

Oh in two and taking two putts, she had a birdie four for the tenth. After her golf on the next four holes she posted a birdie five on the 530 yard 16th and followed with a birdie two on the short fifteenth. She finished with three par fives, just missing out for a 78 when her long putt on the 18th rimmed the cup.

The qualifiers follow:

Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City	40	39	79
Miss Hicks, Inwood, N. Y.	40	40	80

Yanks to Hail McCarthy as Chief Today

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The biggest ballyhoo that ever attended the hiring of a baseball manager will reach a climax when the Yankees announce the signing of Joe McCarthy at 3 o'clock tomorrow. The late manager of the Cubs was due to arrive from Buffalo tonight.

Photographers and reporters will crowd the press room at the Yankee offices. McCarthy will face the barrage of cameras and questions as the most highly publicized manager in the baseball business, because it is big news when a new man comes to take charge of the Babe Ruth team.

If McCarthy hasn't signed as yet, you may be sure that Col. Ruppert will insist that photographers take pictures of the actual signing tomorrow. Widespread belief that McCarthy was under contract, even after official denial, has nettled the Yankee owner.

Recalls Ruth Incident.

During the Babe Ruth holdout period last spring many insisted that the home run king had been signed to a contract and that the meetings in St. Petersburg were part of the ballyhoo. After they had come to terms and Ruth had asked for a contract, Col. Ruppert turned to the boys in the room.

"Wait a minute," he said. "Go out and get every photographer in town and every newspaper man who wants to come up here. They've said that this is the bunk. Here are the two contracts that Babe Ruth will sign. There aren't any others. I'm inserting the figures in ink. This will be the first contract actually signed before the camera and I am doing it to prove that I don't give out false information. We'll wait here a few minutes for the boys to arrive."

Camera Men Get Busy.

Soon the suite was booming with flashes and filled with smoke. The colonel had kept his word. Ruth pocketed one contract and Ruppert the other. They shook hands and the gang filed out of the room.

Through all the discussion and insistence to the contrary the Yankee owner has maintained his original stand on the McCarthy matter: that he has not arranged or even talked terms, nor has he seen the deposed manager of the Cubs.

Of course McCarthy's long conference with Bob Connery in Philadelphia and his visit with Secretary Barrow a week ago was another matter. Nevertheless, the new manager hadn't signed and, as far as Col. Ruppert was concerned, Shawkey was still at the head of the team.

CUBS PURCHASE LES SWEETLAND FROM PHILLIES

Whitney May Figure in a Second Deal.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Lester L. Sweetland will pitch for the Cubs next season. At least he will be given the chance.

He was added to the north side team's 1931 roster yesterday when President William Veeck of the Cubs signed a check in behalf of William Baker, the Phillies' president, who in recent years has been a benefactor whenever pennant contenders waved the flag of distress along with a well padded checkbook.

The deal was consummated as the result of negotiations started on the day the Athletics whipped the Cardinals in the sixth and deciding battle of the recent world series. This explains why Veeck and Rogers Hornsby, the Cub manager, were so anxious to start for Philadelphia last Tuesday. It is presumed the consideration was $25,000.

Plan Other Deals.

The acquisition of Sweetland, a southpaw of possibilities, is the first of what the Cub chiefs hope will develop into a series of purchases or deals aimed to correct the defects that kept the team from a pennant in the recent campaign.

It is possible, even probable, that the next move will be revealed inside a couple of days. Rumor has it that while Veeck and Hornsby were in Philadelphia they discussed with Baker not only the purchase of Sweetland but also another pitcher now in the Phils' employ. This also is scheduled to be a cash deal, if made.

The name of Whitney, the Phils' third sacker, also has been mentioned in connection with Cub plans for the next campaign. President Veeck yesterday professed to know nothing of such a swap, but it might take place at the December meetings. If it goes through the Cubs will be forced to part with some talent, probably Lester Bell along with an outfielder, or cash.

Four Years with Phils.

Sweetland, now 29 years old, served almost four seasons with the Philadelphia team. He went there during the 1927 race, prior to which he had done more than four years of work in the Florida State and the South Atlantic leagues.

After joining the Quakers in 1927 he managed to lose ten while winning two before the season closed. Next year he was equally ineffective, his record being 3 victories and 15 defeats. In 1929 he stayed above the fifty-fifty mark with 13 wins and 11 defeats. He was in 43 games for a total of 104 innings, and was 24th among the league pitchers in effectiveness. This season his record, according to unofficial figures, was 8 wins and 15 trimmings.

CAMPBELL PLANS NEW ATTEMPT TO SET SPEED MARK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—In February or March of next year Daytona Beach, Fla., is to be the scene of a new attempt to set a world automobile speed record. Capt. Malcolm Campbell, one of Great Britain's premier motor racers, will make the attempt. The car will be the Bluebird, a new mystery automobile, which has been under construction for the last nine months and will be completed in about two months.

The details of the new Bluebird are secret. The only fact known is that it is 25 feet long and so low that the top of the driver's head is only four feet from the ground.

Fight Decisions

At Philadelphia, Pa.—Rene De Vos, Belgium, won from Joe Anderson, Covington, Ky., foul [8].

At Milwaukee, Wis.—Taitt Littman beat Pete Latzo [10]. Herman Perlick and Mickey O'Neill draw [10]. Curtis Brown beat Henry Perlick [6]. Willie Pellegrini beat Johnny Lombardo [6].

At Orlando, Fla.—Elmer Bezenah, Cincinnati, stopped Ginger Turnigan, Albany, Ga. [4].

At Des Moines, Ia.—Mickey Walker stopped Mike Mandell, St. Paul [1].

Singer Meets Mack Tonight in Nontitle Bout at Stadium

Al Singer, lightweight champion of the world, makes his first appearance in Chicago tonight at the Stadium. Chicago remembers his opponent, Eddie Mack, from his battle last fall with Tony Canzoneri. An injured ankle forced Mack to quit in the eighth round after he had battled Tony even until that time.

Mack is a boxer but he can hit hard enough to keep pace with the champion. If Singer wins, he probably will do so early in the fight. His knockout of Sammy Mandell in the first round of the title bout attests this fact. Singer also had McLarnin on the floor in the first round of their recent battle but he was knocked out a bit later himself.

Title Not at Stake.

Tonight's bout, listed for ten rounds, is a non-title affair.

Chicago's latest sensation, King Levinsky, undoubtedly will be the gate attraction tonight despite the lightweight champion's appearance. The King is making his first start since he knocked out Leo Lomski in the same ring. Lomski went down eleven times before he was counted out. Additional remarks on the Kingfish's ability are unnecessary.

His opponent is Tom Kirby, an Irish longshoresman from Boston. Kirby is the first of three fighters the Stadium has contracted to secure for Levinsky, although in the event the King loses, the contract is void.

Francis Meets Fierro.

If any further top line attraction is needed, the fans have it in Kid Francis and Harry Fierro. Francis has shown here before and his speed was impressive. Fierro needs no introduction. While he is not a hard puncher, he possesses enough shock in his gloves to drop his man. His recent bout with Georgie Nate proved this, for Nate went down although he came back to weather Fierro's best offerings.

To round out the card Matchmaker Nate Lewis will introduce three newcomers. Two are Chicago boys, Jackie Phillips, a welterweight, and Dick Sisk, who meets Jackie in one of the six round preliminaries. The other six rounder brings together Barney Ross, stablemate of Earl Mastro, and Sammy Binder of New York. Singer's spar boy. Binder has never boxed outside of New York and, like Singer, is making his debut here.

FOOTBALL CHATTER.

WHILE guest of honor at the Minneapolis Rotary club preceding the Stanford-Minnesota football game, Coach Glenn (Pop) Warner told the assembled Rotarians, most of whom were Gopher sympathizers, how he nearly became Minnesota coach in 1907.

At that time Warner was seeking a change of scenery and wrote both to Minnesota and Carlisle, as he told the story, asking for a position and stating his terms. He finally received an acceptance by mail from Carlisle. Several hours later came acceptance from Minnesota. Perhaps the Gopher letter had been mailed first, but Warner was located in the east, and that from Carlisle was the first favorable response received and therefore accepted. Pop cited the incident as illustrative of how some small event may chance a man's whole life. Dr. Harry Williams later became Minnesota coach and served until 1922.

Warner, aside from being a master strategist, has originated many tricks, including the one, later legislated against, in which a Carlisle Indian tucked the football under his jersey as a bunch of Indians swarmed down the field and ran for a touchdown against Harvard because the Crimson did not know what man to tackle.

Old time Maroon alumni always will swear that an Indian, ineligible to receive, grabbed a forward pass which fell into a cluster of Carlisle players and ran for a touchdown against Chicago in 1907. The Chicago contention was that the officials could not tell the Indians apart.

The present Stanford coach was a Cornell guard from 1892 to 1894, captain in his final year. He then began a coaching career second only to Stagg's in length of service. He was at University of Georgia, Iowa State, Cornell, and then at Carlisle from 1907 to 1913, Pittsburgh from 1913 to 1923, and at Stanford since.

"Pudge" Heffelfinger.

In Minneapolis we shook hands with "Pudge" Heffelfinger, a resident of that city, who usually is included as lineman in any all time, All American selection. "Pudge," in physical appearance, looks much younger than a man who made his gridiron reputation at the start of the present century. No gray noticeable in his dark hair. Heffelfinger was Minnesota's first coach.

Epinard Back in Country.

Epinard, the great French stallion, has arrived in this country for stud service in Kentucky. This was the horse, defeated in three international races in this country, which left such a great impression in defeat under impossible handicaps that there was a demand for his blood. He previously served here in the stud. Epithet and Siskin are the most notable of his progeny. Now he returns for possible new triumphs as a sire.

GRID SPONSORS WONDER ABOUT VACANT SEATS

Public Conservation Felt at College Games.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Conservatism in the matter of spending dough has reached a bit too far. People are staying away from football games, figures on last Saturday's spectacles indicate. Moreover, those who did go were ultra conservative after they got there, surveys revealing that everywhere there were new lows in the sales of chrysanthemums, arm bands, toy footballs, and even gin.

This is very sad, sadder than the fall-off here and there in theaters, baseball parks, soccer games, and other lines where the demon, commercialism, is omnipresent. The simon pures of collegiate sports must have plenty of receipts or amateurism cannot prevail. One Saturday is all right, of course, but if it happens again you reticent football fans are going to get an appeal to cut down on the victuals for the kiddies and buy football tickets till it hurts.

Boost Price for Speeches.

We covered the game at Notre Dame, in the new stadium, which has room for 55,000. It was forecast that there would be a sellout "if the weather stays nice." The price was nudged up to $5 the extra two smackers being for the dedication speechmaking before the game.

The weather stayed nice and the speechmaking may have been worth $2. But there were at least 15,000 vacant seats in the handsome new plant and maybe more.

Of course, one can't break down in tears feeling sorry for the boys in the Notre Dame counting room, for they have done well in the past and will do well in the future, especially at the Army game at Soldiers' field next month, which probably will be viewed by 120,000 persons.

There were other instances of unfilled seats with no 120,000 crowds coming up.

Michigan Stadium Half Filled.

Chicago, which used to be too proud to go to Madison for the reason that Randall field could seat only 42,000, went to Madison last Saturday and drew 20,000. Michigan's fine stadium, which has accommodated 89,000, was little more than half full, although last year's conference champions were the attraction. There were 38,000 at Evanston and room could have been found for 10,000 more. The crowd at Minneapolis was 10,000 short of the 55,000 capacity.

The weather was ideal at all of the aforementioned games. Chicago wasn't a good attraction, and the Minnesota fans had been soured by a bad showing against Vanderbilt—any promise that Stanford would be battled to a 0 to 0 finish probably would have brought a capacity turnout. But the other games in other years would have drawn many thousands more than showed up Saturday.

People have shown that they always can get money for something they want to see. In the theaters the first class leg shows have attracted capacity audiences and the National league pennant drive games and the world series were sellouts. So why are folks staying away from football games?

It is too early in the season for calamity howling, of course. But many Saturdays like Oct. 11 and the athletic associations will be calling on the chairs of commerce and the mathematics departments for a few good, constructive themes.

Long Shots Rule Program at Hawthorne

BY FRENCH LANE.

The favorite players ran into a stone wall at Hawthorne yesterday while a parade of long shots marched past the line of finish. Those who burn the midnight oil figuring horses and who visit the course the following afternoon hoping for seven winners in a row were in complete rout before the program was half finished.

Bugs Leary, running in the silks of Albert Sabath of Chicago, was beaten in the 2 year old six furlong dash which opened the program, and thereafter the choices were knocked down one after the other.

Reigh Olga Beats Bonaire.

The Columbus day claiming purse at a mile and a sixteenth was the best race on the program, and it brought victory to the long shot Hold On, which raced in the silks of John Lowe of Kentucky. Hold On was at $25.14 in the betting, but he won like an even money shot and held General Jackson, Play Ball, Le Flore, and others safe as they challenged him one after another in the last eighth. He wound up by beating General Jackson by a head, while Play Ball hung on to be third.

An even greater upset came in the mile and a furlong race which found Reigh Olga, a former playmate of Reigh count, the winner in a stirring finish from the favorite Bonaire by three-quarters of a length. Reigh Olga's price in the mutuels was $31.44 to win, $10.62 to place, and $6.40 to show.

Bonaire was backed so stoutly he was down to even money when they lined up at the post, and he had no excuses to offer for the beating. Reigh Olga and Bonaire were in the front flight all the way, while Ragabald was making the pace and King at Arms was running close in second position.

Elizabeth Sullivan Pays $37.

Jockey Johns moved with Reigh Olga at the head of the stretch. He came on with one of those old time drives, the kind Olga made as the training and traveling companion of the famous Reigh Count. Once in front, there wasn't a chance for any of the $1,500 platers to catch him. He was a handy winner after running the mile and a furlong in 1:54.

Elizabeth Sullivan was the one to upset the players of favorites in the

VACCINATIONS LEAVE LINEUP OF TEAM IN DOUBT

Hold Signal Drills Only for Illini.

"How's your arm?"

That was the stock question at Dyche stadium yesterday as Northwestern's players and coaches began preparations for the Illinois game at Urbana Saturday.

With both the varsity and freshman squads all vaccinated for smallpox Coach Dick Hanley has been forced to call off all scrimmages this week. Running signals will constitute the practice program until it is determined which players will be effected by the vaccination.

Starting Lineup Uncertain.

Loss of Russell and Bruder last week was of little consequence, compared to the uncertainty that pervades the Wildcat camp at present. Just who will be available for Saturday's game is a question which will remain unanswered for several days.

Coach Hanley was in no mood for pleasantries yesterday as he barked out orders on the practice field. After losing two of his backfield stars before the Ohio game he figured that he had solved the situation by a last minute shifting of his backs so that they turned in a creditable offensive game against the Buckeyes. Now he is wondering if any of these men will be forced out of the lineup.

Ironically enough the game with Illinois is the one the Wildcats point for with the greatest zeal and now they find themselves helpless to prepare for it. In the last three meetings between the two elevens each has scored 13 points. Illinois won in 1927 by a score of 7 to 6, and again was victor in 1928 by a 6 to 0 count. Last year the Purple won, 7 to 0.

All Regulars Excused.

Capt. Hank Bruder is also lamenting the fate which has laid him low at this inopportune time. Since entering school his one big ambition has been to play against Illinois. In his sophomore year he was injured several days before the game and last year was out with a broken leg. Now smallpox has placed him in quarantine for two weeks.

Coach Hanley excused all of his regulars from drill yesterday. The workout consisted of little more than leg exercise for those that remained. Dal Marvil, giant tackle, showed up with an injured leg which he sustained Saturday. It is not likely that he will get into uniform until the end of the week.

ROBINSON REJOINS ILLINI.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Capt. Olaf Robinson practiced with the University of Illinois football team today for the first time in two weeks. Robinson's shoulder was injured in a freshman game and he was not available for the first two Illinois games.

Two new men seem to have won a chance to play conference football for Illinois by their work against Butler Saturday. They are John Ovelman, guard, and John Bauer, center. Ovelman's chance has come after two years on the squad, but Bauer, who weighs 250 pounds, is a sophomore.

Coach Zuppke will shift Hunter Russell from end to right half back. Playing his first two games for the Illini, Russell has been a "ball hawk," but he is not good enough on defense to keep Red Owen and Mark Swanson, two other sophomore ends, off the first team.

The following men lined up on the first team which ran through a short signal and passing drill: Owen and Swanson, ends; Hills and S. Bodman, tackles; Ovelman and Jensen, guards; Bauer, center; Chattin, quarter back; Berry and Yanuskus, half backs; and Conover, full back.

OHIO DRILLS FOR MICHIGAN.

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Undiscouraged by their 19 to 2 defeat at the hands of Northwestern, the Buckeyes today started to prepare to meet Michigan, their traditional rivals, next Saturday.

Indications are that more than 70,000 persons will crowd into the Ohio stadium Saturday for the Buckeye-Wolverine battle.

TWO GOPHERS INJURED.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Minnesota's football squad returned to practice this afternoon for the Indiana game here Saturday. Lloyd Stein, center, and Pat Boland, tackle, suffered injuries in the Stanford contest, and today it was doubtful whether either would be able to play in the first conference game.

Harold Anderson, end, who has been out for three weeks, may be able to play against Indiana, while Clinton Riebeth is expected to regain normal strength this week after a long rest.

MAROON LEADER IN HOSPITAL.

Not to be outdone by Capt. Bruder of Northwestern, Capt. Van Nice of Chicago went to the hospital yesterday to hurry his recovery from a leg injury incurred in the Wisconsin game. It appears that Van Nice will not return to the squad before the Princeton game Nov. 1.

Three other Maroon backs suffered injuries in the Badger contest, but only one of these was serious. Knudson and Birney will be in shape for the first of three successive intersectional games, that with Florida this week end, while Stackler is a more doubtful case.

Kenneth MacKenzie, reserve full back last season, who has been at guard this year, was back at his old position.

BEASEL WINS BY 3 LENGTHS OVER JUDGE SCHILLING

Cochrane's Filly Scores Her 16th Victory.

New York, Oct. 13.—Racegoers are beginning to accept Clifford A. Cochran's filly, The Beasel, as one of the best race mares in recent years, as she won again at Jamaica today and brought her score to sixteen victories out of twenty-one starts.

Twelves of these races were run this season and nine times the daughter of Sunspot and Antipodes came home first despite the fact that she was meeting colts or older horses on most occasions and conceding them weight.

Race Worth $3,400.

The race today was the Montague handicap, worth $3,400 to the winner, and The Beasel was meeting her most formidable competitor in the five year old gelding, Judge Schilling, which had won the stake last year. This horse of Rudolph Spreckles was carrying top weight of 129 pounds, as against 118 for The Beasel, but because of his age the impost represented ten pounds off the scale. The Beasel's impost was only five pounds under the scale, as she is a three year old filly.

These two were the ones to battle it out at the end of the six furlongs, but it is doubtful if any observer expected the filly to beat Judge Schilling by as much as three lengths, which is what she did. Though not under pressure from Jockey Bill Kelsay, The Beasel was timed in 1:12 3-5, the fastest six furlongs of the meeting.

Chatford Runs Third.

Three lengths back of Judge Schilling Chatford scampered up to get in the money and pay 3 to 1 to show. This was the longest price of the placed horses, as the winner was the 7 to 5 favorite and Judge Schilling was 6 to 5 to place. Chatford was the 30 to 1 outsider in the field of six.

ANTIOCH BOAT SETS RECORD IN OUTBOARD RACE

Middletown, Conn., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Fourteen new world records stood on the books tonight at the close of the national outboard championships here. Marks were broken 31 times during the regatta, but many of them supplanted records made in the same class only a few minutes before.

Ray Pregenzer of Antioch, Ill., was the outstanding central states performer. Today he won the F class championship for professionals, and set a new world record of 46.035 miles an hour.

Championships determined today follow:

Class C, divisions 1 and 2—C. Mulford Scull, Ventnor City, N. J.

Class D, divisions 1 and 2—Walter Widegren, Glencove, N. Y.

Class D-2—Willis Overton, Norwalk, Conn.

Class B-3—Bronson Lamb, Jacksonville, Fla.

Class F-1-2—James R. Ardiel, Toronto.

Class F-3—Ray Pregenzer, Antioch, Ill.

Big League Stars Defeat American Giants, 7 to 5

The big league all-stars handed the Chicago American Giants a 7 to 5 defeat yesterday at the Giants' park. Frey of the Cincinnati Reds held the colored team to one run in five innings. Kerr and Clancy of the White Sox appeared in the all-star lineup and got two hits each. The same clubs play again Wednesday and Friday. Bill Barrett of Washington, Lena Styles of Cincinnati, Bernie Neis, who played for the Sox in 1927; Joe Maley, ex-Yankee; Bill Conroy of the 1925 Senators, and Sheehan of Atlanta are with the all-stars.

E. A. Tipton, President of Breeders' Association, Dies

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Ed A. Tipton, for many years president and general manager of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders association, died at his home here today. Mr. Tipton, who was 75 years old, had been in ill health for several months.

SMITTY—HOW?

I WONDER HOW EVE AND OUR INDIAN GUIDE ARE MAKING OUT?
SHE'S STILL ON HIS TRAIL
SEE THE TWO LITTLE BIRDS TOGETHER AND THE TWO BUNNIES—THERE'S ALWAYS TWO OF EVERYTHING —THAT'S THE WAY IT SHOULD BE, ISN'T IT?
UGH
WHY DOES HE ALWAYS SAY "UGH"? IT MUST MEAN SOMETHING. MAYBE IT'S INDIAN TALK
WHAT DOES "UGH" MEAN IN YOUR LANGUAGE?

six furlong second race. When she beat the heavily backed Christie Flanagan she paid $27.

Patricia Ann skipped home a winner over the favorite Nifty in the third race and paid $23.74 to win. Then in the sixth race, the longest shot of the afternoon came galloping home. It was Leah Jane, a daughter of Capt. Alcock-Gipsy Gold II. She won by a wide margin from the favorite Aviator and in the betting paid $44.34 to win, $16.48 to place, and $14.18 to show.

By this time the dopsters had ripped their dope books into shreds. They were sad and their bank rolls flat as they struck out for home.

PATRICK GETS 6 ROUND VERDICT AGAINST BUSH

Mickey Patrick, a middleweight, pounded out a six round decision over Chester Bush last night in the main bout at the Englewood arena, 1549 West 63d street. Patrick won every round. In the semi-windup, Tom Wilson handed Freddie Miller a six round beating. They are welterweights.

Other results were: Jaun Lira beat Frankie O'Farrell in four rounds; Kelly Kulak shaded Mickey O'Shea in four; Mickey Joy and Sammy Fisher went four rounds to a draw, and Joey Espinoza outpointed Frankie Alvarez in

Bob Tells How to Waterproof Hunting Boots

BY BOB BECKER.

Now is the time for outdoorsmen to get out their leather hiking boots or hunting shoes and oil and "dress" them for future use. It has been so hot and dry that one hasn't had to worry much about getting footgear waterproofed. Soon, however, the rabbit and pheasant shooting will demand soft, well oiled shoes that will stand the wet and keep a fellow comfortable on his trip afield.

Here are a few receipes for waterproofing leather. You can buy the ingredients and mix them if you like to putter around on such tasks. For those outdoorsmen who do not like to be bothered with chores of this type, ready mixed waterproofing dopes can be purchased in the sporting goods stores.

There's one thing to keep in mind on these waterproofing solutions. Avoid a straight mineral oil on shoes. It "burns." However, vaseline and paraffine are harmless.

One recipe which is easy to make at home is as follows: Melt together one part beef tallow one of beeswax and one of neatsfoot oil. Have the leather perfectly dry and warm. You can use a small brush to apply the dope to the shoes then rubbing it in well with your hands. It's a good idea to put on at least two coats. We have tried this three part recipe and it worked well.

Here is another tried and proven one. Take beeswax, cocoanut butter and neatsfoot oil or cod liver oil. The proportions should be about one part beeswax to four or five of cocoanut butter and one of the oil. Melt the wax and the butter and then add the oil. Apply the mixture while hot and be sure the boots are warm when they receive the dope. Heat opens the pores of the leather and permits the waterproof mixture to soak in.

If cocoanut butter is not available a simple mixture of vaseline and paraffine will serve. The proportions should be two parts of the former to one of the latter. We have never used this recipe but there are many outdoorsmen who swear by it.

RACE OF FISHING SCHOONERS AGAIN HALTED BY CALM

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Lack of wind again today halted the second race between Blue Noses, champion of the Canadian fishing fleet, and Gertrude L. Thebaud, pride of the Gloucester fleet, for the blue ribbon of the Atlantic.

When the wind died out the schooners had covered only 8 miles of the scheduled 37½ mile course. They will then on almost even terms.

The first stowaway appeared as the race course today, aboard the coast guard destroyer Conyngham, press and committee boat, in the person of a Gloucester girl, Miss Jane Elwell. Jean came aboard clad in male attire and rather timidly puffing a violent looking pipe. It was too late to put her ashore.

Cold weather is motor-punishing weather ... Now, more than ever, you need the extra protection of this DE-WAXED, EASY-STARTING OIL

CONOCO

In cold weather motors usually are hard to start, but Conoco Germ-Processed oil actually makes starting easier!

There are two good reasons for this. First: Germ-Processed oil is thoroughly dewaxed and does not congeal at low temperatures. Second: Germ-Processed oil does not drain away during periods of motor idleness. The initial "turning over" process is made easier by the protective lubricating film which is on duty before you touch the starter. The usual 40% to 60% of motor wear occurring during the starting period is greatly reduced. Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil gives you safe starting—and quick starting, even at zero temperatures.

Change now to this new oil. Use it all winter for motor safety and economy. You always will find Germ-Processed Motor Oil at stations bearing the Conoco Red Triangle.

COACH TEACHES PURDUE HOW TO FORGET DEFEAT

Five More Big Ten Games Are Coming.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—"Right now is the time to shake off the Michigan defeat and get set for the remainder of our schedule," Coach Noble Kizer told the Purdue squad this afternoon. The Boilermakers still have five Big Ten foes on their card, Iowa, Minnesota, Illinois, Chicago, and Indiana coming in order.

The regulars who played against Michigan Saturday were given a layoff from drill this afternoon, while the third string scrimmaged against a freshman eleven coached on the type of play Iowa is expected to use at Iowa City next Saturday. Purdue is Iowa's only Big Ten foe this season.

IOWA DRILLS ON DEFENSE.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 13.—[Special.] Defeated Saturday for the second successive week because of inability to stop a forward pass attack, the University of Iowa football squad was given another intensive session on pass defense today in preparation for next Saturday's Purdue contest.

Iowa will be strengthened for the Purdue game by the return of Wendell Benjamin, Negro tackle, who did not play against the southerners from Missionary college last week. Jack Harrington, sophomore half back, who has been ineligible, also will be available.

INDIANA SEEKS PUNTER.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The Indiana university gridiron candidates were given an easy drill today. A short kicking practice was held because the lack of a good punter nearly cost Indiana the game with Oklahoma Saturday. All punts with the exception of one or two were for 30 to 35 yards.

The squad was somewhat cheered when it was learned that three of its crippled stars—Dauer, Saluski, and Miranda—are to be in shape for the Minnesota game Saturday at Minneapolis. All three have been out with injured legs.

BADGERS PLAN HOMECOMING.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.] Pennsylvania will fill a prominent part in helping Wisconsin play host to its alumni here Saturday in the annual homecoming day festivities. Besides meeting the Badgers on the gridiron, the Quakers will bring their championship cross-country team to Madison for a dual meet.

The football game marks the first time in Wisconsin's football history that the homecoming day opponent will be other than a western conference team. A capacity crowd of 42,000 is expected, about 5,000 of whom will be Pennsylvania students and middle-western alumni of the eastern institution.

COACH WARNS PENN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 13. — (AP) — Pennsylvania's football squad, tuning up today for Saturday's game with Wisconsin, was informed by Coach Lou Wray that its 40 to 6 victory over Virginia Saturday was nothing to get worked up over."

Wray said he wasn't impressed with the work of the second team, which started the game, and that the varsity didn't show much until the third period.

MICHIGAN WORKOUT LIGHT.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The lightest workout that has been ordered since the practice season started four weeks ago was enjoyed today by Michigan. In recognition of their surprising victory over Purdue, Coach Kipke gave the players only light kicking and passing drill on South Ferry field, then moved over to Ferry field where they listened to a movie and ran through a few new plays which may be tried against Ohio State Saturday.

Jack Wheeler has about clinched the regular half back berth, though until Saturday he was considered behind Hess and Debaker in the race for it. Wheeler has won his spurs at left end, and in spite of the fact that Dravelis is likely to be in shape again Saturday, Daniels has right end well in hand.

DE PAUL PASSES CLICK.

De Paul took to the air as drill was resumed yesterday for the battle with St. Mary's Saturday at Winona, Minn. Numerous passes were completed for long gains in the scrimmage against the Frosh. Matt Steffen and Red Harrington were used as the passers while the most impressive of the receivers were three ends, Eddie Lyons, Barney Miller and Clarence Coan.

Harrington has just returned to action after an injury which incapacitated him for three weeks. Red is a half back and may also see some service at the quarter back post.

Coach Alderson has a supply of speed subs this year. Cullen, a sophomore, nabbed a pass for one of the touchdowns registered against Buena Vista college. Jim Roche and Jim O'Connor, the other flankmen, also showed an ability to pluck passes out of the air.

Badgers Use Five Plays to Beat Maroons; Save Tricks for Penn

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Although Wisconsin defeated Chicago last Saturday, 34 to 0, the winners used only four running plays and one pass throughout the game which opened the western conference campaign for both universities. As a result, the more intricate plays from Wisconsin's fundamental formation will be used for the first time Saturday against Pennsylvania.

Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite is using a double wing back formation with an unbalanced line. The full back lines up about three yards back of the center and the quarter back is approximately a yard behind the line and in position so he also can receive a pass from the center. However, the quarter back only carried the ball once last Saturday. This was a short plunge for first down. The remainder of the time he was used as a blocking back.

Pass to Full Back Always.

The center always passed the ball to the full back Saturday. The men in this position—Lusby, Schneller, and Oman—also did all the forward passing, with the ends and wing backs sprinting into the open to receive them.

Wisconsin's four running plays as revealed against Chicago were:

1. The full back handed the ball to a wing back who continued in an off tackle drive.

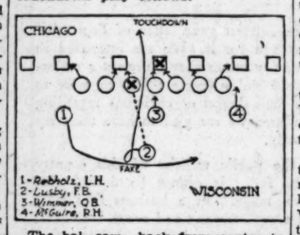
2. The full back faked a pass to the wing back, and then turned and plunged directly into the line.

3. The full back handed the ball to a wing back who in turn passed it to the other wing back, which reversed the direction of the off tackle drive. Of course, this was a triple pass.

4. The full back stepped backward as he received the ball, faking a pass, and then ran the end. Tury Oman ran 64 yards for a touchdown on this play.

Score on Plunge.

Wisconsin scored its first touchdown Saturday on a two yard plunge inside Chicago's right guard by Bill Lusby. Lusby was the first full back Thistlethwaite used. The diagram of the touchdown play follows:



The ball came back from center to Bill Lusby, No 2. He turned to his left and faked a pass to No. 1, Rus Rebholz, as Rus crossed over. Then Lusby charged directly into the line, finding an opening between Chicago's center and right guard.

The wing backs play just a step outside of their own ends. The purpose, of course, is to add strength in blocking in the defensive tackle.

Badgers Play Four More.

Wisconsin has four more conference games, meeting Purdue, Ohio State, Northwestern, and Minnesota. Most Badger partisans are hopeful for victories over Ohio and Purdue, but the consensus indicates that Wisconsin fears Northwestern and Minnesota.

Although the Badger squad is large, it lacks a plunging full back. Lusby, Schneller, and Oman, in reality, are half backs, and all hit the line standing up.

Yale's Score a Mistake—Fumble Rule Forgotten

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Not that it makes any particular difference now, but in the cold gray dawn of the morning after it has been discovered that one of the Yale touchdowns against Georgia Saturday was not in accord with the football statutes.

The miscarriage of justice came at the beginning of the second half when Yale was leading Georgia by a score of 7 to 6 and then increased the count to 14 to 6.

Yale kicked off. The ball struck in the arms of Kelly, Georgia back, who ran a few steps to his own 20 yard line, where he was hit hard by Capt. Vincent of Yale. With the impact of the Yale tackle's body the ball bounded from the arms of Kelly straight into the hands of Barres, Yale end. Barres caught the ball in his stride and dashed straight ahead and over the goal line.

The officials evidently overlooked rule 6, governing the kick-off, for the touchdown was allowed and the ball placed in position for the try for extra point, which was quickly added by Sullivan's toe.

Rule 6 says: "If the ball is recovered by a player of the receiving team before it is declared dead, he may run with it, pass it backward or kick it; if the ball is recovered by a player of the kicking team the ball is dead at the point of recovery."

Walter R. Okeson, commissioner of the Eastern Association for Selection of Football Officials, was asked by the Associated Press for an opinion on the play. Commissioner Okeson replied:

"Rule 6 says that if the kicking team recovers the ball on a kickoff it is dead at the point of recovery and in a supplementary note it is stated that after a kickoff the ball is to be considered a kicked ball until it is declared dead; therefore, the kicking team may not run with the ball if recovered on a kickoff."

Capt. Maffett of Georgia made no protest to Referee W. T. Halloran so far as could be observed from the stands. So perhaps he, too, had forgotten the rule against running with a fumbled ball. Or he might have been more confident than his team's supporters that the Georgians would score two touchdowns later in the afternoon, the last and deciding one in the last two minutes of play.

Harper's Kick Gives Parker 13-12 Victory

Parker High defeated Wendel Phillips in a south section City league game at White City yesterday, 13 to 12. Bob Harper's place kick after the second Parker touchdown proved to be the deciding point. Harper, who scored all of his team's points, Capt. Dennis and Williamson starred for the winners. Lloyd, Phillips quarter back, who made two touchdowns, Capt. Jones and Sheridan, featured for the losers.

Both teams failed to score in the first half, but Harper plunged over the line in the third quarter, after a long pass to Williamson had been completed. Phillips came right back, however, and counted on a 25 yard toss from Derrick to Lloyd. In the fourth quarter Harper plunged again for his second touchdown and added the extra point. Phillips scored again on a pass from Sheridan to Lloyd.

Taylor, Parker center, was lost to the team, probably for the remainder of the season, when he suffered a broken collar bone after the kickoff in the last period. Lineup:

PARKER (13).		PHILLIPS (12).
Williamson	L. E.	Thomas
Dennis (C)	L. T.	Jones (C)
Stine	L. G.	Crawford
Taylor, Gobdel	C.	Price
Tolman	R. G.	Riley
Morill	R. T.	Martek
Simons	R. E.	Walters
Harper	Q. B.	Lloyd
Wasserman	L. H.	Sheridan

German Tennis Stars Seek to Ban National Ranking

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—(AP)—An appeal to abolish the national ranking list was made today to the president of the German Tennis association by Germany's twelve best women tennis players, with the exception of the young star, Cecilie Aussem.

Among the many reasons given for the request were charges that it is injurious to German tennis, deprives the players of pleasure in the sport, endangers comradeship, and hampers development of skill.

SIMPSON FOULIS LEADS BANKERS IN GOLF TOURNEY

More than a hundred employes of the First National and First Union Trust banks played their annual golf tournament over No. 1 course at Medinah yesterday. Simpson Foulis won low gross with 38—39—77, but chose to take second low net. This gave low gross prize to Hugo Geiersbach, who won it last year, with 37—42—79. The traps and water hazards proved a handicap and scores were high. The winners in the various classes were:

CLASS A.

Low gross—Hugo Geirsbach, 37—42—79.

First low net—J. Winterhalter, 93—23—70; second, S. J. Foulis, 77—5—72; third, A. K. O. Cochrane, 83—11—72; fourth, Vernon Higbie, 84—12—72; fifth, Dan Lawler, 85—12—73; sixth, James Jeffers, 88—15—73; seventh, M. O. McKevitt, 98—24—74; eighth, Glenn Forgan, 84—9—75; ninth, Forrest Paddock, 87—12—75; tenth, John Hennessy, 93—18—75.

CLASS B.

First low net—D. Hersey, 104—29—75; second, H. Thorsen, 106—29—77; third, J. Lawler, 102—24—78; fourth, G. Vojta, 104—24—80; fifth, W. Grau, 113—33—80; sixth, Tom Ford, 104—23—81; seventh, H. Baker, 110—29—81; eighth, G. Tapper, 105—23—82; ninth, A. Breckenridge, 105—23—82; tenth, O. Haas, 105—23—82.

CLASS C.

First low net—Oscar Draeger, 114—36—78; second, H. Pfuilstich, 114—35—79; third, L. Keitering, 115—36—79; fourth, W. Eckbrecht, 117—38—79; fifth, A. Juhlin, 118—39—79; sixth, W. Lennon, 116—33—83; seventh, T. Krippner, 118—35—83; eighth, L. Gilbertson, 118—35—83; ninth, J. Patterson, 121—38—83.

Booby prize—V. Hokanson, 90—81—171.

Walker Scores Technical K. O. Over Mandell in First

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Mickey Walker, worlds' middleweight champion, made short work of his fight with Mike Mandell of St. Paul tonight, being awarded a technical knockout in the first round.

Carnegie by 3 Touchdowns, Rockne Thinks

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Taking advantage of a holiday from classes, the Notre Dame varsity practiced an hour longer than usual.

Larry Mullins, first string full back, and Paul O'Connor, shock troop half back, who did not play Saturday against Navy, returned to practice, but Frank Leahy, injured shortly before the season opened, was not in uniform. He was expected back for this week's game with Carnegie Tech.

Donoghue, the only other injured man on the squad, was back at right tackle. Jack Chevigny, assistant coach, who scouted Carnegie Tech Saturday, had a long talk with Rockne this morning, after which the latter predicted that the Tartans would beat Notre Dame by three touchdowns. Whether this is a bear story may be judged by the long drill this afternoon.

The line scrimmaged for nearly an hour this afternoon, the drill being directed to stop the plunges of Carnegie's Kareis.

ARMY BEGINS TO TRAIN GUNS ON HARVARD SQUAD

Yale Will Meet Brown, Princeton Conqueror.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(AP)—With Harvard the next objective, Army's fotoball team reported for light practice today with six first strong players still on the injured list. Suarez has about recovered from his hurts, but Bowman, Humber, Miller, Price, Hillsinger, and Stecker all are on the sidelines.

COLUMBIA EYES DARTMOUTH.

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—With the important Dartmouth game just ahead, Columbia went through two and one-half hours of hard work today. A dummy scrimmage lasted for an hour and a half with the freshmen putting on Dartmouth plays. Then followed a half hour of scrimmage with the freshmen. Steve Grenda, out with an injured leg for a week, was back at his guard post.

DOBIE GLOOMY AS EVER.

Ithaca, N. Y. Oct. 13.—(AP)—Coach Gil Dobie had plenty of fault to find with the work of his Cornell eleven against Hampden Sydney. The line was sluggish and the backs failed to perform up to expectations, in Dobie's opinion, and there will be plenty of work for the Big Red team before the Princeton game.

YALE TEAM GETS LECTURE.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Yale's football team was given a lecture today on all the mistakes it made in the Georgia game and then was set to work on the next assignment—Brown, conqueror of Princeton. After an hour's blackboard session the first team went through a signal drill, while the second team was given a dummy scrimmage.

HARVARD SQUAD RESTS.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Though Harvard's first major game, against the Army, is but a few days away, Head Coach Arnold Horween gave his Crimson varsity squad a holiday today and the players attended the Fordham-Boston college game in Boston. Harvard came through the Springfield game without injury.

NESBITT RETURNS TO BEARS LINEUP AGAINST CARDS

The return to action of Dick Nesbitt, former Drake university star, to action cheered the Bears yesterday as they started a week of practice for the game with the Cardinals at Comiskey park Sunday.

Nesbitt, who has been of little use to the squad since the opener with Brooklyn here, will add much to the back field in an offensive and defensive way.

It was the Bears' forward wall that took the attention of Coach Ralph Jones in practice, for its failure to function was the main factor in the north siders defeat by Benny Friedman's New York Giants last Sunday. The Bears were outcharged repeatedly, handicapping the backs.

The Cardinals have a strong line and it probably has been the absence of Ernie Nevers rather than the forward wall that has enabled opponents to outscore the southsiders.

SHIKAT THROWS BARTUSH.

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Ed Shikat of Philadelphia, former world's champion, threw Bill Bartush, former University of Chicago wrestler in 46 minutes and 14 seconds of a scheduled finish match tonight.

TED CONNELLY, LOYOLA QUARTER, OUT FOR SEASON

Ted Connelly, Loyola quarter back, will be out of the game for the remainder of the season because of a broken collar bone. Connelly was injured in the first few minutes of the Duquesne game, but the injury was not considered serious until X-rays disclosed the fracture.

While Micky McClellan, who relieved Connelly in the Duquesne tilt, turned in a credible exhibition, Coach Norton cannot risk going through the remainder of the year with only one man at the post. Steve Furchess, who was originally a quarter back before being assigned to right half this season, will be switched back to his old post for the game with Loyola of New Orleans at New Orleans Friday night. Marty Stadler may also be tried out at quarter.

Bennie Allen, Major White Break Even in Cue Match

Bennie Allen of Kansas City, broke even in the first two blocks of a 1,250 point pocket billiard match with Maj. White of Chicago at Bensinger's Congress and Wabash billiard room yesterday. Allen triumphed in the afternoon, 133 to 38, but lost at night, 202 to 119.

CARDINALS AND N. Y. GIANTS TO PLAY TOMORROW

The Chicago Cardinals play their fourth game in the east tomorrow night, meeting the New York Giants, led by Benny Friedman. The Cards have broken even so far on their eastern invasion, beating Newark, tieing Portsmouth and losing to Providence.

Ernie Nevers, the Cards' ace who has been kept on the sidelines almost entirely this season, will likely be out of most of the Giant game, Doc Jones keeping him for the season's opener in Chicago against the Bears at Sox park Sunday.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 13.—Karl Ogren, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves winner, tonight scored a two round knockout over Jerry Calabeck, Milwaukee welterweight, in the feature bout on the Eagles' club amateur fight card here tonight. Otto Von Porat of Chicago seconded Ogren, who announced this was his last fight before turning professional.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 8,000 cattle, 23,000 hogs, and 19,000 sheep.

The hog market scored a comeback yesterday, the top gaining 20c at $9.85, while the general average came up 15c at $9.35. Prevailing quotations, however, are still 50@75c under the high day of last week, when top hogs sold at $10.60 and the average figured $9.85.

Smaller interests bought hogs freely at the upturn, while larger houses held back and filled small orders. Shippers took more than 11,000 head, which was more than 40 per cent of the offerings after directs had been deducted from the supply. Only 3,000 were left at the close, the high point of the day.

Hog Futures Stronger.

Hog futures were more active and stronger yesterday, but are still below the middle of last week. October mediums at $9.35 were highest on the list, while January contracts for 210@260 lb. hogs came next at $8.90 and 170@210 lb. averages for January sold at $8.80.

December light and mediums were bought at $8.75. November light and mediums were being offered at $8.70@8.75, but $8.25 was the highest bid at the close.

The cattle market was a two way affair yesterday, with the tendency toward a narrower price range. Cheaper grades ruled strong to higher, while best yearlings and steers sold weak to 25c lower. Fancy yearlings averaging 976 lbs sold at $13.15, comparing with a top of $13.35 at the high point of last week. Choice 1,254 lb steers reached $1.30, while $12.00 was paid for some averaging 1,457 lbs.

Long fed cattle averaging 1,669 lbs sold at $10.00, while common steers ranged downwards to $6.75. Cows and heifers were mostly steady. Calves were firm considering quality. Stockers and feeders met good demand and strong to higher prices.

Sheep Receipts 45,000.

Last week's advance in prices attracted a deluge of stock from both local and western range territory, bringing yesterday's total offerings to 45,000 head, the largest since October, 1926. However, only 19,000 are estimated for today against 25,616 last Tuesday. It is one of the smallest Tuesday totals in several weeks.

Prices broke 50@75c under stress of immense receipts, the top on westerns and natives dropping to $8.25, the lowest since Oct. 2. The top at the middle of last week had reached $9.25. Aged sheep and yearlings were unchanged. Feeding lambs sold steady at $6.00@7.00 for medium to best.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 23,000 hogs and 19,000 sheep, against 8,124 cattle, 23,223 hogs and 25,616 sheep on the previous Tuesday and 9,148 cattle, 23,998 hogs and 18,764 sheep a year ago.

Michigan Gas and Electric Company

First Mortgage 5% Gold Bonds, Series B

Due December 1, 1956

The Company agrees to reimburse the holders of Series B Bonds, if requested within 60 days after payment of the tax, for the Pennsylvania and Connecticut 4 Mills Taxes, and for the Massachusetts Income Tax on the Interest of the Bonds not exceeding 6% of such interest per annum. Coupon bonds in interchangeable denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100 registerable as to principal.

Issuance authorized by the Michigan Public Utilities Commission

Michigan Gas and Electric Company owns and operates a group of public utility properties supplying, without competition, electric light, heat and power service to 39 communities and manufactured gas to 13 communities. In addition the Company wholesales electrical energy to the city of Sturgis, Michigan. The territory served embraces well known mining, manufacturing and agricultural sections and includes the cities of Cassopolis, Constantine, Three Rivers, Niles, Hancock, Houghton, Dowagiac, Holland and Negaunee. The population served, directly and indirectly, is estimated to exceed 111,000. Approximately 83½% of the present gross earnings are derived from sales of manufactured gas and electrical energy for light, heat and power.

For the 12-months period ended August 31, 1930, the Company reports gross earnings of $1,818,518.37 and net earnings, before depreciation, of $622,301.80, which is at the rate of more than 3 times the $204,848.00 of annual interest requirement on the company's total funded debt to be outstanding with the public, including this issue.

These Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, are a direct obligation of the Company and together with all other bonds that may be at any time outstanding under the Mortgage, are secured by a first mortgage on all of the permanent property, rights and franchises of the Company now owned and on all such property hereafter acquired on account of which bonds are issuable under the Mortgage.

This Corporation is a part of the Middle West Utilities system. The management is in the hands of experienced public utility men whose ability as economical and efficient operators has been thoroughly demonstrated.

rading in butter and eggs on Monday was limited to filling immediate wants of consumers. The Mercantile exchange was closed and prices in the open market were unchanged. Live hens declined ½c, while spring chickens advanced 1c. Receipts were 9 cars by freight and 6 by truck loads. Demand for hens was light.

Potatoes were in large supply, 231 cars arriving against 173 cars last year. Warm weather slowed up the demand. The apple market is weak. Shipments from loading stations on Saturday were 1,593 cars. Arrivals at Chicago were 196 cars. Warm weather is affecting the demand.

ANSWERING A LETTER FROM A MINISTER

A minister, living in a community not served by the Associated System, questions the correctness of statements in regard to cheapness of electricity in an advertisement of the Associated System. The following letter was written in answer:

Dear Sir:

I have read with keen interest your letter of September 11th, and wish to thank you for it. We are interested in knowing what people think, whether they represent a majority or minority. We need and welcome things to make us think, and when people have doubts or criticisms regarding our Company or our business, we are glad to have them say so frankly and intelligently.

We do not believe the public utilities of this country have much to apologize for. It cannot be denied that some mistakes have been made. In a business so vast it cannot be expected that every company and every individual will act wisely in every instance; but we believe that the utilities have done a huge task and that they have done it well.

Criticisms of their actions seem for the most part to emanate initially from those who seek thereby to gain political or some other ulterior advantage.

By telling only half of the story, apparent justification for such criticism is circulated; and it is a problem which gives us much concern how to offset such distorted statements by bringing to the mass of honest citizens the complete facts, so that they may realize the problems which the utilities are obliged to solve in making available to the millions of users the service which will best promote their convenience and comfort.

You mention the "great expenditure in improvements and increasing rate-base investments." This is a matter of the gravest concern to public utility executives. I may assure you that they do not pour money (and it has to be literally poured) into improvements and additional facilities without the most careful consideration, and without being convinced that it is either necessary in order to deliver the constantly increasing volume of high quality service which the consumers require or that the resultant economies will justify the expenditure.

The increasing ratio between dollars invested and dollars of annual revenue is something which we would like to avoid, but it seems to be inherent in the wider extension of service and in the modern development of the art which makes the construction of large new power plants and the building of great transmission networks more efficient than the small and isolated systems of the past. The ratio is also influenced by the decreasing prices at which the service is sold.

This brings me to your comment about "The steady increase in the bills which we have to pay and in shiftings in the rates which make larger fixed service charges and lower big-user rates." I do not know what your experience has been, but the general statistics indicate clearly that the average rates are decreasing, not only for the business as a whole, but to the residential customer class as well.

The number of rate increases made in recent years is negligible, and the reductions have been numerous. Of course the consumers are finding increased uses for electricity, and with increased consumption it is to be expected that the bills will somewhat increase, although it is noteworthy that the cost per customer has increased little, if any, notwithstanding the considerable increase in use.

We know of few, if any, increases in "fixed service charges." The establishment of rates with fixed service charges is the result of careful study and a sincere (and we believe successful) attempt to make it possible for the ordinary consumer to use increased quantities of electricity to his great advantage at a favorable price. By making the fixed charges to compensate the company for the fixed expenses which it is obliged to incur, the additional energy may be sold at a low rate per kilowatt hour so that the consumer may increase his use as much as he has need for on an extremely reasonable basis.

As far as the Associated System is concerned, and we believe quite generally among other groups, the establishment of rates of this type has been carried out in such manner as not to increase the bills of anyone, but to decrease the bills of many and to make possible increased use at a very low rate. I enclose a small *pamphlet which deals with this subject and which I hope you will find of interest.

I do not think we are under any misapprehension as to our function or as to our duties. We realize that we must deserve the business if we are to retain it. We know that we must give the consumers the kind of service which they want and at prices which are fair and reasonable or we cannot hope to continue.

We know also that we must pay taxes (which municipally owned plants do not), that we must meet our operating expenses, and that we must pay the investors in our securities a fair rate of return or they will not continue to provide the money necessary for carrying on the constantly expanding functions for which we are responsible.

I hope that you may find this letter half as interesting and helpful as yours has been to me, and I can assure you that frank and honest words of either criticism or praise will always be welcome.

INSULL MELON FOR TWO FIRMS IS $29,228,351

Both Will Issue Ten Pct. More Stock.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Plans for cutting stock rights sessions totaling $29,228,351 were announced last night by two of the large Insull utility companies. The two firms are the Commonwealth Edison company and the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company. Each concern proposes to issue additional capital stock to the extent of ten per cent of the present stock outstanding.

Application will be made to the Illinois commerce commission for permission to issue the additional stock. The stock will be offered at par [$100] to holders of each company of record Dec. 15.

At their meeting yesterday Commonwealth Edison directors voted to seek authority to issue an additional $14,-250,000 of capital stock, approximately ten per cent of the present stock outstanding. Based on last week's closing price of 272 a share the rights to stockholders, who will be allowed to purchase one share for each ten held, will be worth approximately $1.65 a share. The value of the total rights approximate $22,230,125.

Peoples Gas Offering.

Peoples Gas directors voted to seek authority to issue an additional $6,-250,000 of capital stock. The stock will be offered to holders of record Dec. 15 in the same ratio as the Edison offering, one share for each ten owned. Based on the current market price of 223 a share the rights are worth approximately $11.19 a share and the total value of the rights is $4,998,226.

Stockholders of both companies will be given the option of paying for the stock in full before Jan. 15, 1931, or in quarterly or ten monthly installments.

The action of the directors of the two companies follows closely on the heels of the statement of Samuel Insull outlining the expenditures of the various Insull companies for 1930 and 1931. It also marks a departure in the method of financing which has been followed generally by the Insull companies since the first of the year. Practically all the financing done by Insull concerns so far this year has been done through bond and debenture issues.

Application will be made to list the additional stock of both companies on the New York and the Chicago stock exchanges.

Plans Serial Note Issue.

Peoples Gas also announced that application will be made to the commission for approval of the issuance and sale of $8,000,000 of serial notes, of which $2,000,000, bearing interest at 4¼ per cent, will mature on Feb. 1, 1933, and the remaining $6,000,000, bearing interest at 4½ per cent, will mature at the rate of $2,000,000 yearly in 1934-'35-'36.

"The money received from the sale of these notes and the issuance of the additional stock will provide funds for the retirement of maturing obligations and to cover expenditures already made or to be made in anticipation of the time, probably 1931, when the mixture of gas supplied in the city of Chicago will consist largely of natural gas from the Texas Panhandle gas fields," the company's announcement read.

The high level of the market price of both the Edison and Peoples Gas stock actually makes the value of the rights melons greater than the par value of the shares to be issued.

Foreign Grain Prices Sag; Argentina Offers New Corn

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Winnipeg and Liverpool wheat markets furnished the only attraction for wheat traders yesterday, all American markets being closed in honor of Columbus day.

Liverpool started 1d to 1¼d lower and closed 2⅛d to 2¼d lower. Two bushels of wheat sold for the cost of one bushel a year ago—with change to spare—as Winnipeg at its low point sold off 2⅛c from Saturday's close only to rally and finish with net losses of ¾c to ⅞c. Buenos Aires showed a break of 2⅛c to 3⅛c early and rallied later with a loss of ⅞c to 1c.

Corn was down ⅝c to ¾c. Weak cables were responsible for liberal selling and for lower prices. Argentine is said to be offering new crop in Liverpool for January shipment at the lowest price since 1901.

Crop Prospects Improve.

Cables to J. E. Bennett & Co. said that crop prospects in the southern hemisphere had improved, but it is a long way to harvest and November is the important month in Argentine and Australia. Foreigners were said to be in no hurry to buy and support was lacking early in the day, but apparently liquidation in the closing days of last week and early Monday had put the market in a position where a covering movement on the part of shorts was largely responsible for the rally from the early weakness.

There were heavy rains in Manitoba and showers in the Saskatchewan. A considerable quantity of wheat is unthreshed in parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan. Receipts, however, are running under last year's, Winnipeg having 594 cars against 1,224 cars last year. The Canadian visible increased 311,000 bu for the week, but the total supply is more than 10,000,000 bu under last year's.

Wheat Moving East.

Eleven boats cleared from Fort William and Port Arthur on Friday and Saturday with 2,686,000 bu of grain, mostly wheat. One boat was loading yesterday and four others are en route for the head of the lake. In the Winnipeg oat market there was an advance in October from 30⅝c to 34c, the close being at the top, a net gain of 3½c. The deferred futures were also strong, with December up 1⅝c and May 1¼c. Rye advanced ⅝c to ½c and barley gained 2c on October and 1⅝c on December. Flaxseed moved up 3½c to 4c and closed around the top.

Winnipeg deliveries of wheat on October contracts were 329,000 bu; barley, 27,000 bu, and rye, 1,000 bu.

"There is one thing in wheat that the public does not seem to realize. There is 90,000,000 to 100,000,000 bu of wheat in northern Saskatchewan and northern Alberta still unthreshed and most of it will never be threshed this fall," says a Winnipeg wire to J. E. Bennett & Co. "Besides, many million bushels will never be threshed at all and it is all damaged in quality."

Central Public Service Acquires Gas Companies

Central Public Service corporation has purchased control of four additional gas companies. The firms are: New Jersey Northern Gas company, operating in Delaware and New Jersey; Bangor Gas company, Bangor, Pa.; Citizens Gas company, Stroudsburg, Pa.; Jersey Shore Gas company, Jersey Shore and Roseto, Pa. A property sold is the Mississippi Service company, a subsidiary of the Southern Cities Public Service company, which is controlled by the Central Public Service corporation.

COMPETITION IS KEEN IN MEAT PACKING: MAYER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—Competition is keen in the meat packing industry, according to Oscar G. Mayer of Chicago, president of Oscar Mayer & Co., and Frank A. Hunter of St. Louis, president of the East Side Packing company. Both men testified today at the hearing on the petition of the Swift and Armour companies for modification of the packers consent decree.

Mr. Mayer, who was president of the Institute of American Meat Packers from 1924 to 1928 said that in his opinion there could be no monopoly in the meat business. He asserted that competition is becoming keener year by year as evidenced by new products, better advertising and more aggressive sales efforts.

Bankers Tell About Rise, Fall of Trust Popularity

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Oct. 13.—Stocks of investment trusts, or investment companies, which reached unprecedented and unjustified prices a year ago are now suffering a public disfavor which has run their quotations to unduly low levels.

This opinion was expressed statistically in a committee report accepted here today by the convention of the Investment Bankers' association of America.

"Probably never has there been as outstanding an example of the natural tendency of the American public to rush from one extreme to the other," the report stated. "Investment management, which a year ago was commanding a premium of from 30 per cent to 100 per cent over book value, is today being offered at a discount averaging perhaps 25 per cent.

Note Similarity.

"In considering the present unpopularity of the general management investment companies, it is interesting to note the similarity between this and that obtaining in England in 1894, the chief difference being that in the English case the disfavor was even greater, as to a large extent their portfolios were frozen and their solvency doubtful.

"The investment bankers adopted a formula for the judgment of the worth of an investment company. It must be obvious, the committee held, that none can justify its existence unless the management obtains a good average return at all times, makes more money in good times and loses less in bad markets than the average investor. While admitting that a number of companies have made a poor showing in the recent stressful times, the report stated that the record of the last year for such concerns has been surprisingly clean.

Growth of fixed trusts, which gained popularity because the market values of their stocks varies only with liquidating value, was discussed before the convention from the investors' standpoint. A warning was sounded to the effect that these trusts vary in worth like the management companies, and that the investor should be clearly informed as to what charges are made for the services given by the sponsors of the trust. Taking advantage of him through unreasonable commissions, interest differentials, and other charges was condemned.

Foreign Securities.

The committee on foreign securities asserted that at present price levels many foreign public utility bonds are selling at prices far below their real worth. Many of these and foreign government bonds allow up to 50 per cent more income than domestic issues, although their safety factors are higher than the same priced securities originating in the United States.

Governmental changes in Argentina, Bolivia, and Peru, it was reported, should prove beneficial rather than hurtful to the safety of the securities of these countries. The case of Argentina borrowing fifty million dollars at a lower rate of interest than the former administration could obtain in New York six months ago was cited as an example of the confidence of international bankers that the new administrations will follow constructive lines.

Within the last year the trend of investment by the American people has changed completely, it was recalled. While stocks accounted for more than 70 per cent of all new American financing in the first nine months of 1929, the coresponding record of 1930 shows only 33 per cent. The American investor is now going in for fixed obligations on a big scale.

Throughout the discussions were confident expressions that the volume of new financing which shrunk from eleven billion dollars to eight billions this year will recover in time.

PROPOSES NEW STABILIZATION PLAN ON COTTON

New Orleans, La., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A new plan for relief of the cotton industry, which D. C. McCuen, president of the American Cotton Shippers' association, submitted to a conference of federal farm board members and leading cotton men here today, provides for advance loans by banks to cotton growers on a basis of reacreage and the withholding from the market a part of this year's crop.

The new plan also would encourage spinners to go into the market and buy one or two years' supply of cotton.

PLAN WINDOWLESS FACTORY IN EAST FOR SIMONDS SAW & STEEL

Cleveland, O., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Award of a contract for industry's first windowless factory building, a $1,500,000 plant, entirely without daylight, and embodying radically advanced ideas for scientific creation of artificial lighting, ventilation, and other working conditions was announced here today by the Austin company, engineers and builders. The structure will be built for the Simonds Saw and Steel company at Fitchburg, Mass. It will occupy five acres and will be one story in height.

A. T. Simonds, president of the saw company, advised the engineers the decision to build at this time was based upon the confidence of the firm's officials that business recovery is near, and their belief that present construction costs are favorable for immediate expansion against future needs.

The unique building will have solid, sound resisting walls. Its roof will have neither windows nor skylights. Illumination will come from hundreds of 1,000 watt electric lights arranged to provide uniform light intensity, which is rarely possible in daylight factories dependent upon the cleanliness of windows or upon the weather.

One of the many innovations will be the painting of machinery in orange color to increase their visibility and help reduce accidents. Walls and ceiling will be blue, green, and white

YEAR AGO WALL ST. WAS SAILING TOWARD ROCKS

Present Uneasiness Is Compared.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—All important financial and commercial markets were closed for holiday today. The banks were also closed here and there were no quotations for money or foreign exchange.

No doubt a good part of Wall street and its clients will come down to business after their double holiday in an apprehensive and discouraged state of mind. Discouragement is the order of the day, even though there was some rather plain indication, when the stock market suddenly turned and ran up rapidly on Friday afternoon,

IMPORTANT FACTS ABOUT NATURAL GAS

Article 2—The Supply

A question often raised by investors in natural gas securities concerns the length of time the supply will last. The life of a gas well is limited and the question of the life of the supply is a pertinent one, particularly in view of the tremendous rate of consumption.

In the opinion of geologists, fear of exhaustion of natural gas may be dispensed with. While reluctant to estimate the exact time the available supply will last, leading scientists are of the general opinion that the reserves, particularly in the Southern fields, will not be exhausted for generations to come.

The older natural gas fields, the so-called Appalachian fields in Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia and Western Pennsylvania, have been producing natural gas for half a century and are furnishing all the principal cities in this territory. In spite of the fields' comparative age and the large and continued withdrawals, prospecting within recent years indicates that a supply still exists so vast that serious consideration is being given to bringing the gas to the large cities on the Eastern seaboard, including Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and even New York.

Of the newer fields, particularly those of Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Kansas, Colorado and California, it is estimated that each possesses a reserve comparable to that originally held by the Appalachian fields. Having been drawn upon for so much shorter a time, it is evident that these newer reserves will be sufficient to supply the increasing demand for many years to come.

Past estimates of how long the available supply of gas will last have proven woefully insufficient. Today geologists feel that due to significant developments in the Industry, any new estimates would fall just as far short as those of the past. Chief of these developments are the following...1. New fields are continually being discovered. 2. Gas is being uncovered in supposedly dry areas at lower strata. 3. Through conservation, gas will be more efficiently used and wastage avoided.

In the early days of the business, the personnel was drawn from non-technical ranks and only in recent years has the Industry acquired scientifically trained men. Consequently, improved methods in prospecting, drilling and producing are continually being developed. Wells were formerly drilled to depths of from a few hundred to perhaps 2,000 feet; now it is possible to drill from 5,000 to 10,000 feet, and enormous gas pools are being uncovered in areas which previously had been supplying gas from shallower levels only. Examples are: the recent discoveries of untold reserves in the Amarillo and Monroe fields in Texas and Louisiana.

There is sufficient natural gas already available for requirements far beyond the needs of the present generation, and it is safe to assume that in the future as in the past the supply will increase with demand. From the standpoint of supply, therefore, the future of the natural gas industry in the United States is secure.

* * * *

Through 1330 miles of transmission system, Southern Natural Gas Corporation furnishes the principal cities of Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia with natural gas from the Monroe and Richland fields in Louisiana. The present supply of gas in these fields is enormous and it is being constantly augmented by the discovery of new gas-bearing sands, either in strata below those now producing or through the expansion of present proven areas.

that a few consecutive days of recovery on the stock exchange would work wonders with that aspect of Wall street psychology.

To recognize such a probability is not to indorse the more or less prevalent and wholly absurd idea which puts responsibility for the autumn trade unsettlement on the decline in stocks, but the course of the market prescribes at any rate professional Wall street's view of all problems of the day.

A Year Ago.

Exactly a year ago Wall street returned from its Columbus day holiday in a mental attitude which was utterly confused because of the confusion of the market. It had better reason for that state of mind than it has for today's. Nowadays recollection of the two or three weeks before the fateful last week of October, 1929, is as obscure as recollection of the fortnight or so before Aug. 1, 1914. Not even the "pessimists," on Oct. 12, last year, dreamed of what was actually to happen a fortnight later, but there was certainly a pervading spirit of great uneasiness.

The president of the American Bankers' association had just told its convention that banks were overloaned. The Massachusetts utilities commission had refused the Edison Electric's application for a "four to one splitup," on the ground that the shares had been selling at 440 when they were not worth more than 215 intrinsically, and that the commission could not lend itself to a deception of the shareholders.

Attending Events.

In the face of these public warnings, with their very wide implications, brokers' borrowings had increased $1,200,000,000 during the two preceding months and new security issues $1,500,000,000. The London bank rate had gone up to 6½ per cent, the mass of British capital drawn from Europe to Wall street was rushing tumultuously home. The week before Columbus day had witnessed on the stock exchange a heavy break and an equally heavy recovery. The entire financial atmosphere was one of nervous tension.

Authorization of $3,000,000 additional first mortgage and collateral trust 5½ per cent bonds of Midwest States Utilities company, due May 1, 1943, has been made by the Arkansas railroad commission. The commission also approved the $5,000,000 issue of general and refunding 6 per cent mortgage bonds, due Jan. 1, 1945, and increases in class A stock from 150,000 authorized to 300,000, and class B from 100,000 authorized to 200,000 shares.

The First Union Trust and Savings bank and the Harris Trust and Savings bank will offer today an issue of $750,000 city of Racine, Wis., 4½ per cent serial bonds, due July 15, 1931-'50, at prices to yield from 3 to 3.95 per cent, according to maturity.

The entire $7,500,000 principal amount of series C 5 per cent notes of the Marland Oil company, now the Continental Oil company, dated June 15, 1927, and due June 15, 1931, have been called for redemption on Dec. 15. The announcement was made to Marland noteholders by the successor company yesterday. The notes will be paid off at $1,022 for each $1,000 principal amount upon presentation and surrender with all unmatured coupons attached at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., New York. Interest on the notes will cease Dec. 15.

Public offering will be made soon of a new issue of $3,500,000 6 per cent guaranteed convertible bonds, series A, of the Seaboard Continental corporation by Provident State Securities company of Chicago. The bonds are dated Sept. 1, 1930, and mature in 1940. They will be convertible into the common and preferred stock of the corporation at varying ratios. Seaboard Continental corporation was recently organized as a general management investment company.

Put your building up while costs are down

BUILDING costs are at least 15% less than they were a year ago, because of the greatly increased efficiency of labor and the lower cost of building materials. A building built now will carry itself for two to three years before it will equal in cost a building put up a year or two from now. This saving, added to the economies possible in new and more efficient quarters, merits serious consideration.

We'll be glad to tell you more about this favorable situation and discuss the detailed expense of any building program you may have in mind.

Eight Growing Natural Gas Companies form the foundation for investment in

APPALACHIAN GAS CORPORATION

IN the Appalachian Gas group are eight growing companies, each of which, in proportion to the investment of Appalachian Gas Corporation therein, forms a keystone in the corporation's capital structure.

Companies in the Appalachian Gas Corporation Group include Ohio Southern Gas Company, West Virginia Gas Corporation, Wayne United Gas Company, Ohio Valley Gas Corporation, Texas Gas Utilities Company and Ohio Kentucky Gas Company (the foregoing being subsidiaries) and Memphis Natural Gas Company and Allegheny Gas Corporation (in which substantial minority interests are owned).

Each of these companies has a well-defined and constantly enlarging market. Except in one instance, they produce the major portion of the gas they sell, purchase the balance and transport the gas through their own lines to their respective markets.

Long term contracts with important public utility and industrial companies which hold an important position in the country's economic development afford to the companies in the Group an assured market for the major portion of their product. The Corporation is in an especially favorable position to benefit from the steadily increasing demands resulting from the opening up of new markets for natural gas. Such basically important factors provide an investment appeal peculiar to no other comparable industry at this time.

Circulars describing the securities of this Corporation will be sent upon request.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH again leads in giving the public another new service. Service stations of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana are now also Postal Telegraph offices. In other parts of the country similar arrangements have been made with other Standard Oil Companies.

Thus the millions of people who ride in the 26,500,000 automobiles and trucks over the 700,000 miles of improved roads in this country have available proper communication facilities.

Now . . . the truck fleet can report to headquarters easily . . . without delay . . . the traveler can tell of a safe arrival, or reserve rooms at a hotel a day's drive ahead without leaving the steering wheel . . . the hundreds of thousands of passengers in busses are offered the same communication services as the railway passenger . . . the salesman covering his territory by automobile is in constant contact with his prospect list and home office.

Now . . . around the corner from your home, or at thousands of convenient stops along your road, world-wide communication at Postal Telegraph speed is available without leaving your car. Simply ask the attendant for a Postal Telegraph blank and the far corners of the earth are brought to your steering wheel.

Postal Telegraph service — certain — economical — world-wide — parallels the road maps of the United States.

Highway communication is another great step in the expansion program of the International System — the only American telegraph company offering world-wide coordinated record communications — telegraph — cable — radio.

NO ONE LIKES TO STOP A SICK EMPLOYEE'S PAY

What to do about the employee disabled by illness or a non-occupational accident is a problem that has troubled many an employer. Sound business will not permit him to be kept on the payroll for weeks or months, yet he and his family instinctively look to "the boss" to protect them from destitution.

Wise employers prepare for this emergency by taking out group accident and health insurance that gives every sick or injured worker an income up to 52 weeks. Groups of 50 or more persons can be protected at small cost, and even those whose physical condition bars them from obtaining insurance individually can be included. Ask your agent or broker for further information about Continental Group Accident and Health Insurance, as well as the many other forms of insurance and surety bond protection offered by these great local companies . . . the only Multiple Line Insurance Organization with Home Offices in Chicago.

FRENCH RESERVE OF GOLD KEEPS ON PILING UP

Germany Exports Capital on Large Scale.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Thursday's bank statement, covering the position of Oct. 2, showed further increase in the gold reserve amounting to 670 million francs. The foreign exchange reserves of the institution were practically unchanged at 26,567 million francs, or about $995,000,000. The increase in the bank's gold holdings will continue, since two further gold importations, each amounting to 35 million reichsmarks, were reported this week.

According to information received from German banks, the Reichsbank has had much difficulty in supporting the mark exchange despite the decision to raise its bank rate, because German capital exports continue on a large scale. In addition to the imports from Berlin, France secured £900,000 gold on Tuesday from the London open market. The week's gold importations have therefore reached about 150 million francs or, in American values, $20,600,000.

Reflect Exchange Position.

The gold purchases on the London market continue to reflect the actual position of sterling exchange in this market, where the usual seasonal depreciation of the franc has not occurred. This exceptional firmness of the franc is doubtless due to transfers of capital by French banks from Berlin to Paris, but it is also believed that Dutch and Swiss banks which had received important remittances of German capital are investing a portion of them in France, thus contributing to maintenance of France exchange on the international market.

If it had not been for the German situation, it is considered certain here that gold imports into France would have already ceased. Bankers agree that economic conditions are unfavorable to imports of gold for three reasons. One, already familiar, is that France will be obliged to import about two and a half billion francs' worth of wheat this season. Last year it bought practically no wheat abroad.

Decline Is Expected.

But, in the second place, the world-wide financial reaction is expected to affect the tourist movement into France during 1931, with consequent decrease in the amount of foreign exchange brought in. Beyond this consideration exports of goods from France are expected to diminish. Already during the first eight months net sales of manufactured articles aggregated only 10,695 million francs, as against 14,056 millions in the corresponding part of 1929.

U. S. Hoffman Machinery.

There has been for some time a decided decline in stock of U. S. Hoffman Machinery corporation. Can you tell me if there is a good basis for this decline?—F. A. C.

United States Hoffman Machinery corporation was incorporated in 1922 to succeed a concern established in 1908. The business has been developed largely through reinvestment of profits, having started with an initial capital of $3,000. This company manufactures machinery for pressing or cleaning clothing. Its plant in Syracuse, N. Y., comprises ten buildings with a monthly capacity of 1,500 pressing machines.

As a result of unfavorable trade conditions and keen competition earnings, after having set a high record in 1926, have declined in the last three and a half years.

In the first half of the current year income was $103,293, or 46 cents per share on 222,203 no par shares, compared with $418,398, or $1.88 per share for the first half of 1929. Per share earnings in the June quarter alone were 35 cents, against $1.02 a year before. After dividends there was a deficit for the six months ended June 30, 1930, amounting to $118,910.

Net income in 1929 was $581,834, against $953,243 in 1928, $1,196,610 in 1927, and $1,341,198 in 1926.

As of June 30, 1930, financial position was sound with current assets of $4,931,139 and current liabilities of $315,037. Surplus was $2,585,962, against $3,046,720 a year before. There was only one class of stock and no funded debt.

The current dividend rate is $2 per year, having been reduced from $4 on December 1, 1929.

The stock is considered medium grade and somewhat speculative.

I would appreciate information regarding Century Ribbon Mills, Inc.—W. W. S.

Century Ribbon Mills, Inc., one of the largest ribbon manufacturers in the United States, has not prospered in recent years. This has been due to a trend in women's styles away from the use of ribbons. In the last four years dividends have not been sufficient to cover preferred dividends.

Last year the company reported net loss of $27,269 and after paying $98,700 in preferred dividends there was a deficit of $125,969. Some improvement was noted in the first half of 1930 when net income of $76,713 was reported, compared with $73,719 in the corresponding 1929 period.

Preferred dividends have been paid regularly, but no common payments have been reported since 1926. The preferred is somewhat speculative. The common is purely a speculation.

URGE PAYMENT ON AUTOS WITH BALE OF COTTON

Hope, Ark., Oct. 13.—(AP)—As a means of stabilizing cotton prices and at the same time stimulating automobile purchases, five American automobile companies were asked in a telegram sent from here today by six associated Arkansas newspapers, to accept a bale of cotton as part payment on all motor car purchases in the south.

Previously Suggested.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 13.— (AP) — P. G. Hoffman, vice president of the Studebaker corporation, commenting on the request of six associated Arkansas newspapers to accept a bale of cotton as part payment on all motor car purchases in the south, said that the corporation had previously suggested this plan.

"The plan was proposed three years ago," said Hoffman, "as a method of encouraging automobile purchases in the south and at the same time providing a market for surplus cotton. The Studebaker corporation accepted thousands of bales of cotton which were held many months before being placed on the market, thus aiding in the stabilization of the price of cotton."

Will Not Dictate.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Nash Automobile company will not attempt to dictate to its southern dealers the manner in which they sell automobiles, C. H. Bliss, sales manager, said here today.

Bond Salesmen

A client of ours, a well known investment house, distributing its own originations, has openings for several experienced bond salesmen who can give satisfactory references. An unusual selling arrangement makes this a very profitable opportunity for the right men. Communicate with us for an interview.
